U.S. Bombs French Diplomats In Hanoi

SAIGON (AP)—The French diplomatic mission in Hanoi was badly damaged and its chief diplomat wounded Wednesday during a U.S. air raid on the North Vietnamese capital. France protested to the United States.
The U.S. Command reported Navy planes attacked military targets northeast of the French compound but implied the damage could have been caused by falling surface to air missiles. The command apologized to the French and promised an investigation.
In Washington, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird conceded that U.S. bombs may have struck the mission, a compound of five buildings in the heart of Hanoi. Laird said he could not be positive whether the damage was caused by a stray bomb or by falling enemy antiaircraft shells or missiles, which by official account included the heavy SAM missiles, called "flying telephone poles" by U.S. pilots.

France, which has been playing a hand in arranging for the secrecy of the talks, exhibited outrage at the attack on its mission.
President Georges Pompidou said the damage was caused by U.S. bombs and called the incident "a deplorable act."
A French government spokesman said Pierre Susini, delegate-general in Hanoi, was severely wounded, four Vietnamese employees were missing, but other French diplomatic personnel were safe.

A North Vietnamese dispatch said Susini suffered third-degree burns on the head, chest and a wound in the temple by a bomb splinter. It added that he was found lying almost buried under the wreckage.
Secretary of State William P. Rogers expressed his regrets at the wounding of Susini to the French foreign minister, Maurice Schumann.
Michael Maclear, a correspondent for the Canadian television network CTV, reported from Hanoi he saw the attack that destroyed the diplomatic residence, cutting it in half.
He said besides the wounding of Susini, a French woman diplomat and five Vietnamese staff members were killed.
Maclear declared that at least three jets swooped repeatedly over the center of the capital.
"I counted at least a dozen sorties by jets and watched as one, defying heavy antiaircraft fire, dived very low dropping two bombs. No possibility of pilot error."

no factories nearby.
The bombing destroyed two-thirds of the residence and reception hall of the delegate-general, the agency said.
Gen. John W. Vogt, U.S. deputy commander in Vietnam and commander of the 7th Air Force, promised an investigation into the incident.

"I can't imagine how it could have happened," Vogt told The Associated Press. "We'll just have to go into it and see what happened. We're going to take a good hard look at it."
