Building Dedicated to Adams

President Jack Williams unveiled a plaque Saturday naming the E. V. Adams Band Building. "This building is dedicated to Lt. Col. E. V. Adams, Class of 1929," the bronze marker revealed. "For 27 years (1946-1973) he was the master bandmaster and mentor of more than 3,000 Aggie Bandmen, offering to each man dignity, self-discipline and enduring pride," the plaque continued.

Lions Support Trash Ruling

The Brazos County Lions Club, as a project, will be selling plastic bags to College Station residents as a result of the city ordinance which requires trash to be enclosed in proper bags. The ordinance states that the bag must be plastic and meet certain requirements such as thickness (2 millimeters). The law went into effect Sept. 1. Bags may be bought the remainder of this week from 5:30 p.m. until 7 p.m. in the parking lot of the College Station City Hall. The Lions Club will also sell the bags from 9 to 11 each Saturday morning as long as the demand lasts. The goal of this project, said Lions member Charles Johnson, "is to make sure that the residents are able to easily get the needed bags, because often the local merchants will carry bags that do not meet the requirements of the ordinance."

Simmang Receives Endowment

Dr. Clifford M. Simmang, head of TAMU's Mechanical Engineering Department, has been named as the Dietz Professor in Mechanical Engineering, announced College of Engineering Dean Fred J. Benson. The position is sponsored through the Gulf Oil Corporation Endowed Professorship in Mechanical Engineering in honor of Thomas A. Dietz, a 1931 graduate of TAMU and senior vice president of the Gulf Research and Development Co. at the time of his death in 1969. The professorship is funded with a $125,000 endowment made to TAMU's Mechanical Engineering Department in 1970 by Gulf. The firm has been increasing its support in such educational fields as sociological sciences, urban design and city planning and certain areas in the humanities as well as in the engineering disciplines. The endowment honoring Dietz, who was active in developing the company's nuclear energy activities, is part of approximately $3 million Gulf gives annually to colleges and universities.

Gammage to Give Speech on Rights

Texas Senator Robert A. "Bob" Gammage will speak Wednesday at A&M on the 18 to 20-year-olds new rights and responsibilities. Gammage wrote the controversial Senate Bill 123 which extended full legal rights and privileges to 18, 19 and 20-year-olds. The Houston senator's talk, "The 18-Year-Old: Rights and Responsibilities," will be presented in the public-free Political Forum noon series. Chairman Ed Jarrett said the first school year program of Political Forum will be in Rooms 229 and 230 of the Memorial Student Center. SB 123 became effective Sept. 1. It allows, among other things, 18 to 20-year-olds to buy and consume alcoholic beverages, exercise contractual rights, serve on state juries and consent to medical treatment, including abortions, without parental consent. The measure was hotly contested in the Senate and House. Gammage served in the Texas House of Representatives in 1971-72, before election to a 1973-77 Senate term. The Houston attorney chairs the Public Health and Welfare subcommittee. He is vice chairman of Consumer Affairs and Criminal Matters subcommittees and serves on Jurisprudence, Human Resources and Economic Development Committees.

How's This for A Young Man with A Future?

He's bright, ambitious, and well on the road to success as a career life underwriter. His performance surpassed all others in August. That's why he's Provident Mutual's "Campus Man of the Month." And we'd like to point out something significant to his clients and to those who may not be his clients—yet. Outstanding performance is never a matter of luck. It results when an agent is totally committed to the best interests of his clients . . . never when he's not. A good agent always remembers this. And so do his clients.
