

Student Bill of Rights suggested

Listed below is a student Bill of Rights suggested by the Student Senate Thursday. If ratified, they will be listed in the University Rules and Regulations and the Student Handbook.

Article I

There shall be no university rule or regulation or administrative policy that in any way abridges the students right to freedom of speech, expression, petition and peaceful assembly as set forth in the U. S. Constitution. An accused student, in legal or administrative proceedings filed by University officials, shall be informed of all charges in writing ten (10) class days before any hearing concerning the student may proceed.

Article II

The student shall have the right to participate in a free exchange of ideas whether that be with other students or speakers abiding by university regulations.

Article III

No rule, regulation, or administrative policy shall be established which in any manner establishes or contributes to discrimination because of race, color, creed, or sex in any area, sector, or activity of the university community.

Article IV

The rooms and possessions of any student shall not be subjected to search and seizure without the proper judicial warrant and judicial protections of the student's legal rights.

Article V

The student's right of privacy shall be protected in all areas including disclosure of academic and disciplinary records without his or her written permission and any other area covered in the U. S. Constitution.

Article VI

Each student shall be free from harassment and/or disciplinary action by University officials for violations of civil or criminal law off campus.

Article VII

Each student shall be protected from unreasonable punishments arising from violations of University regulations. No student shall be subjected to repeated harassment by University officials due to his unpopular expression of those rights guaranteed by the First Amendment to the U. S. Constitution.

Article VIII

An accused student, in legal or administrative proceedings filed by the University, shall be assumed innocent until proven guilty, and the burden of proof shall rest with those bringing the charges. At all times during the proceedings, the student shall be guaranteed substantive and procedural due process.

courses pass/fail regardless of their classification. It would also change the name from pass/fail to satisfactory/unsatisfactory and would discontinue listing the student taking a course on this basis on the class roster. The Senate will vote on this bill on Wednesday.

Other student life revisions will be brought before the Senate at their next meeting. The regulations will continue to revise the regulations to conform to the new constitution and will call for two more students be put on the student publication board.

In open session, Don Webb, president of the MSC, asked the Senate for a straw vote on the issue of a censorship board for films shown by MSC committees. Webb said that the MSC executive committee felt there was a need for a board to insure quality of films.

The Senate voted after a few questions. The vote was 29 against the establishment of such a board and 24 for it. Many senators voiced discontent because they were not allowed to debate the issue before voting.

"I resent Webb coming in and playing semantic games with me," said Ken Drozd, off-campus senator. "I pride myself in having a command of the language and I know that a 'qualitative review board' is still just a censor. The only debate offered was Webb's side and the vote was really bogus."

'Pink Flamingos' tugs at disgust

By BRAD ELLIS

As a study in bad taste, John Waters' "Pink Flamingos" is the example of what a film with no redeeming features is like.

Jon Wilkman describes "Pink Flamingos" in the November 1973 issue of "Crawdaddy" as "one of the most gleefully disgusting movies ever made." According to his review, this film is designed to be an exhibition of scenes of murder, rape and a well-mixed collection of assorted perversions.

It is the story of a competition for the title of Filthiest Person. The winner clinches the title in a scene in which she eats a fresh quantity of dog excrement. There is, Wilkman says, no leering or moral outrage associated with the material presented in "Pink Flamingos." The content of the film is, judging from its subtitle, intentionally in bad taste.

This does not necessarily mean it is a bad film.

As is true with any film, what is seen must be viewed in some context for the images to mean anything. A movie in bad taste is simply one whose images, when seen in the context of the culture, are those which are not commonly considered the proper, polite things to say, write or see.

The full value of the film is the experience associated with the exhibition of its content, and the reaction of the audience. The film is no good unless it is seen.

Cinema doesn't work any other way.

Government speakers

Two officials of the U.S. State Department will be in Rooms 225, 226, and 228 of the MSC at 12:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Edward L. Peck will discuss the role of the State Department and David T. Morrison will discuss U.S. international trade policy.

They will also hold a seminar with economics students at 9:30 a.m. and with the political science department at 3:30 p.m. These seminars are open to the public. Those interested should contact the departments for location information.
