

Pageant And Ball Honor King Cotton

By JAN LANDERS
Women's Editor
King Cotton will once again reign as over 100 women from across the state will descend upon A&M to participate in the 28th annual Cotton Pageant and Ball April 21.

The Student Agronomy Society in the Department of Soil and Crop Sciences hosts the yearly event, which is a social highlight and honors King Cotton, the major cash crop of Texas.

Foreign Study Program Planned For Summer

The Honors Committee of Texas A&M University's College of Liberal Arts will sponsor a "summer abroad" program this year for students interested in combining foreign travel with study at major European universities.

Dr. Herbert Lang, professor of history and committee chairman, said a wide variety of programs is available and invited inquiries from interested students during the week of March 26-30.

The activities begin Friday, April 20, with an informal social featuring square dancing. It will be held in the Zachry Engineering Center at 8 p.m. It is open to the public.

The following day the Pageant will be held in the Bryan Civic Auditorium at 7 p.m. Master of ceremonies will be J. T. (Tony) Price, executive vice president of the Texas Cotton Ginners Association.

Cap And Gown Picks Coeds

A&M's newly formed Cap and Gown senior women's honor society is in the process of screening candidates for fall membership.

Cap and Gown is a colony of Mortar Board, the first and only national senior women's honor society. The A&M chapter will remain a colony for five years after which it will petition for a charter in Mortar Board.

The purpose of the organization is to promote college loyalty; advance a spirit of service and fellowship among university women; promote and maintain a high standard of scholarship; recognize and encourage leadership; and stimulate and develop a "finer" type of college women.

Members are elected in their junior year and remain active for one year or as long as they maintain senior status. Women are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership and community service.

Collins Places In National Swimming Championship

Jean Collins represented A&M's women's swimming team in the Association for Intercollegiate Athletics for Women's National Intercollegiate Swimming and Diving Championship during the spring break.

The contest was held in Moscow, Idaho, on the campus of the University of Idaho. There were 76 colleges and universities that participated with over 400 competitors.

The judging was divided into two categories, consolation and will include The New Tradition Singers and Dr. Robert Anderson, assistant professor of Industrial Engineering.

During the Pageant, a queen and eight members of her court will be selected from women representing colleges, universities, civic clubs and other organizations throughout the state.

This year Leroy Mikeska of Hallettsville has been selected to reign as King Cotton. His court includes the following: Dennis Pietsch, James Day, Glen Rod, Anthony Doratik, Maurice Jurana, David Wilde, Leon Blackwelder and Glen Blackwelder.

Miss Laura Potter, Cotton Queen of 1972 will crown the King and Queen for 1973 during the pageant.

The Cotton Ball, following the Pageant, will begin at 9 p.m. in the Zachry Engineering Center. The ball will be a formal event with popular music by the Cavaliers from San Angelo.

James Day, social secretary of the sponsoring Student Agronomy Society, said that April 21 is timely for the event as the Aggie Muster and Maroon and White Football game will be held earlier in the day.

"Pageant and Ball proceeds will help finance an agriculture tour of the state for juniors and seniors majoring in agronomy," Day said.

Organizations wishing to sponsor a duchess can contact the Soil and Crop Science Department at 845-3042.
