

Simonini Selected to AP's Second Team All-America

Texas' Leaks, Wyman, Tech's Tillman Represent SWC as First String Choices

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Freshman Tony Dorsett of Pitt and three Southwest Conference standouts headline this year's Associated Press All-American team announced Monday.

Dorsett, who gained 1,586 yards in 11 games to finish second nationally rushing, is the first freshman in 29 years to make the AP first team. The last was Army's Doc Blanchard in 1944.

The SWC representatives are tight end Andre Tillman of Texas Tech, center Bill Wyman of Texas and back Roosevelt Leaks of Texas. Leaks was the leading rusher in the conference this season behind the solid blocking of Wyman.

Other SWC members of the AP team include Texas A&M linebacker Ed Simonini, second team; Arkansas running back Dickey Morton, third team; and University of Houston linebacker Deryl McGallion, third team.

There were three repeat members of the first team. Randy Grandishar, an Ohio State linebacker, John Hicks, a Buckeye offensive tackle, and Richard Wood, a Southern Cal linebacker, were on the first team last year.

Joining Dorsett in a record-setting backfield are running backs Leaks and John Cappelletti of Penn State, who finished fourth and fifth in the rushing statistics, and quarterback David Jaynes of Kansas, who set six Big Eight Conference passing records.

The AP All-America team will appear on the Bob Hope Special, to be shown by NBC-TV on Dec. 9 at 9 p.m., EST.

The rest of the offensive team consists of wide receiver Lynn Swann of Southern California, Tillman at tight end, tackle Buddy Brown of Alabama, guards Tyler Lafauci of Louisiana State and Wyman at center.

Rounding out the defensive team are ends Pat Donovan of Stanford and Randy White of Maryland, tackles John Dutton of Nebraska and Dave Gallagher of Michigan, middle guard Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma, linebacker

Rod Shoate of Oklahoma, and backs Jimmy Allen of UCLA, Artimus Parker of Southern California and Mike Townsend of Notre Dame.

The team consists of one freshman, 16 seniors and five juniors—Wood, Leaks, Donovan, White and Shoate.

Penn State Coach Joe Paterno, who has coached such greats as Lenny Moore, Franco Harris, Lydell Mitchell, Mike Reid, Ted Kwalick, Jack Ham and John Hufnagel, calls Cappelletti "the best player I've ever been around."

The 6-1, 215-pounder carried 286 times for 1,522 yards and 16 touchdowns . . . and in one game he only appeared for three plays because of an injury and didn't carry the ball. He also caught 22 passes for 207 yards and a touchdown and completed a pass for 17 yards.

Leaks, a bruising 220-pounder, led Texas to its sixth consecutive Southwest Conference championship with a league record 1,415 yards, including a brilliant 342-yard game against Southern Methodist. That was only eight yards short of the national one-game mark.

"He makes a lot of big plays that the people in the stands notice, but it's the sticky four, five and six-yard runs that impress me," UT coach Darrell Royal says. "Those are the kind of yards not too many people can get with folks draped all over you."

Jaynes completed 172 of 330 passes for 2,131 yards and 13 touchdowns and was intercepted only nine times, one of the best interception ratios in history. His finest performance came in a 28-27 loss to nationally ranked Tennessee when he connected on 35 of 58 passes for 394 yards. He holds every Kansas passing mark but one.

Southern Cal's Swann is a super receiver and kick returner, "as valuable to us as Johnny Rodgers was to Nebraska," according to Coach John McKay. "In our offense, he is called on to run, block and catch passes and Swann is excellent at all three."

Tight end Tillman is a towering 6-5, 230-pounder who is equally proficient at blocking and receiving.

"I have not seen — and doubt I would see — a tight end who blocks like he does," says Tom Wilson, Texas Tech's receiver coach. "He's a devastating blocker. He enjoys it."

It goes without saying that all the offensive interior linemen — Hicks, Brown, Lafauci, Yoest and Wyman — are great blockers. In fact, Ohio State's Woody Hayes called Hicks "the best offensive lineman I have ever coached," including Hall of Famer Jim Parker.

The most famous names on the defensive unit are Selmon — one of three brothers on Oklahoma's front five — and teammate Shoate and Wood.

