

Reagan Foiled In Attempt To Restrain Broadcasting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Communications Commission told Gov. Ronald Reagan on Thursday it is barred by law from trying to persuade radio and TV networks not to broadcast national election projections in the Far West until the polls close there.

The commission informed the California governor it would be inappropriate for the FCC to intervene "directly or indirectly... officially or unofficially."

Reagan asked the FCC Thursday to "use its good offices to get all segments of the broadcast industry together" to work out a way to postpone such predictions.

He said projections of winners have caused some potential voters to stay away from the polls.

Reagan appealed also to NBC, CBS, ABC and the Mutual Broadcasting system and to The Associated Press and United Press International.

The commission's telegram to Reagan noted that Congress has failed to pass bills to delay projections or to delay release of results from polling places.

In light of the 1934 Communication Act prohibiting FCC censorship of radio broadcasts, the commission said it "refrains from directly or indirectly attempting to interfere in the exercise of news judgment by licensees and from intervening in the area of broadcast presentation in any way."

The only exception, the commission said, is "when extrinsic evidence of deliberate distortion or staging of news is presented."

California polls close at 8 p.m. PST, which is 11 p.m. on the East Coast. West Coast voters in the past have heard broadcast predictions based on early returns from the East Coast hours before their own polls close.

The networks disagreed with Reagan.

An NBC spokesman said studies had failed to show that projections of electoral results deterred West Coast voters from going to the polls. Richard S. Salant, president of CBS news, said there was no indication that voters changed their minds about voting even though the winner had apparently been decided.

Constitutional Amendments To Be On General Election Ballot

As in past elections, the voters of Texas will once again be asked to judge some changes to the State Constitution. One of the amendments is designed to do away with the need to amend the present constitution and write an entirely new constitution. This amendment along with 13 others covers areas ranging from equality to higher salaries for state officials. Here are how the amendments size up.

Amendment #1 — An increase in the salary of a member of the state legislature from $4,800 to $8,400.

Amendment #2 — to abolish the Lamar County Hospital and allow the county to dispose of the assets of the hospital.

Amendment #3 — A change in the method of compensation for the Justice of the Peace from a fee to a set salary.

Amendment #4 — To form a Constitutional Revision Commission to report no later than Nov. 1, 1973, and to convene the 63rd Legislature early to act as a Constitutional Convention to draft and submit a new State Constitution.

Amendment #5 — A graduated tax exemption for disabled veterans on certain property. The exemption would range between $1,500 to $3,000 depending on the percentage of disability.

Amendment #6 — To provide that exemptions for persons over 65 years of age from certain ad valorem taxes under certain conditions be not less than $3,000 of the value of residence homesteads.

Amendment #7 — To provide that equality under the law shall not be denied because of sex, color, creed or nationality.

Amendment #8 — A change in the term of office from two to four years for the governor, lieutenant-governor, attorney general, commissioner of the general land office, secretary of state and certain statutory state offices.

Amendment #9 — to exempt directors of water and soil conservation districts from prohibitions against dual office-holding and dual compensation.

Amendment #10 — to revise provisions concerning the time of proposing amendments to the state constitution and the time and method of publishing notice of amendments.

Amendment #11 — To provide a salary of $22,500 for the offices of lieutenant governor and the speaker of the house.

Amendment #12 — To allow state employes and certain other persons to serve on the governing bodies of school districts, cities, towns or other governmental districts without forfeiting their state salary, and to otherwise change the restrictions of dual-office holding.

Amendment #13 — to increase the maximum interest rate which may be on certain bond issued under constitutional authority.

Amendment #14 — To permit the commissioners court of a county to reduce the county permanent school fund and to provide for the per scholastic distribution and use of the money obtained from the reduction.

LET'S FINISH THE JOB!

Last spring Texas voted to clean out those implicated in the Sharpstown scandal.

But there's one still around, State Treasurer Jesse James.

The State Auditor's Report shows that Jesse James, the State Treasurer, parked more than $10 million in the Sharpstown Bank. James left $4 million idle in a Sharpstown checking account for over two years, earning absolutely no interest.

The taxpayers of Texas, through state deposits placed by Jesse James, bankrolled the Wheeling and dealing of Frank Sharp.

State Rep. Maurice Angly of Austin was one of the original small group of legislators who stood firm last year and spoke out for a full investigation of the Sharpstown case.

Rep. Angly needs your help to finish the job. He's running a hard race to clean up the State Treasury.

Angly's campaign pledges are simple: "I will never play favorites. I will put excess state funds to work earning maximum interest consistent with sound business practices. I will run the treasurer's office honestly and efficiently as a public trust for the taxpayers of Texas."

Let's finish the job. Vote for Rep. Maurice Angly for State Treasurer on November 7.
