HAPPY THANKSGIVING, DRIVE CAREFULLY
AND BEAT THE YOU-KNOW-WHAT OUT OF YOU-KNOW WHO

I FINALLY GOT ONE. Freshman split end Richard Osborne got his first touchdown catch of his college career against Rice Saturday. Osborne leads the Aggies in receptions with 29 but it took ten games before he got to score. It wasn't enough however as the Owls beat the Aggies 20-14 Saturday. He'll try it again in front of 80 million people Thursday when the Ags visit the Longhorns in a TV game. (Photo by Steve Ueckert)

The Beachboys—sure everybody remembers the Beachboys. They were the cute guys with the surfer hair cuts and striped coats that sang about little deuce coups and good vibrations.
"Beachboy music" came to be a description of the much-copied sound they made famous. With the sweet, high harmonies, choruses frequently consisting of sounds instead of words, and the eternal search for the perfect wave, their music was a part of the exuberance of the middle sixties.
Their first single, "Surfin' Safari" came out in 1962. It made them the top vocal group in America. The next four years were tightly scheduled with a minimum of one single every three months, an album every six months, and a national tour every year.
The Beachboys grew older and matured right along with the kids who bought their records — but their "Beachboys music" stayed the same. It was good for them financially since a Beachboy single had a guaranteed market, but it couldn't last forever.
In 1966 "Pet Sounds" came out. Something was different. The voices were the same but the album had nothing to do with the perfect wave hit. "Pet Sounds" ended up in record bargain piles and it seemed the Beachboys were just sweet history. In early 1971 "Surfs Up" hit the rocks. It was the Beachboys, but with some music that was distant even from "Pet Sounds." The title track of "Surfs Up" was a song first recorded in 1967. It was the only survivor of an abortive partnership with Van Dyke Parks, a strange songish writer whose biggest accomplishment was doing the music for Ice Capades commercials.

But the song set the mood for the whole album and their new music in general.
"Surfs up, aboard a tidal wave—
Come about hard and join the Young and often Spring.
I heard the word, wonderful thing.
A children's song, the child is the father of man."
Nostalgia had crept into their music understandably, and pleasantly.
One of the tracks, "Disney Girl's '57" is the way everyone remembers his freshman year. Two other songs dealt with ecology and one with demonstrations.
"Surfs Up" was the emergence of a different Beachboys, and older, more serious group of men, but with the same knack for turning out sweet sounding music.
Next week — Charles Manson and the Beachboys latest release.

Food Services Announces Food Poll Results

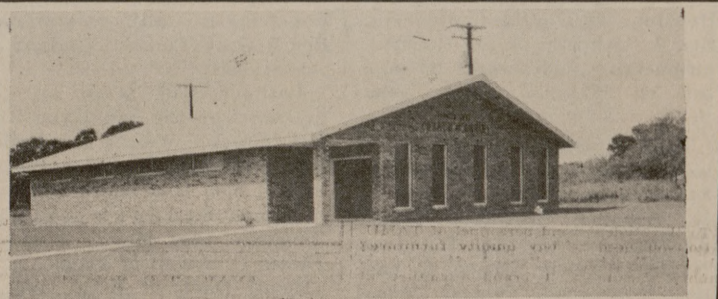

The Department of Food Services has announced the results of the poll taken to decide student food preferences.
The poll indicated student preferences among the foods ordinarily offered in fast food franchise operations.
The first choice of students was pizza.
Other choices were fried chicken and French fries, second-ranked; and cold sandwiches, chips. Fifth was hamburgers and grilled cheese and soup, third. French fries and sixth, tacos, tamales and chili dogs.
Fourth choice was fish and run. It will follow a course from the coliseum to Jersey Street, Texas Avenue, East Main Drive and past Krueger-Dunn Hall back to the coliseum.

The Daily Eagle managing editor, Jim Holman, will serve as honorary starter.
Runners need only to appear in clothes in which they wish to run in order to participate. Advance or pre-start registration is not required, Chevette stated.

Pre-Registration To Begin Monday

Pre-registration for the 1973 spring semester will begin Monday and run through Dec. 1, according to Don Carter, director of student registration.
Students are to go to their prospective departments to pick up registration packets and then to speak to his advisor.
Registration headquarters will be in the Cushing Building, where students will turn in class requests.
Bills will be mailed to each student at his mailing address just prior to the Christmas holidays.
Final exams will start on Wednesday, Dec. 13 and run through Tuesday, Dec. 19. Students' grades will be mailed by Dec. 21.
The spring schedule booklet may be picked up in the Registrar's Office in the Coke Building.

NEGLECTING SALVATION

"How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation?" (Heb. 2:3).
Neglect is a serious thing. A careless lack of interest and attention will bring almost any possession or endeavor to ruin. It will do the same to one's prospects for salvation.
Pleasing God has both its negative and its positive aspects. We are not to do the things He has forbidden. We are to do the things He has commanded. One may not be engaged in doing wrong, but at the same time not be engaged in doing right. He may not be engaged in doing anything of spiritual significance.
A person need not be a perpetrator of every vile deed to be displeasing to God. He may abstain from immoralities and still be neglecting his positive duties toward God and man. In Matthew the 25th chapter the judgement is presented from three different standpoints. In each case the condemned parties were rejected not so much for doing wrong (things forbidden) as for failing to do right. They were charged with neglecting the duties which accompany salvation.
A man may not be a murderer, adulterer, liar, or thief. At the same time he may not be a lover of God and men. God is not only interested in what we are not, but also in what we have not just in what we have not done, but likewise in what we have done.
How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation? "... much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from Heaven" (Heb. 12:25).