Coach Barry Switzer calls Selmon "the greatest down lineman in the United States. He's the best we've ever had here, and we have had some really great ones."

Shoate, according to Switzer, "looks like one of those guided missiles — swoosh! and he's got the ball-carrier."

Southern Cal's Wood was calling defensive signals as a sophomore last season and McKay called him "the best linebacker I've had at this stage of his development. He has great strength and quickness and is fast as most backs."

Townsend of Notre Dame was the nation's leading interceptor last year. This season, teams avoided his area but he still gave a vivid example of his talent against Pitt when he broke up two sure touchdown passes in the end zone and tackled Dorsett after a 65-yard run to prevent another score.

Parker of USC topped the Pacific-8 Conference with eight interceptions, making him one of the nation's leaders. He returned the eight steals for 100 yards and he holds the conference career record of 20 interceptions.

Ag Cagers Get Fast Start; Meet Tarleton State Next

With strong inside play leading the way, Texas A&M has gotten off to a fast 2-0 start in the early going of the 1973-74 basketball campaign.

The Aggies beat Houston Baptist 85-72 by controlling the boards by a 68-39 margin, then built a 24-point lead over Southwest Texas before letting the reserves handle the game for a large part of the second half in a 74-65 victory.

"We've had improved play from our postmen Cedric Joseph, Jerry Mercer and John Thornton," coach Shelby Metcalf said. "Norm Reuther (new assistant coach) has had a lot to do with that. Our point play from Mike Floyd and Charlie Jenkins has been good."

With Tarleton State coming into G. Rollie White Coliseum Thursday followed by Stephen F. Austin on Monday, Metcalf sees a couple of areas which need definite improvement. "We have to get better play out of our wingmen and we have to improve defensively," Metcalf said.

Along with the aggressive play of the postmen, Metcalf has been encouraged by the play of reserve forward Webb Williams. "Webb had a sprained back in early practices, but he is rounding into form now."

The interest in the team has been high with the most attendance at the first two games than at any time since A&M started keeping such figures. The Aggie band has also been at the first two games, the first time it has played at non-conference contests.

"The team really appreciates having the band at the games," Metcalf said. "The band does a lot for our spirit and enthusiasm."

After the four-game opening homestand, the Aggies will play Virginia Commonwealth on Dec. 19 in Richmond, Va., then compete in the Marshall Memorial Invitational Dec. 21-22 in Huntington, W. Va.

Shaffer, Howard Take Awards In Weekend Tennis Tournament

Joe Shaffer and Merideth Howard took top honors in the Tennis Club's tournament this weekend.

As part of the Memorial Student Center's Recreation Committee, the tournament was held to "give people who like to play tennis a chance to play, improve their game and win a trophy," said Mark Arnold, club president.

Taking second in men's singles behind Shaffer was Tony Saenz. In second behind Howard in women's singles was Karen Boerner. Mark Arnold and Ted Landry took first in men's doubles defeating Tex Dulaney and Joe Shaffer. Kelly Dozier and Merideth Howard won first in women's doubles beating out Karen Beckner and Jane McLaurin.

Mixed Doubles was taken by Kelley Dozier and Leo Farrah with Merideth Howard and Mark Arnold taking second's honors.

The Recreation Committee is planning three tournaments this coming weekend. Billiards will be played in the Bowling and Billiards room in the MSC, Dec. 8 and 9. Registration should be made in the B&B room by Friday noon.

Bridge play will take place Dec. 8, with registration at the tournament. Table tennis tournament will be held Dec. 10 and 11. Registration can be filed in the MSC Program's Office, from 3 p. m. to 8 p. m. by Thursday. For further information on any of these events call Phillip Glass at 845-1463.

THE "SUMMER OF '35" WAS A NIGHTMARE!
It staggers the imagination — the horrors that happened that summer! There were secret terrors. Secret places. But the most macabre secret is too frightening to tell.
Robert Mulligan's SUMMER OF '42 is a classic. His eerie, chilling shocker THE OTHER is a masterpiece of terror. It now ranks with PSYCHO and ROSEMARY'S BABY as one of the three greatest shockers of all time.
THE OTHER: "Pure Hitchcock!"
