Batt News Summary

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS National

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla.—The Skylab 3 astronauts went through final preparations for their Friday blastoff into space for a record 84-day stay in America's orbiting laboratory. Astronauts Gerald P. Carr, William R. Pogue and Edward G. Gibson expressed confidence in the success of their mission.

NEW YORK—Flight cutbacks and a major strike are likely to make air travel more inconvenient this Thanksgiving and Christmas, but major airlines say they expect to get all their customers where they want to go for the holidays. Because of the energy squeeze, airlines have been cutting back on flights to stay within their fuel allotments. Further pressure on the airline system is coming from the flight attendants' strike at Trans World Airlines, which has shut down the nation's second largest carrier since Nov. 5.

WASHINGTON—A measure to force President Nixon to order gasoline rationing by Jan. 15 was defeated on a 48-40 vote in the Senate. Leading opposition to the proposal, Sen. Paul J. Fannan, R-Ariz., said that it is too early to be sure that gasoline rationing will be necessary.

WASHINGTON—The Defense Department said about half of its oil supply—previously provided by Arab sources—must now come from U.S. domestic sources. To make up the deficit of about 300,000 barrels daily from Arab sources, the Pentagon will commandeer on an emergency basis 1 to 2 per cent of U.S. production, officials said.

Campus Briefs

Turkey Trot

A family event that attracts regular joggers, students, townspeople and visitors will take place Thanksgiving morning before Texas A&M-Texas football activities.

It's the Turkey Trot, a 3.2-mile run, jog or walk conducted annually by the Health and Physical Education Department.

The fourth edition of the Trot will start at 8 a.m. next to G. Rollie White Coliseum. Turkey Trotters need only be ready to start jogging, ("It's up to the individual," said Dr. John Chevrette) at 8 a.m. No entry fee is charged.

Every runner completing the course will receive a Turkey Trot certificate.

Floating Bottles

A Texas Engineering Experiment Station research project involving float bottles and information cards is drawing to a close, and scientists on the project have found a few surprises as a result of the study.

Dr. Wesley P. James, assistant professor of civil engineering and project head, said the float bottles were used in an attempt to chart shoreline Gulf of Mexico currents.

Theory Course

Five students are enrolled in a basic electricity and transistor theory course at the Electrical and Telephone Training Center. The one-week course is conducted by Charles Guthrie, instructor at the center. The Texas

Telephone Association and the Texas Statewide Telephone Cooperative Association, in cooperation with the Engineering Extension Service, a division of TAMU, sponsors the course.

Tau Beta Pi Attends Florida Convention

Tau Beta Pi, a national honor society composed of outstanding students from all engineering fields, recently held its 68th national convention at the University of Florida in Gainesville. Attending the convention were John Beard, president of the A&M chapter, Raymond Bednar, corresponding secretary and Dr. James Rand, former adviser. The convention voted to merge with Sigma Tau, a similar organization and to hold the 1976 convention at A&M. "The '76 convention will be a lot of work," said Beard, "but it will be worth it since it will give us the opportunity to show A&M with its outstanding facilities and student body to representatives from engineering colleges across the nation." Beard added that the Central would give added significance to the convention.

"QUALITY FIRST"

LORD JEFF

Plaids and Company

It's a glad season for plaid slacks, and all the handsome things that go with them. Start with these richly hued Action Ease slacks of pure wool, tailored with fine-fitting detail to make you look long and lean. In a sunset of plaid colors.

Top it with a heathery sweater of 100% Shetland wool, that precious fleece from the Shetland Isles, in a color keyed to the plaid slacks. Pullover.
