Vietnam Cease-Fire Could Be Stalled Again

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House said Monday there may be a need for additional consultations with the North Vietnamese beyond the "one more" negotiating session outlined last month by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger.

Presidential press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler told newsmen he could not confirm or deny that Kissinger and chief North Vietnamese negotiator Le Duc Tho would meet this week in Paris.

But if and when such a session takes place, Ziegler said, "there will be further consultations required" with South Vietnam and perhaps Hanoi.

The press spokesman denied this was a shift from the statement Kissinger made last month in which he predicted that "what remains to be done can be settled in one more negotiating session with the North Vietnamese negotiators, lasting, I would think no more than three or four days."

Ziegler told reporters also that Gen. Alexander Haig, Kissinger's deputy, brought a letter to President Nixon from South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu when he returned from Saigon Monday. Ziegler confirmed also that Haig went to Saigon last week carrying a Nixon letter addressed to Thieu.

The spokesman would not disclose the contents of either message, but American officials in Saigon indicated Haig's four days in the South Vietnamese capital apparently cleared the way for a resumption of the Kissinger-Thieu meetings.

Haig landed Monday afternoon at nearby Andrews Air Force Base where he was met by Kissinger. The two flew immediately by helicopter to report to Nixon at Camp David, his mountain retreat in Maryland.

While U. S. sources in Saigon spoke in optimistic terms, American officials in Washington clammed up after Ziegler spoke Monday. Earlier, they had predicted Kissinger would fly to Paris this week, and some spoke of a cease-fire agreement being signed this month.

In addition to the reports that the way has been cleared for new talks by Kissinger and Le Duc Tho The New York Times reported from Saigon that Thieu has modified a major objection to the nine-point draft agreement disclosed last month.

According to the U. S. and Vietnamese officials quoted in the Times, the Saigon leader told Haig he would accept a pledge in principle by Hanoi to pull their troops out of South Vietnam.

There was no official confirmation of this in Saigon or Washington and South Vietnamese Foreign Minister Tran Van Lam said in a speech Monday night his government still demands the removal of all North Vietnamese troops.

Hanoi's public attitude is to accept another meeting with Kissinger, but only to sign, not to renegotiate the nine points.

The draft agreement did not contain any direct reference to withdrawal of North Vietnamese troops from the South and the issue was not one of the "six or seven" ambiguities Kissinger said needed to be smoothed in a final session.

Kent Ellis, Evangelist
"IN CHRIST"
The most important and beneficial relationship which one can sustain in life is that of being "in Christ." These words are used "of a person to whom another is wholly joined and to whose power and influence he is subject, so that the former may be likened to the place in which the latter lives and moves... ingrafted as it were in Christ, in fellowship and union with Christ... most intimately united to him" (Thayer's Greek-English Lexicon, p. 211).

The person "in Christ" enjoys all spiritual blessings, redemption, forgiveness, and sanctification (Eph. 1:3, 7; I Cor. 1:2). "In Christ" he is a new creature, receiving the benefits of God's grace and love, being led on to triumph and eternal salvation (II Cor. 5:17; II Tim. 2:1; Rom. 8:39; II Cor. 2:14; II Tim. 2:10). The blessings of being "in Christ" continue in and beyond death, for "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord" (Rev. 14:13).

To live and die outside of Christ is to miss all these blessings in time and eternity.

Two passages in the New Testament tell us how one comes to be "in Christ." Both state that a proper subject is "baptized into Christ" (Gal. 3:27; Rom. 6:3). You will search in vain for any other way to enter "into Christ," and thus to enjoy the incalculable benefits of this relationships.

White House Fellowships Now Available

Persons from all occupations between the ages of 23 and 35 (inclusive) may apply to serve as a White House Fellow before Dec. 15.

The White House Fellows is a group of 15 to 20 "promising young citizens" chosen to serve as assistants to members of the Cabinet or the White House Staff.

The program was founded by President Lyndon Johnson in 1964. The plan originated with a suggestion of then Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare John W. Gardner. Five years later, President Richard Nixon called the program an example of "tremendous foresight and perception."

In addition to their daily tasks, they participate in educational activities revolving around the government's processes, personalities and problems. In this way, they learn first-hand the major issues faced by government and the challenges of finding and implementing solutions.

One Aggie, Henry G. Cisneros, from the class of '68 has already served as a White House Fellow. During his term, Cisneros met with President Nixon and other leaders in Washington and across the nation.

Tasks of the individual fellows vary, depending on what needs to be done. In most cases, by the end of the year a Fellow will have written speeches, attended conferences, supervised staff work, drafted reports, conducted meetings and other such projects.

Throughout the year, emphasis is placed on linking theory and practice, analysis and action.

Applicants must be citizens of the United States. No employees of the federal government are eligible for the program, except career personnel of the armed services.

Nominations may be made by an organization (usually the employer) or by an individual or group having special knowledge of the nominee's abilities and potential. Organizations may nominate more than one candidate and are encouraged to do so.

Fellows receive a government salary of up to $27,289 for the year, depending upon previous education, experience and earnings.

Applicants are screened by regional panels who then send their comments and recommendations to the Commission on White House Fellows. After additional screening, the Commission makes its presentation to the President, who then names the new group of Fellows.

Applications may be picked up in the Student Government Offices in the Memorial Student Center or be sent for at the President's Commission on White House Fellows, The White House, Washington, D.C., 20500.
