Song And Dance Show To Play At Bryan Auditorium

The Tony-winning song-and-dance show "Applause," starring Patrice Munsel, will play two performances Sunday in the Bryan Civic Auditorium.

"Applause" goes on as a TAMU Special Attraction at 2:30 p.m.

The musical about the backstage maneuverings of a self-defending stage favorite will play again at 8:30 p.m. in the Rotary Community Series.

Patrice Munsel stars in the famous central role of a popular stage actress who must fight schemes of an ambitious former protegee trying to overthrow her. First told in a 1950 movie, "All About Eve," "Applause" was a 26-month hit in New York. The 1970 Tony Award winner was reviewed as having "one of the best books in years."

"It has a welcome, lovely cynicism about show business," wrote Clive Barnes of the New York Times, "and the Betty Comden-Adolph Green book has preserved that cynicism. . . ."

Junior College Journalism Awards Named

McLennan, Tarrant County and Grayson County Colleges claimed top magazine and yearbook awards of the Texas Junior College Press Association in convention at A&M.

More than 200 junior college journalists and faculty representing 29 institutions attended the two-day conference.

Awards in magazine, yearbook and newspaper work were presented at a Tuesday luncheon, final conference event.

The student organization elected Scott Miller of Cisco Junior College president for the coming year. Odessa College student Mary Armstrong was elected vice president and Anne Hudson of Angelina College in Lufkin, secretary at the 20th TJCPA conference.

A faculty organization, the Texas Junior College Journalism Association, affiliated with TJCPA chose Gary Green of Grayson County College its president. Serving with Green will be vice president Lynnell Jackson, San Antonio College, and secretary Larry Thompson, Western Texas College at Snyder.

Winning magazine and yearbook in Division I, under 2,000 enrollment, were published by McLennan Community College in Waco and Grayson County College of Sherman, announced Dr. David R. Bowers.

Best magazine in the 2,000 and over enrollment Division II was by Tarrant County Junior College-Northeast. The Fort Worth system's South Campus turned out the best yearbook. Other award winners were, for magazine, San Antonio, Tarrant County South and Del Mar College, and yearbook, San Jacinto College and Texas State Technical Institute at Waco.

NSL Supports Legislation

Education Amendments Jeopardized

By VICKIE ASHWILL
Staff Writer

The Education Amendments of 1972, supported by the National Student Lobby last spring, may be in danger until 1974 unless Congress acts on higher education appropriations this fall.

The A&M Student Senate voted to join NSL at its Oct. 5th session. NSL is a registered lobby organized in 1971 and is the only student lobby on a national level.

NSL successfully lobbied for the Education Amendments signed into law June 23, 1972, authorizing over $2 billion per year in the new education programs for the three years ending in 1975.

Actual appropriations must be made this fall in order for the new student aid programs to be funded. If this session of Congress does not act on these appropriations, an emergency continuing resolution will be passed which will fund only last year's programs.

If this happens, funding for the new programs would be set aside until the 93rd Congress considers it for 1974. The administration may veto this education bill even if funding is voted for 1973 on the grounds that too much government spending is inflationary.

Profiles on every Senator and Congressman were sent by NSL Sept. 30 to all U. S. colleges and universities. The profiles contain each legislator's vote or position on 10 student related issues.

For example, in the House of Representatives 11 out of 23 Texas representatives were for the 18 year-old vote. Nine Texans were for higher education funds, one was for the Vietnam Fund Cut-off and three were for the minimum wage increase. These four issues were also suggested by NSL.

Democratic representative for the Brazos County area, Olin Teague, was against the above issues with the exception of the 18-year-old vote.

In the Senate profile both Texas senators, Democrat Lloyd Benson and Republican John Tower, were against the Vietnam Hatfield Amendment. Both were for the Equal Rights Amendment while only Benson was for the Harris Amendment for higher education funds.

NSL is also fighting for the continuation of youth fares on airlines. The U. S. Civil Aeronautics Board is preparing to announce its decision on discount fares for persons 12 to 21. Several airlines, many of which are in favor of the fares, are not expecting the CAB to continue the youth privilege.

The House recently passed a bill allowing employees to pay students 80 percent of the regular minimum wage. This rate would be $1.60 if the full rate is $2 per hour.

NSL is opposing this bill as it was designed to benefit certain users of low-paid youth. This issue is to come before a House-Senate conference committee.

Rent Stabilization Regulations applying only to off-campus housing now clearly state that rent control guidelines (allowing a 2 1/2 per cent increase per year) apply to rental units and not the number of persons in that unit.

This unit-by-unit clarification was favored by NSL since it prevents landlords from using the loophole of increasing rent when an additional person moves into the apartment.

It should also be noted that Texas is among 20 other states to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment (NSL supported). Eighteen additional states are needed to approve the amendment.

Students Told To Move Cars From Railroad Tracks Area

Students parking their cars near the railroad tracks adjacent to FM 2154 have been asked to remove their vehicles, announced University Police Chief O. L. Luther Tuesday afternoon.

Luther said he received a letter from the Texas Highway Department Monday saying it had received complaints about the parked cars next to highway right of way.

"The land there belongs to the state highway department and the railroad," said Luther. "If students don't remove their cars soon, the city and the railroad both have jurisdiction to remove the cars."

Luther said he would begin putting up blockades to the entrances to the right of way areas starting Thursday and asked that students try to have their cars removed by then. He said his department would help students in any way possible to find substitute parking.

W. J. Byford, District 17 Maintenance Engineer addressed the letter to Luther and stated reasons why the Texas Highway Department was forced to ask for automobile removal.

