State AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe will not issue a statement on his policy on paroles for marijuana offenders until after a decision has been made on a rehearing in the Frank Demolli case, a spokesman said Thursday.

Briscoe earlier said he would order a review of the records of penitentiary inmates convicted under the old marijuana law.

A 1973 drug law softened the penalties for marijuana offenders and also provided that those convicted under the old law could petition the courts for resentencing under the new law.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals ruled unanimously Wednesday in the Demolli case that the resentencing provision was unconstitutional. That usurps the governor's powers of pardon and parole, the court said.

SAN ANTONIO — The resignation and probated sentence of Vice President Spiro Agnew was a "put up deal," charges U. S. Rep. Henry Gonzalez, a regional Democratic whip from Texas. Gonzalez said Atty. Gen. Elliot Richardson should be forced to resign.

Gonzalez said Agnew had only recently asked the House to give him a hearing, a request the House did not act upon, and Wednesday's events point to "a quickie deal."

"It prostitutes further the already prostituted Justice Department," said Gonzalez, who argued no one else would receive such privileged treatment.

National WASHINGTON — Sen George McGovern's former political director testified Thursday that Nixon campaign dirty tricks contributed to the Democratic party's 1972 wounds.

Frank Mankiewicz said the purpose of the sabotage seemed to be to "create within the Democratic party such a strong sense of resentment among the candidates and their followers as to make unity of the party impossible once a nominee was selected."

"At that, the effort seems to have been most successful," he said in a prepared opening statement to the Senate Watergate committee.

Batt Film Review 'Toma' a Good Bet New York. An individualist, Toma wears jeans and sweat shirts to work, and rarely checks in with his boss.

Of course, TV is full of police shows, but this one seemed genuinely different. For one thing, it was filmed on location. This is unusual as most police shows are filmed and script located in L. A.

They do this to save money, but at the cost to the viewer. Even a large city like L.A. can get boring when it is used as often as it has been in the past. The character actors are a refreshing change.

Many weekly police series tend to use the same police or the same personality types too often; not "Toma." The people they used looked really "tough New York". In other words, I wouldn't want to get mugged by them.

The script was superior to the usual fare. Our hero was slow enough to allow the guy he was with who was pretending to be someone else, to kill two men under his nose. This may not be extremely smart, but it is more realistic than a show that allows the hero to catch all the crooks and save all the people. There ain't no such person, baby.

It is hard to tell if the quality of a weekly series will hold up. But if you are stuck in the dorm on a Thursday night, "Toma" is a good bet to watch.
