

Watergate Duo Expect Acquittal If Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP)—Presidential associates H. R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman began testifying before the Watergate grand jury Thursday. Their lawyer said they are confident of acquittal if indicted.

Both men resigned from the White House staff Monday after news accounts and other sources linked them to an alleged cover-up of the Watergate wiretapping. Ehrlichman has been tied to two other scandals as well, an alleged burglary in the Pentagon papers case and a Lebanese bank deal promoted by accused mutual fund looter Robert L. Vesco.

Haldeman, who had been Nixon's chief of staff, and Ehrlichman, his chief domestic adviser, spent the morning talking with chief prosecutor Earl Silbert.

They began giving testimony in the afternoon. Ehrlichman went first. Their lawyer, John J. Wilson, said neither would claim any protection against self-incrimination.

Wilson was asked by newsmen if his clients fear they will be indicted.

"I don't know about that," he said. "But they have no fear of being convicted."

Ehrlichman testified for nearly four hours. Then Haldeman, who had been waiting outside during that time, entered the grand jury room.

Ehrlichman said he answered questions "very fully." When asked whether he had invoked the Fifth Amendment, he said, "Oh my no. Gracious no. I wouldn't take the Fifth Amendment under any circumstances."

Meanwhile Thursday reports, rumors and speculation mounted from many sides, saying that Elliot L. Richardson, named by the President to be attorney general, is about to select a special prosecutor to take over the case. Richardson said only, "I have the whole question under deliberation."

Meanwhile former presidential adviser Charles Colson was accused by government auditors of handling, and probably editing, a phony advertisement placed by the Nixon campaign in the New York Times last May 17.

The ad, which criticized the newspaper's opposition to Nixon's mining of Haiphong harbor, purported to be the product of 14 citizens whose names appeared on it.

But the Federal Elections Office said the 14 had nothing to do with it. It told the Justice Department the ad was originated, produced and paid for by the Nixon campaign, an apparent violation of the campaign law.

Industrial Goods' Prices Increase

WASHINGTON (AP)— Wholesale prices of industrial goods rose sharply last month, but some farm and food prices declined for the first time in six months, the Labor Department said Thursday.

Meat prices dropped 2.9 percent in April, presumably reflecting the nationwide consumer meat boycott and the price ceilings imposed by President Nixon late in March.

But prices of industrial commodities including raw materials and finished manufactured goods, jumped 1.4 percent in April, the steepest monthly hike since the early Korean War Year of 1951.

The industrial prices are considered a better barometer of inflation than volatile food prices.

The over-all Wholesale Price Index rose eight-tenths of one percent, following a record 2.2 percent increase in March. The rate of advance was considered sharp, though not as steep as in previous months.

President Nixon's chief economic adviser, Herbert Stein, attributed the rise in industrial commodities to "the strength of the worldwide boom" and the recent devaluation of the dollar.

Stein said the imposition of tighter controls on price increases of major corporations announced Wednesday by Nixon, "should also slow down price increases and in some cases may bring about price reductions."

As for wholesale prices of farm products, he predicted they would continue to fluctuate in the coming months but was confident they had reached their peak.

Faculty-Staff Members Receive $12,000 In Awards, Watches

The Association of Former Students presented $1,000 awards and commemorative watches to 12 A&M faculty-staff members at the annual Faculty Recognition and Awards Program Thursday.

Former Students President Melvin Maltz, who joined President Jack K. Williams and Vice President for Academic Affairs John C. Calhoun Jr. in addressing the faculty, made the presentations for distinguished achievements in teaching, research, extension and student relations.

Awards for teaching went to Dr. Herman D. Brown, associate professor of agricultural education; Dr. Charles E. Gates, professor of statistics; Dr. John C. Hiebert, associate professor of physics; Dr. Glenn R. Johnson, professor and head of educational curriculum and instruction; Dr. Gerard A. O'Donovan, associate professor of biochemistry and plant sciences; Dr. Robert M. Olson, professor of civil engineering; and Neal M. Randolph, professor of entomology.

Research awards were presented to Dr. Edward A. Hiler, associate professor of agricultural engineering; Dr. William P. Jones, research professor of aerospace engineering; and Dr. Arthur E. Martell, professor and head of chemistry.

Dan R. Davis, associate professor of sociology, received the association's award for individual student relationships.

The award for extension work was given to Lawrence A. Maddox Jr., Texas Agricultural Extension Service beef cattle specialist.
