Ags try Tech tonight

The recently humiliated A&M basketball squad visits Lubbock and a strong Texas Tech team tonight to try and rebound from a 88-72 loss suffered at the hands of TCU in Fort Worth Saturday.

Coach Shelby Metcalf was pessimistically optimistic in his view of the upcoming game.

"We've beaten Tech in Lubbock three straight years," said Metcalf, "but that doesn't mean much because we had beaten TCU in Fort Worth three straight times also.

"I feel at this point the season could still go either way," he added, "but a loss in Lubbock would not rule us out of the conference race.

"We have the hardest part of our schedule in the first half of the season. It's conceivable we could go 4-3 and still come back to win the title."

The Red Raiders should prove to be a major obstacle in the path of Aggie title hopes. Led by 1973 all-SWC guard Richard Little and 6-9 supersoph Rick Bullock, Tech is just about everyone's odds-on favorite to win the conference title.

Before Saturday's game with Baylor, Bullock was pumping in baskets to the tune of 21.6 points a game while Little was averaging 11.8. Bullock was also averaging 9.8 rebounds a game.

Also figuring prominently in Tech's title dreams is 6-6 junior William Johnson, who was averaging 15.4 points and 8.5 rebounds through Friday.

The Aggies counter with five players who were averaging ten points or better through Friday. Randy Knowles at 14.2, Mike Floyd hitting 13.5 a game, Cedric

Joseph averaging 12.6, Jerry Mercer with a 10.7 norm and freshman Mike Johnson carrying a 10.9 average.

Top Aggie rebounders are Joseph gathering 10.2 per game, Mercer with 9.1, Knowles getting 6.9 and John Thornton grabbing 6.6 a game.

As far as the Aggies are concerned, the less said about the TCU game, the better.

After taking a 104-53 pounding from Texas Tuesday, the Horned Frogs decided to take out all their frustrations on the Aggies, who seemed only too happy to roll over and play dead, hitting a ludicrous 33 per cent from the field and a highly improbable 37.5 from the free throw line.

"I hope we learned something from this," Metcalf said of the game. "Maybe if we hadn't known the score in Austin it might have been a different ball game."

Swimmers shine in win over UTA

In what coach Dennis Fosdick called "the best meet we've swum in my four years at A&M," the A&M swimming team scored an impressive 62-49 victory over heavily favored University of Texas at Arlington Saturday.

"This came as a real surprise," said Fosdick. "We weren't even thinking of winning until the 100-yard freestyle (with five events left).

"I couldn't believe the times," he added. "They are almost to a man better than the times we were swimming at this point last year."

The Aggies kicked off the meet by winning the 400-yard medley relay with a time of 3:39.58. The time is six seconds better than the times of this period last year, thanks largely to Steve Prentice's leadoff backstroke leg of 53.5 seconds. The time will stand as the record even though it is part of a relay because it was the first leg.

Jim Yates captured first in the 200-yard freestyle with a time of 1:48.19, ahead of last year's schedule by four seconds.

Prentice then took first in the 200-yard backstroke with a 1:59.45, shaving three seconds of his best time at this point last year.

Also recording wins for the Aggies were Scott Jones in the 50-yard freestyle with a 22.74, and the 400-yard freestyle relay team with a 3:17.13.

Probably the most impressive member of the squad was sophomore Nash Dowdle, who won the 200-yard flystroke and was a member of the winning 400-yard medley relay team. Dowdle's flystroke time of 2:02.31 was his own personal best and 13 seconds better than the pace of last year. It was also the first time he had swum the event this year.
