

A PETITION

We hereby call upon the Athletic Council of Texas A&M University to take all steps necessary to immediately create a complete fully funded program of intercollegiate athletics for women within the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics.

We also call upon the Southwest Conference to create a program of intercollegiate athletics for women and finally end all sex discrimination in athletics at its nine member schools.

Please fill this petition with signatures and send to The Battalion, to the Student Government office at the Memorial Student Center or to the Dean of Women's Office.

Narcotic Arrest Jolts Underworld

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Attempts by a spunky South Texas narcotics boss to implicate local police in underworld violence were jolted Wednesday when federal authorities charged one of his associates in a million-dollar heroin smuggling case.

Daniel G. Jaramillo Jr., 26, and eight other men were charged with possession with intent to smuggle heroin.

A federal spokesman identified Jaramillo as the informant who last weekend claimed in a statement that two San Antonio police officers killed two other lieutenants in the smuggling organization of Fred Gomez Carrasco.

"All of these developments will no doubt bear on the credibility of the witness, and I'm sure they will be considered by the grand jury," said Bexar County District Atty. Ted Butler, who was to present Jaramillo's statement to the grand jury.

Officials said, however, the investigation would continue into any alleged police involvement in the April 8 slayings of Agapito Ruiz, 46, and Roy Castano, 32, two Carrasco organization men.

"Good God Almighty. That's all we need," San Antonio Mayor Charles Becker was quoted as saying when he learned that Jaramillo had been arrested by agents of the Drug Enforcement Administration. Becker had encouraged the investigation of Jaramillo's allegations.

Carrasco, 33, now in jail on charges of assault to murder a policeman and murder of yet another gang member, led investigators to Jaramillo, police sources said.

An undercover agent described Carrasco Wednesday as "one of the biggest to come down the pike" in terms of drug smuggling activities along the Mexico-United States border.

Federal investigators had been working for two months on the continuing activities of Carrasco organization members while Carrasco, nicknamed "The Old Man," was in jail under bonds of more than $600,000.

Authorities believe the 10 pounds of what a federal spokesman called "high grade heroin" were from Mexico. The seizure was made without incident at a motel along the Pan-Am Expressway on this city's east side, authorities said.

Others besides Jaramillo charged in the Tuesday night seizure were six other San Antonio residents, Arturo Gomez, 41; Ruben Cerna, 23; Valdemar de la Garza, 23; Robert Gomez Ybaro, 21; Arnold Ramirez, 30, and Rudolfo Gomez Ybaro, 23; and Frank Canales, 28, of Dallas and Augustin Barrera, 26, of Falfurrias.

Geneva in mid-December, U. S. officials acknowledged.

The Palestinians apparently will not be present at the first stage of talks. Both Israel and Jordan are known to have resisted participation by Palestinian representatives, at least at the start.

The invitation to Syria appears to imply that there will soon be a resolution of its conflict with Israel over prisoners.

ALGIERS — The Arab leaders meeting at the summit in Algiers decided to keep the oil squeeze on until they get what they want in the confrontation with Israel. They demanded a full Israeli pull-back from all occupied Arab lands and restoration of the rights of the Palestinian people.

AUSTIN — Texas' provisional driver licensing law, once touted as a way to curtail drinking by minors, was upheld Wednesday by the State Supreme Court.

Without issuing its own opinion, the court agreed with the Houston Court of Civil Appeals that the law does not violate the 14th amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

CHICAGO — University of Illinois scientists say they have developed a process cities can use to convert garbage into methane gas at a profit. The process could provide 5 to 10 per cent of a city's gas needs, said Dr. John T. Pfeffer, professor of sanitary engineering who developed the process with two colleagues.

Cities would shred municipal garbage and then remove glass, metal and other inert materials. The garbage would be fermented, producing methane gas which can be used for fuel and carbon dioxide which can be sold for making dry ice.

MIAMI, Fla.—Police are searching for the daughter of poet-playwright Mary McDougal Axelson, 82, who died after being beaten in her hospital bed.

Mrs. Axelson died Tuesday, 22 hours after a nurse heard the woman cry for help and found her bleeding from the mouth. Mrs. Axelson wrote the Broadway play, "Life Begins," which was later made into a film starring Loretta Young.
