

HOPEful get help

the Christmas break to make it easier for wheelchairs to get up onto sidewalks.

"One of the basic purposes of the organization is to help the University understand the needs of these handicapped students and for the students to help one another with special problems that may arise," Gardner said.

"So far, TRC has had good cooperation from the University in dealing with problems of wheelchair students getting into some of the older classroom buildings," Gardner added. Howard Perry, assistant vice-president for student services, is also involved in helping the students organize.

One of the first projects that HOPE will undertake is publication of a handbook to assist new students in finding ramps, elevators, rest rooms and water fountains. These facilities will be marked on a campus map to be drawn up by the students.

Perry and Gardner suggested the students conduct a survey of all the buildings more useful to students in wheelchairs and on crutches. Only buildings constructed in the last few years at A&M have special features incorporated to make it easier for wheelchair students to get about the campus. "THE PROBLEM we face now" said Gardner, "is trying to adapt some of the older buildings on campus to the needs of the handicapped students." He said ramps were being constructed at the entrances of classroom buildings where it was impractical to lift a wheelchair over several dozen steps.

HOPE is also working on identifying of all university facilities that are specially suited for handicapped persons in wheelchairs.

"In order to identify a building or area accessible to a wheelchair we could probably use small square signs denoting that a particular area or building has facilities for wheelchairs. The international symbol used for this is a simple side-view of a figure in a wheelchair," Gardner said.

Campus Briefs

OPAS committee

The Opera and Performing Arts Society, is now accepting applications for the Host and Public Relations Committee. Apply at The Student Programs Office before 5 p.m. April 5.

Student opinions

Town Hall individual preference polls will be the principle criteria by which performers for the 1974-1975 series of concerts are chosen to appear.

The Town Hall selection committee and attempts will be made to coordinate the open dates on the most preferred artists' concert tours with the open dates on the Town Hall calendar.

The student opinion polls containing names of various popular recording artists will be available at Sblisa, Krueger-Dunn, and Duncan Dining Halls, aboard all shuttle buses, at the University Center and, for off-campus students, in each of the different apartment managers' offices. Surveys are to be deposited in the ballot box provided.

Unfortunately, the same artists who are popular at TAMU are very likely to be popular elsewhere also. Many bands make commitments more than a year in advance and are not available on certain dates. Hopefully, by scheduling Town Hall selection committee meetings earlier this year than usual this problem will be eliminated.

Voter registration

Wednesday is the last day to file in time to vote in the May 4 Texas primary elections.

asking residents if they want to register in the county.

To make sure TAMU students have the opportunity to exercise their franchise, members of APO service fraternity are going door-to-door to dormitory dwellings

The APOs are also lying in wait for students at the Married Student Housing Office to register potential voters.

"Y" cabinet positions

Application forms for YMCA Cabinet positions are available in the Student Programs Office at the "Y" Desk.

All registration must be dated no later than midnight April 3.

Interviews will be April 1 through 12. A descriptive list of the responsibilities of the offices is also available at the "Y" Desk.

Elections for the 1974-75 officers will be at 7 p.m. in Hensel Park on April 18 at the annual Steak Fry. All applications must be turned in to the YMCA by 5 p.m. on Friday.
