HEW Announces Library Grants

A total of $10,031,128 in grants to 2,044 of the nation's higher education institutions to acquire library materials was announced Monday by HEW Secretary Caspar W. Weinberger.

No matching funds are required. Institutions of higher education receiving grants offer at least one full year or more of post-secondary education.

The awards are used by higher education and library institutions for the acquisition of materials such as books, periodicals, documents, other printed and published materials, magnetic tapes, phonograph records, and audiovisual materials.

Texas A&M received two $5,000 grants under the HEW program, announced Director of Libraries John B. Smith. One of the awards will be used for acquisitions by the main university library and the other for the branch at the Moody College of Marine Sciences and Maritime Resources at Galveston.

The grants were awarded under Title II-A of the Higher Education Act of 1965, as amended, for the improvement of services to college and university libraries.

Yosufzai Welcomes Freshmen

Dear Fellow Aggies: I would like to take this opportunity to welcome you to Texas A&M University on behalf of the Student Body and the Student Government of this great institution.

the form of the Aggie Spirit. The Student Government sponsors a student purchase program. By virtue of being a student at TAMU you will be entitled to discounts at various stores, gas stations, restaurants, etc.

Student Lobby and the National Student Lobby. Through the medium of these organizations we keep abreast of state and national affairs. We also run a refrigerator rental program and a fair housing commission.

Sculptures

(Continued from page 1) Works in the show range from table-top pieces a few inches in height to very large-scale pieces, some as much as 8 feet tall.

As an architect, Boyce received the Texas Forestry Association's Architect Award in 1969 for his use of wood in the construction of a group of seven apartment units at the university.

The exhibition in the Edmund Kirk showroom is Boyce's first in Dallas.

Alpha Phi Omega Plans Summer Outing By Austin

Members of Alpha Phi Omega will conduct a summer retreat June 29-July 1 at Lake Travis.

The weekend outing near Austin is an annual event for planning, fellowship and relaxation from a full semester of service projects.

Arrangements were made by Administration Vice President John King. Xi Delta chapter expects 60 campers.

The national service fraternity chapter performs a variety of projects in support of university and community programs. APO members usher for commencement, assist summer school registration of handicapped students, provide concessions for campus events, conduct campus tours for visitors and coordinate the Aggie Blood Drive.
