108 Feared Dead In Air Crash

KANO, Nigeria (AP)—A chartered jetliner carrying 202 Moslems home from a pilgrimage to Mecca crashed and burned on the runway of Kano's airport Monday while coming in for a landing in a fog. Officials said they fear 180 persons perished.

They reported 30 survived, all of them severely burned. The plane had a crew of eight.

This would make the crash the world's deadliest air disaster involving a single aircraft. One hundred seventy-six persons died in the crash of a Soviet Aeroflot jet near Moscow last Oct. 13.

The crash here was the 11th in little over a year in which 100 or more persons were killed in various parts of the world. The one previous to this was the crash of an Eastern Air Lines jet in the Florida Everglades on Dec. 30, which cost 101 lives.

The Boeing 707 of the Royal Jordanian Airlines burst into flames as it touched down at Kano's tiny airport, witnesses said.

The pilot was identified by a Royal Jordanian spokesman in Amman as Capt. John Waterman, an American whose wife and children live in Beirut, Lebanon. The spokesman said the airline had been informed that he and the seven other crew members were among the survivors.

The four-engine plane had flown about 2,100 miles from Jidda, near Mecca, in Saudi Arabia. Mecca is the Moslems' holiest place.

Kano airport officials said visibility was about 1,500 feet when the Jordanian plane crashed around 10 a.m.

Officials said the aircraft had been scheduled to fly to Lagos, Nigeria's capital about 730 miles to the southwest, but was diverted to Kano because of foul weather.

Thousands of Nigerians flocked to the airport and many wailed and shouted with grief for the dead, most of whom were believed to be Nigerians.

The pilot's wife told a newsman in Beirut, she had heard from aviation sources that the runway collapsed at the point at which the aircraft touched down.

She said her husband, a World War II Air Force veteran, had been flying for 20 years in the Middle East and had logged 20,000 hours' flying time.

Waterman was born in Fresno, Calif., but had not maintained a U.S. residence for many years, his wife said.

GM Recalls 3.7 Million Cars To Correct Steering Fallacy

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors recalled 3.7 million 1971 and 1972 cars Monday to correct possible steering lockups which the company said are believed responsible for at least 12 injuries.

The automaker said it had reports of 96 incidents in which flying stones allegedly lodged between the coupling and car frame, causing steering interference. Twenty-three accidents, involving 12 injuries, were reported.

GM said the cars being recalled were full-size 1971 and 1972 models of Chevrolets, Buicks, Oldsmobiles and Pontiacs.

They will be fitted with a shield over the steering coupling, the company explained, to prevent the possibility of stones or gravel lodging between the coupling and the car frame.

Although the list price on the shield is only 85 cents, the recall could cost the auto giant more than $12 million. The postage bill alone will be an estimated $1.6 million, and a spokesman said labor costs would be about $3 per car.

Notices to owners will start going out in about two weeks, GM said, and the shields will be installed free of charge.

In announcing the recall, GM said its own investigations and those conducted by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration showed lock-ups could occur "if a car is driven over loose gravel, on extremely rutted roads at speeds which cause the car to pitch excessively."

Under such circumstances, the company added, the front frame cross-member may scoop up loose stones or gravel from the roadway.

Zebulon White To Give Two Lectures

Dr. Zebulon W. White, former associate dean of the Yale School of Forestry, will give two lectures Thursday.

The programs are sponsored by the Forest Science Department.

Dr. White will speak on "The Role of the Consulting Forester" at 3:30 p.m. in Plant Science Room 106. He will discuss consultant's services and fees, and professional ethics.

At 7:30 p.m. in Zachry Engineering Center Room 2, Dr. White's topic is "Taxation of Forest Lands: Equity or Subsidy?" The rational of timber taxation will be discussed, including new laws.

Dr. White currently is a consulting forester. He recently completed writing and editing "The South's Third Forest." He is a member of the Property Tax Subcommittee of the Forest Industries Committee and chairman of the new Metrication Committee of the Society of American Foresters.

His education was at Dartmouth and Yale.
