Judge Endorses Novel Rehabilitation Plan

judge wants to put a 19-year-old admitted murderer on probation so the man can support his victim's widow and five children.

"He's going to be punished, but the punishment is going to be primarily supporting five children and a widow," Criminal Court Judge Dan Satin said Thursday.

Larry Clark pleaded guilty Wednesday to second-degree murder in the shooting death of Rudolph Smith, 36, Police said Smith, a member of a local band, was shot in the chest and back of the head at point-blank range after an argument between the two Miami men April 18.

Satin said that if Clark was sentenced to life in prison he would be a burden to taxpayers and the widow would receive no financial help except from public assistance.

"We would not be coddling this man," Satin added. "In my judgment this type of sentence would be more effective because his energies would be directed at helping the widow and children of the man whose life he took."

Satin asked Mrs. Smith if she thought Clark should be jailed or made to make amends.

The first classes for the School of Advanced Real Estate Studies will be held in May 1975 in TAMU's new conference tower.

The goal of the school is to supplement present short-term training programs offered by the industry with formal real estate education. Coursework will include real estate applications in law, finance, taxes, economics, management, environment and project planning.

Approval was granted for the Center's proposal to give a series of two-hour seminars beginning in November at Weslaco, then in Tyler and San Angelo. Open to the public, the proposed seminars follow the format of a successful program held last fall in the Dallas-Ft. Worth area, and will be held in A&M's Rerearch and Extension Centers. Program goals include creating an understanding of real estate investment opportunities and the professionals in the field, as well as distinguishing between fact and fantasy in agricultural production. Among other programs approved is a Texas Land Development Seminar planned for December in the Conference Tower. Advisory committee members meeting with Center staff in Conference Tower were Julio S.
