WASHINGTON (AP) — Even President Nixon's son-in-law has to wait in line for gasoline.

David Eisenhower revealed in an interview Tuesday that, in the early days of the energy shortage, he waited in line for three hours in Maryland. "I was closed down at two stations and never got any gasoline," he said.

Asked whether he told the President about it, Eisenhower said: "Yeah, I did."

And what was the President's reaction? "It was a little intemperate," he disclosed with a laugh.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—A top federal energy official says the nation must find an answer to the energy problem without rationing fuel, which he termed "very inequitable and totally unworkable."

Deputy Administrator John C. Sawhill of the Federal Energy Office said Tuesday the agency was pressing "Project Independence" aimed at eliminating dependence on foreign oil, keeping American workers on the job and developing more gas and oil reserves in the United States.

Sawhill was among panelists speaking to some 3,000 delegates at the convention of the National Automobile Dealers Association.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Bill Masters, manager of a Union 76 service station here, remembers when he was trained to push for top gasoline sales by asking every customer, "Shall I fill it for you, sir?"

"That's all changed now," Masters said Tuesday. "And you'd be surprised at the number of drivers who call me 'sir' now."

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Police statistics show the number of Michigan schoolchildren injured in traffic accident in early morning darkness has jumped sharply since Daylight Saving Time was imposed in January.

Forty-two young pedestrians were injured in accidents between Jan. 6 and 31 this year, compared with 23 during that period last year, State Police said Tuesday night in a report to the State Education Department.

The survey of 360 local police stations covered only accidents occurring between 7 a. m. and 9 a. m. It showed that the jump in pedestrian accidents came primarily because of mishaps involving youths aged 13 through 16. Thirty-one youths in the age group were involved in pedestrian accidents during the period, compared with eight a year ago.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Federal energy chief William E. Simon has told congressional conferees that their rollback in oil prices would make continued production unprofitable for many oil companies.

But he declined to say whether he would recommend a presidential veto of the emergency energy bill to which the rollback amendment was added.

"The cost of the product is at a higher level than you rolled it back to," Simon said Tuesday.

The amendment approved Monday by the conferees would put the price of all domestic crude oil at $5.25 a barrel and prohibit that price from rising above a ceiling of $7.09 per barrel.

Senate to vote on fee allocations

The shapes of things to come next year will be decided to a large extent tonight as the Student Senate votes on student services fee allocations in the University Center Forum at 7.

Two plans have been proposed by the Student Services Fees Committee. One calls for a $19 fee with no user fee for athletics, while the other would be $17.50 with a $1 user fee per home football game.

The proposals will be presented by David White, chairperson of the Student Services Fees Committee.

Constitutional revision concerning the Executive Branch of the Student Government will also be voted on by the Senate. The major change is to add an executive director.

"The reason for this addition is to take some of the burden off of the president," explained John Tyler, who presented the proposal. Recommendations to restructure the executive committee and to limit the presidential veto are up for consideration.

The Senate will also vote on a revision allowing the senate to have the power to approve all nominations to University committees.

Another item will be a resolution introduced by White concerning the MSC grass policy.

"I feel that an issue this in-olved with emotion should be voted on by the students," said White.

The resolution asks for the Senate to place the question of whether or not students should be allowed to walk on the grass on the spring ballot for referendum vote.

The Memorial Student Center Council has already voted to leave utilization of the lawn up to the individual student.

The Permanent Education Fund will also be discussed at tonight's meeting. Barb Sears will introduce a resolution in support of the Permanent Fund being continued for the use of Texas A&M and the University of Texas. A similar fund from an ad valorem tax would be set up for other schools under Sears' proposal.

"This proposal is a compromise between giving no aid to other schools and splitting up the fund among all of the schools," Sears explained.

St. Clair."

He added there will be no further comment until after the meeting, expected when Jaworski returns from a trip to Texas. There was no elaboration about what the letter said.

What is being sought by Jaworski isn't known and neither the White House nor the special prosecutor will say.

After relaxing its grip on non-subpoenaed material late last year even allowing an assistant special prosecutor to go through a file cabinet—there has been an obvious hardening in the White House attitude toward supplying all that Jaworski is asking for.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — President Nixon was officially subpoenaed on Monday to testify in the Ellsberg burglary case.

The subpoena, requested by former presidential aide John D. Ehrlichman, ordered the President to appear in a Los Angeles courtroom Feb. 25 and again April 15.

Superior Court Judge Gordon Ringer, who ruled that the President is a material witness in the trial of Ehrlichman and two other former White House aides, signed the subpoena at 2:10 p.m. PDT. It was the first time in U.S. history that a state court judge had ordered personal testimony by a president.

Ringer took six days to finalize the legal form of the subpoena after agreeing last Tuesday to requests by Ehrlichman's attorneys.
