Ali decisions Frazier

Fight goes 12 rounds

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
AP Sports Writer

Ali, stinging like a bee and floating like a butterfly, built up a solid lead in the first six rounds and then, after Frazier seemed to be coming on, rallied to out-punch Joe in the final three rounds.

The victory set up Ali for a multimillion-dollar shot at world champion George Foreman. The loss might have ended Frazier's career.

It was an action-packed fight before a roaring sellout crowd at the Garden. But the second round had to be the wildest of all.

Frazier and Ali were each holding their own in the second when Ali suddenly buckled Frazier's legs with a straight right to the jaw. As he moved in with both hands punching and Frazier trying to fight back, referee Tony Perez suddenly stepped in and signaled both men to their corners, thinking the bell had rung.

However, there were still about 15 seconds to go. Perez immediately realized his mistake and motioned both men in again, but there was only five seconds left and no further damage was done by either fighter. If Perez's mistake did keep Ali from winning in less than 12 rounds—something that probably will be argued as long as fans argue fights—it did not really affect Ali.

Perez scored the fight 6-5-1 for Ali. Judge Jack Gordon had it 8-4 and judge Tony Castellano had it 7-4-1 for Ali.

The Associated Press scored it 8-4 for Ali.

Yates swims Ags past UH, 64-49

HOUSTON — Jim Yates won two events and swam a leg on a winning relay here Saturday afternoon to pace the Texas A&M swim team to a 64-49 dual meet victory over the University of Houston at the Houston pool.

"Jim gave gutsy efforts on both," Coach Dennis Fosdick said after Yates won the 200 and 500 yard freestyle events and then he concluded the meet by performing the third leg in A&M's 400 yard freestyle relay.

The Aggies won five events while Houston captured six events but two of A&M's firsts were relays where the winner gets seven points and the second team none in a dual meet.

Nash Dowdle captured the 200 yard butterfly for the second straight week by teammates Larry Schueckler and Mike Vanderhurst came in second and third in the event.

Duncan Cooper won the one meter diving event and took second in the three-meter, although A&M does not have a three-meter board to practice on. Tom Faulkenberry was third in both events.

"Our divers have been doing a great job all year," said Fosdick.

Cowboys open NFL draft with Jones; OSU's Hicks 3rd

DALLAS (AP)—Ed "Too Tall" Jones, the 6-foot-9 defensive lineman drafted by the Dallas Cowboys as the No. 1 selection in the National Football League today, said, "I think I can start here."

The towering Jones, who is from Tennessee State, appeared at a news conference after the Cowboys picked him as the cream of the collegiate crop.

Jones, who will be the tallest defensive lineman in the NFL next year, said, "I would prefer to play defensive end. I have the agility, quickness and speed to play in that position."

"I know I need more experience and to work on techniques. I hope I can start my rookie year."

Dallas Coach Tom Landry said, "Jones' potential is unlimited. He has the potential of a Bob Lilly."

Gil Brandt, head of the Cowboys' scouting combine, said the 260-pound Jones, who was an Associated Press Little-All-American, "Potentially has as much ability as anyone I've seen in the league in some time. I would have to compare him to Bubba Smith."

Casually dressed in green slacks and a green shirt, Jones said he didn't have an agent and "I haven't even thought about a contract. I plan to get an agent."

Jones, who can high jump 6 feet 10 and run the 40-yard dash in 4.75 seconds, said the Cowboys have been his team for the last five years.

"They (the Cowboys) are always in the playoffs and I've seen them on television more than any other team," Jones said.

Asked if any overtures had been made from the World Professional Football League, Jones said, "I prefer to play in the NFL."

The 26 NFL teams were allotted 15 minutes for each selection in the first two rounds and five minutes thereafter.

Choosing second, the San Diego Chargers took Bo Matthews, a 228-pound fullback from Colorado.

The New York Giants then chose 258-pound offensive tackle John Hicks of Ohio State, a two-time All-American.

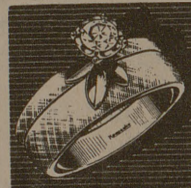

A roar of approval went up from the gallery of around 200 persons, mostly young people, when the selection of Hicks was announced. The hometown Giants finished with a dismal 2-11-1 record last season.

The Chicago Bears, who may have to move ace linebacker Dick Butkus to center because of bad knees, selected linebacker Waymond Bryant of Tennessee State, a teammate of Jones.

That gave the College Division school from Nashville, Tenn., the distinction of having two of the first four picks.

The Baltimore Colts then tapped All-American John Dutton, a 255-pound defensive tackle from Nebraska.

Paul Patterson, representing the Bears at the draft, said: "We expected Bryant to go higher."

Help us power the fastest-growing place in the country.

We're Houston Lighting & Power, the largest electric power producer in Texas. We deliver electricity to more than 2,500,000 people in a 5,600 square-mile area known as the Houston-Gulf Coast.

It's an area that's growing so fast, we're planning five, ten, even twenty years ahead.

We already have the most-modern power generating equipment in the Southwest. And we've built a revolutionary, computerized Energy Control Center to monitor and control the power all over our area. We're in the early stages of building two new nuclear power plants.

But if we're going to keep pace with this area's growth we'll need even more new ideas.

And that means more good people.

If you're about to become an Electrical, Mechanical, Civil or Nuclear Engineer or a graduate in Marketing, Accounting or Business Administration, talk to us. We'll be on your campus soon.

Contact your campus Placement Office to arrange an interview.

We're as interested in growing as you are. Mr. M. T. Robin, Recruiting Director, Houston Lighting & Power, P. O. Box 1700, Houston, 77001.
