BUFFALO—The AVM Corp. of Jamestown offered to plead no contest Monday to federal charges of bribing public election officials in Texas and Arkansas.

Judge John O. Henderson of U.S. District Court in Buffalo called the plea "one of the most abused pleas in the world," but agreed to consider it.

David K. Floyd, attorney for the automatic voting machine firm, said the company has reorganized its hierarchy with new officers and directors who "hope to remove the ominous and disastrous cloud hanging over the company."

Robert C. Stewart, head of the Justice Department's Strike Force on Organized Crime, which presented the evidence that resulted in the federal grand jury indictments against AVM, said he had no objection to the company's pleading nolo-contendere-no contest-instead of pleading guilty.

RAYMONDVILLE, Tex.—Gov. Dolph Briscoe combined emphasis on strong local governments with a tough stand on law enforcement in a speech here Monday night.

Briscoe spoke during dedication ceremonies for a $137,000 public safety building in Raymondville.

Briscoe said he was impressed by the number of South Texas area legislators and other elected officials participating in the ceremonies, saying it was a sign of strong cooperation between local citizens and their elected officials.

FORT SMITH, Ark.—A C130 cargo aircraft with six to 10 crewmen aboard crashed into Sugar Loaf Mountain Monday night, State Police said.

A spokesman for St. Edward Mercy Hospital here said that three bodies had been recovered and were being brought to the hospital by ambulance.

State Police headquarters said a resident of the area had reached the crash scene and reported seeing three burned bodies.

An eyewitness who lives in a valley below the mountain said she saw the Air Force plane crash into the mountain, exploding on impact.

WASHINGTON—The Cost of Living Council Monday gave the go-ahead for many gasoline retailers to increase their prices at the gasoline pump, effective immediately. The increases will range up to 1.5 cents per gallon.

The council also confirmed it was all but abandoning its system of rigid gasoline price ceilings, which had caused some gasoline retailers to close in protest and had brought congressional action to force an end to the ceilings.

The council said that effective Nov. 1, it planned to allow gasoline retailers to increase prices automatically to reflect higher wholesale costs.

Charles L. Binsted, president of the National Congress of Petroleum Retailers, said the council action met the dealers' major grievance under the phase 4 controls.

ST. LOUIS — Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford once acknowledged a peripheral role in getting a government job for convicted Watergate burglar G. Gordon Liddy, the editor of the North American Newspaper Alliance said Monday night.

Sheldon Engelmayer, in an interview with television station KPLR, said Ford admitted the role during a previous interview with NANA's bureau chief in Detroit, J. F. Terhorst.

Ford, according to Engelmayer, was contacted by Duchess County politicians in upstate New York while campaigning for President Nixon in 1968 and told to get Liddy "out of their hair."

Despite being appraised that Liddy had caused trouble for the county's regular Republican party organization, Engelmayer said, Ford assisted Liddy in obtaining a Treasury Department job.
