WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon Monday disclosed he will seek extension of wage-price controls beyond their April 30 expiration date and will freeze new hiring and promotions as well as pay increases for executives in the federal government.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz made known the long-awaited presidential decision on continuation of the wage-price control system now slightly more than a year old. But the secretary said consultations will begin immediately to determine how the control system will be changed.

The series of consultations will be held with people from labor, management, Congress and the agencies which control wages and prices from day to day, Shultz told reporters at the White House.

Nixon has also decided that he can, and is determined to, hold federal spending in the current fiscal year to $250 billion, Shultz said. This would be accomplished by cutting back spending through withholding money appropriated by Congress.

At present, the fiscal 1973 budget is about $8 billion to $9 billion over the amount sought by the White House.

The freeze on new federal hiring and promotions will last until the new budget is sent to Congress in January, Shultz said, and will be accompanied by very substantial cuts in the White House staff.

Shultz said the freeze on pay increases for federal executives applies not only to the executive branch, but to Congress and to the federal judiciary as well. He said it would last through 1973.

The freeze on executive pay is made possible because Congress named a commission to study the matter. Shultz said the President has asked the commission to make a report by June 30 of next year and any salary increases would be contained in the budget going to Congress early in 1973.

Shultz ruled out a return to voluntary controls on wages and prices in the near future, saying that there will have to be a mandatory element in the new system.

In a statement issued after Shultz's new conference, Nixon said the freeze on personnel covers all new civilian hiring and all civilian and military promotions. He said the freeze would be relaxed when the budget goes to Congress.

The President added that exceptions to the freeze would be permitted in cases essential to preserve life and safety, protect property and to preserve continuity of government or for emergency situations — such as the need for the Post Service to hire temporary help during the Christmas mail rush.

Judge Declares Mistrial In Pentagon Papers Case

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The judge in the Pentagon papers trial declared a mistrial Monday after defendants Daniel Ellsberg and Anthony Russo waived protection against double jeopardy in order to obtain a new jury and a fresh start.

The defense then raised an objection concerning the potential jury panel, saying the chief judge of the district may have prejudiced any prospective jurors.

The declaration of mistrial and order for a new jury by U.S. District Court Judge Matt Byrne technically placed the defendants in double jeopardy because a second trial was ordered without completion of a first. However, Ellsberg and Russo announced in court that they would waive protection against prosecution twice on the same charges in order to start anew with the fresh jurors.

Their attorneys had contended that the jurors, who were sent home for four months while appeals were taken to higher courts, were prejudiced by publicity during the hiatus.

"Things look better," said Ellsberg after the ruling, "than if we had to go to trial with a jury that had their lives disrupted for four months." Such a jury, he said, would have become "restless" by the time the defense case would have been presented.

Russo, saying he was still angry at changes the government had made at the last minute in its projected case, added, "My feeling is that I'm getting ready for the next thing the government is going to do. They are going to do more deceptive things."

Ellsberg, 41, and Russo, 35, both former researchers on government projects, are charged with espionage, conspiracy and theft in connection with the leak to news media of top-secret documents detailing origins of the Vietnam war.

Byrne, saying he would formally dismiss jurors on Tuesday, noted that a new panel would be available for questioning on Wednesday and indicated he hoped to start then. He said he did not expect testimony to begin before January.

The previous jury selection took about three weeks.

Fish Drill Team Impressive At UH

The Fish Drill Team made its competition debut of 1972-73 Saturday its best ever.

The all-freshman team swept four second places in the University of Houston meet, improving on the 1972 national champion FDT's Houston finish by one place.

"The team looked encouraging," commented Maj. Harvey Haas, sponsor. The 1971-72 team placed third at U-H and went on to win TAMU's fifth straight national title.

Commanded by Joseph M. Chandler of San Antonio, the current team won four trophies at Houston, one more than Texas A&I which won the meet. The Fish brought away second places in inspection, regular drill, precision drill and overall.

A&I had first places overall and in both drill phases. UT-Austin was first—by .02 point—in inspection. The Fish scored 858.43 overall, 17.43 behind A&I and 98.09 ahead of third place Arkansas State.

The regular drill season will be next spring.

Irgolic Named Program Head

Dr. Kurt Irgolic, associate professor of chemistry, has been named program coordinator for the institution's Office of University Research.

Dr. Robert R. Berg, university research director, said Dr. Irgolic will assist in development of new research in the sciences.

"One of the most important aspects of his work will be to coordinate research that involves interdisciplinary cooperation between the biological and physical sciences," Dr. Berg added.

Dr. Irgolic will continue to teach on a part-time basis.
