Government blamed for energy shortage

By T. C. GALLUCCI Staff Writer

Who is Senator Henry Jack-

Who is Senator Abe Ribicoff? Michel T. Halbouty, prominent petroleum expert and geologist, says that they are merely politicians who know only how to spend appropriations; other people's money. He is referring to the recent Jackson hearings when numerous petroleum experts answered "harrassing and intimidating questions." Halbouty, a TAMU graduate, spoke to a small, but appreciative, audience last night in the Rudder Theatre. Sponsored by the Great Issues Committee, he titled his speech, "Crisis by Consent." He says that the title explains the entire reason for the present energy shortage-for ten to fifteen years Washington has known that such a crisis was coming and consented to its arrival. "The blame belongs squarely on the shoulders of the politicians. There and nowhere else," said Halbouty.

Halbouty says "if Washington will stop harrassing and berating the oil and gas industries, that they could solve the shortage quickly and effectively." According to Halbouty, "This nation has the energy needed right here in this country. We have the resources, it is simply a matter of production. Through research and technology, we can do it."

He stressed the need for domestic development of resources and

"Through political propaganda, the public has been convinced that industry has formed a conspiracy and is hiding all the energy, only to have themselves go broke. Such a strike would awaken an apathetic public and make them realize the gravity of this shortage," said Halbouty.

"Should we have such a strike? The answer of course is no," he said. "But by God I'd like to try

Merrie Melodies and Looney Tunes

By TED BORISKIE

Boz Scaggs should have been a hit. With all his musical prowess aside, he should have been success ful on the basis of his name alone.

Johnny Bristol produces the album and writes most of the songs, continuing his long association with Scaggs.

This Boz Scaggs is much different from the rock 'n' roller of years past that was seen in the film "Filmore."

On "Slow Dancer" he puts across a jazzy type of rhythm and blues that makes better use of his voice than did any of the mediums he had previously used. He is

With the choral group pushing him along, he wails and sings his heart out, making the music quite believable, as if he might plan to stay with this style for a few albums more. "You Make It So Hard," which leads off side one, is one of the best tunes I have ever heard from Scaggs. He sings it at times sounding like Ray Charles, at other times reminiscent of Sam Cooke.

The title tune slows things down a bit, as one might suppose from its name. Scaggs handles the slower and more difficult number as well as he has any of the up tempo or rock songs. He manages to create a moody, mystic image, sounding in simply fan-

Scaggs does a bang-up job on Allen Toussaint's "Hercules" and also handles Bristol's "I Got Your Number" and his own "Take It For Granted" with a marvelous inimitable style.

"Slow Dancer" is at once the most listenable and most complex of all of Scaggs works and I enjoy it tremendously. I find nothing in Scaggs' earlier material to compare with it.

Will it make him more successful? Probably not.
