Vasectomy Surgery Not Always Permanent

NEW YORK (AP) — The birth control surgery that makes men sterile can apparently be reversed so they could father babies again, a surgeon reported Wednesday. The operation, known as vasectomy, cuts the tubes, the vas deferens, through which spermatozoa pass. Once performed, it has been considered to make men sterile forever. But the tubes can be rejoined in surgery performed under a microscope, Dr. Julius H. Jacobson of Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York told a conference in Vienna, Austria. The microscope vision makes the tiny severed tubes appear 25 times larger than they actually are, so the surgeon can sew the ends together again and make sure the tubes are open once more, he said. Speaking to the International Symposium of Microsurgery, Dr. Jacobson said he has done the reversal operation on 19 men. Eighteen of them became able to produce motile or active sperm on ejaculation, he said. The other man had suffered damage to his testes during the vasectomy, and did not produce sperm. All 19 had undergone vasectomies from two to 13 years earlier. Dr. Jacobson said he knew of babies having been born in the families of four of the men on whom he operated. More may have been born, he said in an interview before leaving for Austria. In 1970, some 750,000 American men had vasectomies, and there now are about 350 clinics or hospital facilities where vasectomies are being performed, says the Association for Voluntary Sterilization.

To be eligible to purchase the Texas A&M ring, an undergraduate student must have at least one academic year in residence and credit for ninety-five (95) semester hours. The hours passed at the preliminary grade report period on October 16, 1972 may be used in satisfying this ninety-five hour requirement. Students qualifying under this regulation may now leave their names with the ring clerk, Room Seven, Richard Coke Building. She, in turn, will check all records to determine ring eligibility. Orders for these rings will be taken by the ring clerk starting October 30, 1972 and continuing through December 12, 1972. The rings will be returned to the Registrar's Office to be delivered on or about January 22, 1973. The ring clerk is on duty from 8:00 a. m. to 12:00 noon, Monday through Friday, of each week. 1581fn
