

Weather

Fair to partly cloudy and warm Tuesday afternoon...

The Battalion

Vol. 67 No. 371

College Station, Texas

Tuesday, April 2, 1974

Today in the Batt

Election comments p. 2
Rudder's camp p. 3

FINDING THEIR PLACE IN THE SUN, and trying to keep some of it from getting to them...

'Miles' event collects $4,477

By LATONYA PERRIN

Sore feet and tired legs were the results of two men accepting the challenge to run 20 miles.

Mike Rabon and Bob Walsh tied for a first place finish in the Miles for Mankind Walk...

Walsh is with the entomology department.

"Actually, I clocked it on my motorcycle and it was only 16 1/2 miles, but that is close enough for me," said Rabon...

for me," said Rabon, sophomore zoology major.

Rabon said that he did run a quarter of a mile too far because when he came to a small dirt road that was marked as a part of the course he didn't believe it...

Running six miles everyday and working out in his aerobics class was part of Rabon's training program. He said he had always run a lot and it helped him get ready for the walk.

Rabon said that it was his own idea to do it because it seemed like a challenge. He also stated that he had vowed never to do it again.

"But," he qualified, "If I knew that someone would run with me next year, I would do it for sure."

Though Rabon and Walsh finished the course in about two (See MILES p. 5)

Arts film committee fourth to bite dust

By MARY RUSSO
Battalion News Analysis

The Memorial Student Center Directorate has killed its arts film committee for the fourth consecutive time.

This time organized under the auspices of the Arts Committee as a somewhat autonomous sub-committee, the group was charged with weakness in finances and management.

The charges were aired during recent controversy over film selection and the sub-committee was placed under Aggie Cinema last week.

"This group has experience in keeping books, turning in ticket reports, selling tickets and generally knowing how to manage a film series," said Bill Davis, MSC president.

"Under the Arts Committee, the finances were handled by James Puckett, committee treasurer. He took off, leaving no one to handle the books. After LaTonya Perrin, committee chairman, was fired, the books were handed to us one week and Cliff Steinberg had the books organized to Mr. Hal Gaines' satisfaction the next. Now, the films are under Aggie Cinema with no identity and only referred to as a series," said Tim Manning, ex-sub-committee chairman for the films.

"The members are welcomed to become part of Aggie Cinema if they'd like," said Tony Bonnett, Aggie Cinema chairman. "We're trying not to step on anyone's toes. We will continue the series out as much as finances will allow."

AGGIE CINEMA already has 75 members; Arts Film Series had five.

"The estimated debt of the film series is about $617," said Pat Donohoe, Aggie Cinema treasurer. "The films are not covering their costs in ticket sales. When you take into account the film rental, the advertisement and the cost of theater rental, the sum is considerable."

"When the series was turned over to Aggie Cinema, we were not that much in the hole," said Manning. "The poor publicity out on one of the most expensive films of the year, 'Devils,' really caused a loss of money. I'm glad it's Aggie Cinema's money that is being lost and not mine."

Currently there is one other MSC activity which is acknowledged in the red, that is the Dance Committee.

"This group came in at the beginning of the year and warned the Council, (the governing body of the MSC) that they would lose money on their endeavor. They are currently some $350 in the red, but the upcoming dance at Lakeview Friday, should cover that debt," said Davis.

"TOWN HALL finances can't really be discussed until the end of the programming year when all the monies have been accounted for including Student Service Fee allocations," said Bill Flores, vice-president of finance for the MSC said.

With this in mind there could very possibly be other MSC committees presently in the red. (See ART, p. 6)

Candidate-student exchange planned

Questioning the candidates at the Krueger-Dunn Commons, Sbsisa and Duncan dining areas is scheduled for Wednesday evening.

About six candidates will speak every 30 minutes to enable the students to get a taste of the candidates' personalities and views.

Group 1 consists of the presidential and vice-president of finance candidates. The group will speak at Sbsisa from 5:30 to 6 and at Duncan from 6:45 to 7:30.

Vice-president of External Affairs and Academic Affairs candidates will make up Group 2 speakers. They can be heard at Sbsisa from 4:30 to 5, at the Commons from 5 to 5:30 and at Duncan from 5:30 to 6.

The final group of candidates are those running for Student Services and Rules and Regulations vice-presidencies. These will speak from 5:30 to 6 at Sbsisa, from 4:30 to 5 at the Commons and 5 to 5:30 at Duncan.

The organization of the program is a joint venture of Political Forum and the Student Government Election Board.

University National Bank "On the side of Texas A&M." Adv.

City council elections today—polls close at 7 p.m.

Table with 12 columns representing ballot positions and rows for various committees including Executive, College, Living Area, and University Owned.

SG candidates present views

In two days students will be given the opportunity to vote for candidates to represent them in the Student Government.

In order to reduce the problem of uninformed voters, the Battalion conducted the following survey of Student Government candidates and compiled their answers.

The survey was available for over a week in the Battalion office and only those persons answering the survey are shown below. Therefore, the survey does not include the opinions of all the candidates.

Due to space limitations, candidates were only able to respond by "yes," "no" and "no position."

Questions

- 1. Are you in favor of optional athletic fees or athletic user fees?
2. Would you work to have professor evaluations published for student reference?
...
12. Is a review board a good way to insure a quality film series?

Large table with 12 columns and multiple rows listing candidates for various positions like Student Body President, Graduate Student Council, and various committees.