Barker Photography Authorized To Make Commencement Prints

Barker Photography has been authorized to take color photographs of students receiving diplomas at A&M's commencement exercises May 4-5.

The College Station studio was designated by A&M's Convocations and Concessions Committees. Several area photographers were invited to submit proposals to provide the service.

Dr. Haskell Monroe, Convocations Committee chairman and assistant vice president for academic affairs, said the committees hoped this new service will be a convenience to the graduate and his family and friends and alleviate distracting conditions when photographers crowd around the platform when diplomas are presented.

A representative of Barker Studio will have a desk in the lobby of the Coke Building during the

Honor Society Gets Charter At Ceremony

A&M's chapter of Beta Gamma Sigma, a business administration honor society, will receive its charter at an installation ceremony Wednesday.

Jesse M. Smith, managing director of Beta Gamma Sigma, will make the presentation and address the new members.

Beta Gamma Sigma is open to juniors and seniors, and criteria for selection varies. The primary considerations are that seniors must be in the top 10 per cent of the graduating class and juniors must be in the top five per cent of their class.

The purpose of the society is to encourage scholarship among students of business and administration, and to promote advancement and integrity in business operations.

Thirty-three students, six faculty members and two honorary members will be initiated into Beta Gamma Sigma Wednesday at Ramada Inn. Honorary members are James W. Aston and W. Duke Walser.

Cyclotron Talk Rescheduled

The Cyclotron Institute Colloquium set for April 30 has had a time change due to unforeseen conflicts.

H. E. Conzett, Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory, will speak on "Polarization Experiments at the Berkeley 88 Cyclotron" at 2:30 p.m. April 30.

Coffee will be served at 3:15 p.m. following Conzett's talk, and interested persons are invited to attend.