"The parked vehicles obscure sight distance on the approach streets and create a potentially dangerous pedestrian situation. There are 'No Parking' signs along FM 2154 and the railroad company has 'No Parking On Private Property' signs."

Copies of the letter were sent to College Station Police Chief Melvin Luedke and Councilman Don Dale.

As far as bicycle registration is concerned, Luther noted that 5 p.m. Tuesday (yesterday) was the deadline for registering bicycles.

Luther added that only about 520 bikes or roughly one-fifth of the total number estimated in use on the A&M campus have been registered.

He said he did not know exactly when his department would begin issuing tickets for people who had not registered bikes but hoped it would be soon.

Nine bicycles were reported stolen to Chief Luther during the past 15 days, while one bike had been recovered during that same period.

"To my knowledge not one of the stolen bikes has been registered with the university," said Luther.

He noted that three registration tags, numbers 0070, 0123 and 0140 have been stolen from bikes. Any students who experience this difficulty are asked to come back to the University Police Station to re-register at no extra cost.

SCONA XVIII, Student Groups Request Speakers

Potential speakers for SCONA XVIII, the Association of Mexican-American Students and the Black Awareness Committee have been approved by the Memorial Student Center Council.

SCONA XVIII will invite approximately 23 professional men, prominent in widely diversified fields.

Some of those invited to speak include Anthony Burgess, author of "Clockwork Orange;" Milton Friedman, a Federal Reserve economist and proponent of 'laissez faire' policy; Patrick L. Gray, director of the FBI; Edward M. Kennedy, Senator from Massachusetts; and Arthur Miller, a noted author.

Others requested include Alvin Toffler, author of Future Shock; Ralph Nader, consumer lobbyist; Robert Townsend, author of Up The Organization; Nicholas Johnson, Federal Communications Commission commissioner; Rollo May, a noted psychologist and author; and Charles Westoff, noted educator and author.

Texas Students Meet To Form Statewide Lobby

Students from Texas colleges and universities met in Austin Sunday to discuss the organization and operation of a statewide lobby for students' interests.

"The lobby is in the formation stages right now, and we will meet again early in November to decide on issues for the lobby to support," said Layne Kruse, A&M Student Government president.

The meeting was attended by Kruse, Student Government Vice-president Randy Ross, External Affairs Committee Chairman Barb Sears, Terry Brown, Tom Locke and 36 other Texas student leaders.

The lobby will be an affiliate of Texas Interscholastic Students Association and will have an interlocking directorate with the Association board, Kruse noted.

The members of the lobby board of directors were elected at the first meeting. Each school elected to the board will represent a geographical region, Kruse said, and the University of Houston represents A&M.

Members of the board are the University of Texas at Arlington, Texas Tech, Our Lady of the Lake and St. Edwards. Baylor, West Texas State, Southwest Texas State and Houston are interlocking members of both boards.

The next meeting of the lobby is set for early November.

"We hope to have a regional meeting before then to plan and discuss issues to present to the lobby for support," said Sears.

The lobby is in the formative stages right now, Kruse said, and A&M is basically interested in seeing that each school in it is fairly represented.

The president of the lobby is Hugh Moore, a second-year law student at Texas.

MSC Directorate Defines New Committee Requirements

The Directorate Budget Study Subcommittee of the 23rd Memorial Council and Directorate has listed the requirements for forming new MSC committees.

The stated scope of a proposed organization merits its formation if a duplicate of this committee does not exist on campus. There must also be evidence of a desire by a significant number of students for instigation and continuing the service that the committee will be able to provide.

To form a new committee, the Council requires groups to have at least two advisors and a candidate for chairman.

Unless otherwise specified by the MSC Council Executive Committee, the committee must demonstrate that a minimum of 0.2 per cent of the student body during the semester will become active charter members of the organization.

The committee must present a written statement of purpose and structure to the Directorate and the Council Executive Committee. All requirements must be submitted to the MSC Council Executive Committee through the MSC President during the fall or spring term.

The Council Executive Committee will evaluate the application and make suggestions. The committee will then be assigned to an appropriate vice-presidential category.

The committee may be required to submit a written structure. If accepted, and assigned to a VP, the committee is a trial member for two years to prove the need for its existence.

The Budget Study Subcommittee has also made recommendations for budget allocations.

Fish Footballers Placed On Conduct Probation

The three students questioned and released Saturday by the University Police Department for alleged damage to cars parked in front of Krueger and Dunn Halls, have been placed on conduct probation, announced Dean of Men Charles Powell.

The students, Kent Krueger, Dennis Smelser and Bruce Welch, met with Powell Tuesday afternoon to discuss their situation with the university.

Powell also said he would like to point out an error in the investigation report turned into the Dean of Students' Office. He noted that only four cars were damaged by the boys instead of seven, as the police had indicated earlier.

"There were damages to these cars," said Powell, "but these were not a result of any actions taken by these boys Saturday morning."

Powell said this conduct probation status would have no bearing on whether they could play football, although he admitted the whole team will probably suffer as a result of the boys' actions.

"As far as we're concerned, the boys can play football and we hope they 'beat the hell' out of who ever they play," said Powell. He said the boys were being held responsible for paying all repair costs out of their own pockets and only they are accountable.

Head Aggie football coach Emory Bellard assured Powell he too would take action to head-off any further incidents.

Filing For Freshman Offices Begins

Filing for freshman senator positions and class offices began Monday and will continue through Oct. 20.

Applications should be placed in the Student Programs Office in the Memorial Student Center. One senator will be elected for each 500 freshmen. All freshman senators must have a 2.25 grade point ratio at mid-term.

Class officers of president, vice president, secretary, treasurer, and social secretary must have a 2.0 gpr at mid-term, according to Jack Barlow, a member of the Student Election Committee.
