PARIS — North Vietnam disclosed the broad outlines of a peace agreement Thursday and said the United States had agreed to sign it next Tuesday, but then backed away on the ground that South Vietnam had refused to agree to it.
 Hanoi charged this proved the United States was "not negotiating with a serious attitude."
 Despite the harsh words the peace delegations here agreed to meet again next Thursday.
WASHINGTON — Presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger said Thursday "peace is at hand" in Vietnam and, in his view, can be achieved in three or four days of private diplomacy.

The Saigon government however, remained a principal stumbling block, stating that the South Vietnamese could not be bound by any North Vietnam-U.S. agreement.
 Kissinger, President Nixon's much-traveled assistant for national security affairs, gave newsmen an hour-long report on closed-door negotiations after Hanoi Radio shattered the secrecy lid by announcing the United States and North Vietnam were on the brink of signing a nine-point peace plan.
HUNTINGTON, W. Va. — President Nixon said Thursday night he is confident that differences blocking a final Vietnam peace settlement "can and will be worked out."

 Speaking for the first time publicly about what he termed "a significant breakthrough" in the Vietnam negotiations, Nixon told an airport rally that "I am confident we will succeed in achieving our objective... peace with honor and not peace with surrender in Vietnam."
WASHINGTON — Clark MacGregor, chairman of President Nixon's campaign committee, acknowledged for the first time Thursday the existence of a special campaign fund under the control of high-ranking Republican campaign officials.
 But MacGregor said none of the funds was used to finance a widespread campaign of political espionage against Democratic presidential hopefuls.
GREENWICH, Conn. — A polio epidemic was declared by federal officials Thursday at Daycroft School, where a number of students had not been immunized against the disease because of religious reasons.
 "We have to declare a polio epidemic with our preliminary information," said Dr. Dwayne Andrews, of the U. S. Health Service's Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga.

Physics Group To Convene Here

The Society of Physics Students will host the annual Zone 10 Physics Convention this weekend.
 Physic students and professors from Texas, Oklahoma and Arkansas are expected to attend the meeting, said Clarence Annett, president of the Society of Physics Student at A&M.
 "The theme of the convention is 'Physics and Society' and physicists, will examine from both practical and physical views exactly how physics and society are related," said Annett.

Listen Up — Marsh Clears Up Yell Leader Misconceptions

Editor:
 I would like to attempt to clear up the misconceptions many students have had concerning the proposed changes in the qualifications for Yell Leaders. I am a Senator on the Senate Rules and Regulations Committee which formulated the changes in the wording of the qualifications.
 Most students seem to have gotten the impression that by deleting the word "male" from the qualifications the committee is suggesting that the students would like to see a girl as Yell Leader.
 Therefore, virtually all discussion regarding this issue has concerned itself with the desirability of a girl Yell Leader and the implications toward Aggie Tradition. In my opinion, however, I cannot consider this as a relevant issue in the question of qualifications for Yell Leader.
 As most students will recall, the Texas Legislature gained the dubious title of being the first state to ratify the Equal Rights Amendment in the nation. Henceforth, any laws or requirements included under Texas law which are discriminatory in any way to either sex are against the Texas State Constitution.
 Even with the present wording of the Yell Leader requirements, a girl would only have to appeal to the Judicial Committee on the premise of state law and become a candidate. The whole procedure would blow the issue out of proportion and create a great uproar on campus.

 Let me state that even though I am discussing the legal implications of leaving the word "male" in the requirements, I am violently opposed to EVER having a female Yell Leader at A&M! In fact no one on the Rules and Regulations Committee wants one either. I have also been convinced that almost no one on this campus is in favor of upsetting Aggie Tradition by having a female Yell Leader.
 Since we are unable to legally require a sex preference, although it seems to be the overwhelming consensus of the students to only have male Yell Leaders, we could possibly solve the problem in a different manner. The only solution I can come up with to express the wishes of the student body as well as remain within state law would be to add a statement to the qualifications declaring the intentions of the students as upholding the Aggie Tradition of all male Yell Leaders. This would, of course, have no enforcing quality, but would at least keep some statement that the Yell Leaders should remain all male in the wording of the requirements.
 This issue is scheduled to be decided at the next Senate meeting November 2, 1972, and I am sure that everyone on the Committee and in the Senate would appreciate any student feedback.

16,000 other students the chance to voice our opinions on the issue by voting.
 If the majority of students here want female yell leaders, I feel it is awfully presumptuous for a minority of individuals to deny them that privilege.
 If, however, the majority are against the idea, then their feelings can be adequately expressed at the polls.
 I respect the right of speech to those who would suggest that female yell leaders would make A&M a "TU at College Station," but I hope that such shallow statements will not be used in an attempt to deny the student body's right to choose its own yell leaders.

Editor:
 Your line across the photos of Bread was totally uncalled for. They put on an excellent show and you showed your ignorance by pushing your opinion on the students of A&M.
 What makes you a music critic anyhow? I don't know how your paper makes its editorial but in the future please print the facts and leave opinions to us.
 Let us judge what is a matter of money. Keep your editorial matters of policy and matters of taste.

 Your one-line, unsigned editorial accompanying the pictures in Tuesday's Battalion was tasteless, uncalled for, false.

 Editor:
 It seems to me that the current yell leader issue has been greatly misunderstood. The question before the Student Senate is not whether A&M should have female yell leaders, but whether the student body should have the opportunity to vote on the issue.
 Regardless of my personal views on female yell leaders, I strongly resent the efforts of those who would deny me and wish to have their case known personally with the Exchange Store Advisory Committee," said Dean of Students James P. Hannigan, chairman of the Exchange Store Advisory Committee.

 One hundred clubs have applied for $84,299 worth of Exchange Store allocations of which only $40,000 is available, Hannigan said.
 A five-minute presentation may be made to the 11-member Advisory Committee composed of Hannigan, Dean of Men Charles W. Powell, Kent Caperton, R. C. Diebel, C. A. Phillips, B. F. Watson, Civilian Student Council President Mark Blakemore, Corps Commander Ron Kranavek, Student Government President Layne Kruse, MSC Council President Sam Walsler and the Graduate Student Council President R. A. Zepeda.
 The Advisory Committee will make recommendations to the Board of Directors who will allocate funds in November.

 student in the audience of working against blacks, specifically the black culture.
 "I don't believe in a black culture," said Smothers. "I see through color. It that wrong?"
 "Yes, I believe it is," replied the student.
 "Then I'll die wrong," Smothers concluded.
