

Tennis, Mayfield have big day

Coach Omar Smith's A&M Tennis team upset fourth-seeded Brigham Young University in the first round of the sixth annual Corpus Christi Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament Thursday.

The Aggies knocked off BYU 5-4 in the day's only upset. SMU, Houston and Texas, the top three seeds all advanced to Friday's semi-final action.

SMU defeated Lamar and Rice to remain in competition as the top seed and defending champion. Houston knocked off Kansas 7-2 and shootout New Mexico 9-0. Texas defeated West Texas 7-2 and Oklahoma to advance to the semi's.

A&M has not played it's second round competition at press time. The match pitting the Ags against seventh-ranked Trinity was this morning.

The winner of that match will enter the semi-final matches with the top seeds.

Aggie Golfer Gayle Mayfield shot a four-under-par 68 to go into a four way tie for second in first round action of the Border Olympics golf tournament. Houston's Robert Hoyt led with a five-under-par 67. Houston led team scoring with a 277.

Some of the players were unable to complete their rounds Thursday and will continue on Friday.

The second round will be played Friday after noon. Finals are on Saturday.

Club News

THE HANDBALL TEAM will venture to Boulder, Colorado this weekend to compete in the National Intercollegiate Tournament.

THE TEXAS A&M WHEELMEN will have a mystery ride on Saturday. It is a 10 mile ride originating from Bizzell Hall. The club would like to thank Loupot's for the time trial prizes he supplied.

THE A&M RODEO CLUB will take eight boys and four girls to participate in the Second Southern Regional National Intercollegiate Rodeo in Kingsville over the weekend.

THE A&M WEIGHTLIFTING TEAM captured first place in the Texas Collegiate Powerlifting Championship by seven points over second place TCU. L. Cozart was first in the 148 lb. division and A. Guidry was first in the Super Heavyweight class. The team also took six second places and two thirds.

Streaking, the practice, or should I say art, of running through female-populated areas of campus in the nude, has taken over the Southwest Conference.

Yesterday, Texas Tech had a "streak-in" with over 100 participants. SMU and Baylor have both expelled students for the practice. But rumor has it that A&M will not be out done. The Aggies are going to form the first intercollegiate streaking team. The first match is slated for after spring break.

Burt Reynolds (of "Cosmopolitan" fold-out fame) turned down the coaching job but Pee Wee Milhouse agreed to terms yesterday.

Milhouse, a rip-off artist from way back, would not expose the terms of his contract.

Milhouse said the new ruling from the NCAA (the supreme court of college athletics) will hurt the team. "They've hurt us with the six scholarship ruling," Coach Milhouse said. "But I am a good judge of character and ability and I'll bring in some good streakers."

The first year Aggie coach said he had some real stud athletes in for a visit and his first impression was he would get the limit come signing day.

Seymour Butz, the team's current star, will welcome the help. "We need help, that's for sure," said Butz. "Coach needs to bring in some junior college talent."

Milhouse said the requirements for a good streaker are stringent. He also said recruiting for clandestine activities such as this is difficult. "I don't look at anyone that can't run a 10 flat hundred," said Milhouse. "Plus, you've got to have certain other 'physical attributes' which make for a better streak."

Southwest Conference officials could have given streaking a big boost when women were admitted to competition back in December. Currently, only one female, I. M. Neckett, is in the running for the team. She is also the team sweetheart. The streaking team is open to all and students that would like to try out for the team are welcome. Junior Rod Flash said that more streakers are needed if A&M is to capture the first championship.

Captain P. P. Moore credited the Aggies for the off-season training program. "We hear that over 30 guys have been giving up their evenings to practice," said Moore. "With dedication like that, A&M should have a real winner."

Streaking has occupational hazards, according to Whitey Moon. "Jumping over bushes is tough and cold weather even makes it harder." "We hope that all the athletic supporters switch over and support us. When you're running nude you really need it," said Coach Milhouse. Streaking beanies, hats with flashing lights to warn of the impending attack, are being sold now.

The team was thinking of changing its name from Aggies to Expos, but decided to stick it out with the original.

"We haven't figured out just how we are going to display the maroon and white," said Milhouse, "but you can be sure that we will be true Aggies."

Ags travel to Laredo for Border Olympics

The A&M track squad journeys to Laredo for the annual Border Olympics Saturday for the first major outdoor meet of the season.

Defending champion Texas is the overwhelming favorite to take the team title, which would make it the third year in a row for the Longhorns to do so.

The Aggies are looking to the 440-yard relay for a good shot for a first. The team recorded an impressive 40.6 time last week in the Houston Invitational meet, featuring a fantastic third leg by Charles Dawson.

"With a time like this at this point in the season," said coach Charlie Thomas, "we should be running around a 39.5 by the conference meet."

The conference record is 39.8, held, incidentally, by A&M.

Scottie Jones is a perennial threat to win the 120-yard high hurdles against any field but in Laredo he will come up against arch-rival Randy Lightfoot of Texas. Jones beat Lightfoot in the conference meet last year but the Longhorn turned the tables in February to take first in the SWC indoor meet. Also hurdling for the Aggies will be Shifton Baker and Richard McGilvray.

Baker will run the 440-yard intermediate hurdles and has a good shot to take first. The field was thrown wide open this week when NCAA champ Robert Primeaux of Texas sprained his ankle in practice. McGilvray and Craig MacPhail will also compete for A&M.

Freshman Brad Blair is off to a great start in the pole vault, clearing 15-6 two weeks ago in a dual meet at Rice. Defending SWC champion David Peterek admits he may still be a week or two away from getting back into form but he could win with a good showing. Tom Nance, who cleared 14-6 last week, will be the Aggies' third entry.

A&M stands to have two of the favorites in the sprints with Dawson in the 100-yard dash and Sam Dierschke in his specialty, the 220. Gerald D'Ambrosio will also run the century while Keith Bucy takes on the 220. Grid star Carl Roaches is entered in both.

Phil McGuire and Don Riggs were impressive during the indoor season in the high jump but have been disappointing since the squad moved outdoors. Clearing 6-9 and 6-8 under the roof, respectively, neither has been able to get past 6-5 in the sunshine. David Frazier will also be jumping for the Aggies.

Bill Newton has been impressive in the javelin, winning two weeks ago against Rice and finishing second last week in the Houston invitational meet. With a toss of 217-1 already to his credit, Newton is way ahead of his pace of last year that saw him throw over 230 feet.

880-yard run—Horace G... Harold Davis, Bradley, Good... D. Jones, Adolph Tingan...

3-mile run — Jacob Y... Kyle Heffner

440-yard relay — D'Ambrosio, Dierschke, Dawson, S. Jones

Mile relay—Davis, Grant, Dierschke, Brodhead

The one day meet has... starting at 9:30 a.m. Saturday with the finals Saturday night.
