AUSTIN—An assistant to Secretary of State Mark White has used stationery from that office to urge lawyers to vote on a proposed increase in State Bar dues. White said Monday he saw nothing wrong with the letter. A copy of the letter, from Assistant Secretary of State Bruce Hughes to a state official, was given to the Associated Press by another state official who said he considered it improper. The second official asked that neither name be used.

AUSTIN—A lawyer tried to save Dist. Judge David Brown's legal career Monday, telling the Texas Supreme Court that charges against Brown were "politically motivated." The State Judicial Qualifications Commission has recommended that the Supreme Court remove Brown—a Sherman judge who lost a 1970 race for attorney general—from office.

WASHINGTON—Edward M. Kennedy Jr. was reported in good spirits Monday and making a good recovery from surgery to rid his body of bone cancer.

The 12-year-old son of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy underwent surgery at Georgetown University Hospital on Saturday in which his right leg was amputated just above the knee.

A family spokesman said the boy was in good spirits and said the senator was "encouraged about the way he is bouncing back."

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—Republicans are deluding themselves if they think that Watergate won't have an effect on the 1974 elections, pollster George Gallup told GOP governors.

Asked during a panel discussion at the Republican Governors Conference what he thought about Republicans who have downgraded the importance of Watergate, he replied: "Wishful thinking." Gallup said, however, the public tends to forget issues once they leave the front page. "It depends on how long it goes on," he said.

WASHINGTON—The Supreme Court agreed to consider for a second time whether federal courts may reach into the suburbs to desegregate predominantly black inner city schools.

It also agreed to decide whether whites are discriminated against by a University of Washington law school policy that gives preference to minority members.

However, the court declined to hear arguments by policemen in Nassau County, N.Y., claiming they are denied an equal chance at promotions.

TEL AVIV—David Ben-Gurion, the elder statesman hailed as the architect of Israel, showed signs of improvement Monday but remained in critical condition after a stroke, his physician said.

Dr. Boleslaw Goldman said Ben-Gurion's pulse and blood pressure were returning to normal and the 86-year-old former premier had no fever. Ben-Gurion was hospitalized Sunday with a blood clot in the left side of his brain that left the right side of his body paralyzed, Goldman said.

Asked about the chances for a complete recovery, Goldman replied: "It's hard to say."

NEW OCEANOGRAPHIC VESSEL—The R/V Gyre, TAMU's new oceanographic research vessel shown here during a trial run near New Orleans, sails Wednesday for Galveston, which will be home port for the 174-foot ship provided by the Navy. The Oceanography Department will use the ship in a variety of research projects in the Gulf of Mexico and the Caribbean. The Gyre is scheduled to arrive in Galveston Friday.

Million Dollar Ship Heads For Home

The R/V Gyre, new oceanographic research vessel being provided to TAMU by the Navy, will depart New Orleans Wednesday, Nov. 21, for Galveston, which will become home port for the 174-foot ship.

Capt. T. K. Treadwell of the Oceanographic Department said the $1.8 million ship is scheduled to arrive Friday at the University's Mitchell Campus at Pelican Island.

The ship has not yet been fitted with the equipment and electronic instruments required for various types of oceanographic studies. Installation will require approximately two months, meaning the ship will go into service after the first of the year, Treadwell said.
