

New Nixon drive planned toward punishing pushers

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Nixon administration plans a renewed push for legislation denying bail to those arrested for heroin trafficking and setting mandatory prison sentences for convicted pushers.

President Nixon is expected to ask for the legislation in a message to Congress next month. With White House support, the Drug Enforcement Administration is mapping a lobbying campaign.

The administration bill was introduced in the House and Senate about 10 months ago but never moved out of committee for a number of reasons. However, the Senate last April passed another measure containing some of the administration proposals on mandatory sentencing.

Officials of the Drug Enforcement Administration say they now have fresh statistics supporting a revival appeal for a preventive detention law.

The agency's chief of congressional relations, Gene Haislip, said the bill apparently will be the subject of any presidential message of heroin trafficking. If there is a fresh administration proposal, he said, the White House hasn't told his agency about it.

Last year's administration bill would require federal judges to jail many suspected narcotics dealers without bond pending trial, extending preventive detention nationwide for the first time.

After a rancorous debate, Congress enacted a preventive detention bill applying to the District of Columbia early in the Nixon administration, but D.C. law enforcement officials have used it only rarely.

Haislip noted that the narcotics bill, unlike the D.C. law, would require a judge to determine whether the suspected pusher fit certain categories before denying bond.

The proposal would require de-

Nixon to 'fight' to stay in office

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was quoted by a congressman Wednesday as saying he is going to "fight like hell" the pressures mounting against him and will not consider resignation.

Rep. Peter H. B. Frelinghuysen, R-N.J., said Nixon made the statement Tuesday during a later afternoon meeting with a group of GOP congressmen who Frelinghuysen said have been "apparently loyal to the President on key issues."

Frelinghuysen said Nixon spoke on domestic and international issues and then launched into a discussion of politics and said "that this year had been a tough one for him for reasons we were all aware of, as he put it."

Frelinghuysen quoted Nixon as saying that "under no circumstances could I consider resignation though it might not be a bad life to live" on a pension.

"In this country we could not allow the government to be overturned by a mass assault on the President," Frelinghuysen quoted Nixon as saying.

Another congressman who attended the meeting, Rep. Craig Hosmer, R-Calif., said, "he (Nixon) said about a half dozen times he was not going to be drummed out of office. He was not going to resign."

Reporting on a meeting Wednesday between Nixon and a group of Southern Democratic congressmen, Rep. Bob Casey, D-Tex., said Nixon brought up the subject of impeachment and said it would be bad for the country.

Rep. Ray Roberts, D-Tex., said it was "a strange meeting ... there were just a few people there, I guess not more than 20. He said flatly he wouldn't resign but they could kick him out if they wanted to."

attention: if the suspect had a previous drug conviction; if he was arrested while on probation or other felony; if he was arrested in possession of a false passport; if he was a fugitive from another federal charge; if he had a previous fugitive conviction; or if he was a nonresident alien.

If the suspect met any single classification, the judge would be required to deny bail "in the absence of compelling circumstances to justify" releasing him.

Haislip said the bill also would require a speedy trial for those held without bail.

The bill does not define speedy trial, but Haislip said the administration might accept a congressionally-imposed deadline.

Haislip said his agency wants a preventive detention law because hard core professional dealers go back into business during their release on bail, a wait sometimes as long as a year before trial.

The administration bill also would require judges to send convicted narcotics traffickers to prison for mandatory minimum sentences of five years for a first offense and 10 years for a repeat offense.

Haislip said both the mandatory sentencing and preventive detention proposals are directed at major dealers in heroin and other hard drugs, but are not aimed at addicts and the casual peddler of marijuana.

Campus Briefs

Ford company speaker

The head of Ford Motor Company's Project Management for Transportation Systems Operations (TSO) will speak to industrial engineering students Feb. 5.

George T. Peterson, who is responsible for "on-time" and "within-budget" accomplishment of Ford's TSO projects and installations, will discuss his work with Ford's entry in the 1972 Transpo exposition in Washington, D. C. He will address the student chapter of the American Institute of Industrial Engineers in Room 103 of the Zachry Engineering Center at 6:30 p. m.

Peterson will also discuss current Ford projects, including the firm's Cherry Hill test track and two "people mover" systems currently being installed at Dearborn, Mich., and Hartford, Conn.

Spring placement manual

Seniors and graduate students may pick up copies of the Spring 1974 Placement Manual, announced Louis Van Pelt, TAMU director of placement.

The publication provides a "synopsis of information" for students preparing for interviews with prospective employers, Van Pelt noted.

Pre-Hitler film

A film on pre-Hitler German leadership will be shown Monday by the Modern Languages Department.

"Stresemann" will show beginning at 7:30 p. m. in Room 145 of the Physics Building. Admission will be free.

Gustav Stresemann (pronounced

"The manual gives a student everything from how to sign up and prepare for the interview to questions most frequently asked during interviews," he added.

Students should go to the Placement Office (10th floor, J. Earl Rudder Conference Center Tower) and sign up for interviews with the companies in which they are interested.

FORTRAN short course

A free FORTRAN short course is available to faculty, staff and graduate students through the TAMU Data Processing Center.

Interested persons should register with Chuck Adams, Room 010 of the Teague Building for the ed STRAY-suh-mun) was Germany's foreign minister during 1923-29. The film is an historically faithful account of his efforts to bring about peace and unity after World War I, according to Dr. Verne Rudebusch of the modern languages faculty.

Game, tours for engineers

Members of the Houston Section of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics will roll onto the campus Saturday for a day of tours and a basketball game.

The professional engineering society supports numerous student aid and research programs at TAMU, according to Prof. Al Cronk, head of TAMU's Aerospace Engineering Department.

Highlighting the visit will be tours of the Nuclear Science Center, the new Oceanography-Meteorology Building, and aerospace engineering facilities.

Programming contest

A qualification contest for local programming teams wishing to enter the Southwest Regional Programming Contest will be held Feb. 2 at the Data Processing Center.

The contest, which will begin at 8 a. m. in the DPC's Remote Computing Center, will select teams to represent TAMU in the non-credit course. The class is scheduled for 3:00 to 4:30 p. m. Tuesdays and Thursdays, and will run six to eight weeks.

Registration forms should be returned to Adams by Feb. 1 and classes will begin in February.

Cavalry's solo appearance

Parsons Mounted Cavalry will take part Friday in the Southwest Fat Stock Show and Exposition parade in Fort Worth.

The cavalry troop of the Corps of Cadets will be making its first solo appearance, noted Commander Mike Collins of Dallas.

The colorful unit marched last fall with the corps, including a Corps Trip to Fort Worth. It was organized last summer and named for Col. Thomas R. Parsons, commandant of cadets.

Parade units move out at 2 p. m. and will follow the same downtown Fort Worth route of the Corps Trip parade, Collins said. The unit will march as a single platoon.

Energy crisis solutions

"Technological Solutions of The Energy Crisis" is the topic for the first Texas A&M University Lecture of 1974.

Dr. Edward Teller of the University of California will speak at the Jan. 29 presentation, which is sponsored by the College of Science. The lecture is scheduled for 8 p. m. Tuesday in Room 701 of the J. Earl Rudder Conference Center Tower.

Teller is currently university professor of physics and associaate director of the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory of UC, has held positions with George Washington University, Columbia University and the University of Chicago.
