Ags win twice but UT sweeps

A&M falls two games behind Longhorns

By KEVIN COFFEY
Sports Editor

Clint Thomas, David Lockett and Jim Juhl turned in sterling pitching performances but it was all the Aggies could do to gain two wins over the feisty Rice Owls in Southwest Conference baseball action.

A&M captured the first game of the series Friday but a split of Saturdays doubleheader forces the Ags to sweep the Texas Longhorns to win the conference title.

Texas swept three games from TCU, boosting their record to 18-3. A&M is two games back at 16-5.

Juhl was the life saver for the Aggies. The senior left hander hurled in all three contests, picking up two saves in the process.

Thomas hurled the Ags to a 4-3 win in the series opener but not without Juhl's help. The Aggie fireman protected the slim A&M lead by striking out the final two Rice batters with just six pitches.

"I just went in to challenge the hitters," said Juhl. "If they were going to beat me it was because they hit my best pitch. Unless they guess what the next pitch is, I'll take my chances on them hitting it."

Thomas, pitching a nine inning game for the first time this year, tired in the ninth after a fine performance.

"I had to warm up a lot between innings 'cause of the rain delays," said Thomas' "and this was the longest I tried to throw all year. I had better control of my curve than I've had in a long time."

Jim Bratsen supplied the offensive punch for A&M with one swing of the bat. The Junior first baseman powered a Bruce Henley curve ball over the 360 foot sign in right-center field for three runs. Tommy Hawthorne, Paul Miller and Jim Hacker had singled before Bratsen's shot. Miller scored on Hacker's safety.

The Owls had their chance to capture the game with a big inning but a heads-up Aggie bench noticed Ted Nowak had missed third base while heading toward home.

"Everyone was hollering 'he missed the bag' so I just tagged it," said third sacker Hacker. "Luckily the ump noticed it also."

Saturday's parents day crowd passed the 4,000 mark during the rain plagued doubleheader but few remained till the end.

Mike Pettit, the Owls ace hurler, was tagged for 12 hits in 5 and two-thirds innings but A&M could only push across four runs to the Owls five.

A&M starter Perry Arthur was chased from the mound after yielding three runs in 1 and two-thirds innings. A&M managed a tie at 4-4 but two Rice home runs off reliever Jim Wallace spelled the difference. Except for the round trippers, Wallace was impressive in his afternoon's work.

Hacker, Bratsen, Al Thurmond, Fred Russ, Mike Frazier and Sandy Bate all collected two hits but the Ags couldn't come up with the clutch hit with men on base. During the afternoon, A&M stranded 11 men on the bases.

The Aggies loaded the bases in the fourth with one out but could only push two runs across. Coach Tom Chandler said this may have been the turning point of the contest.

"We had all the makings for a big inning but it just didn't materialize," said Chandler. "You don't get many chances like that against Rice pitching." Sloppy baserunning hurt the Rice cause in the finale as A&M prevailed 7-4.

For the second time in the series, a big Owl rally was rubbed out when the Ags won an appeal play when a Rice runner missed a base heading toward the plate.

Jackie Binks popped a muscle in his arm and was only able to throw two-thirds of an inning. However, A&M got clutch relief work from David Lockett.

Lockett, a sophomore from Cleburne, pitched in his finest performance of the year with a 6 and one-third innings of two run ball. Lockett needed help from Perry Arthur and Juhl to notch the victory.

Rice, which played super defense through the series, faltered midway through the final game. The Aggies were able to take advantage of the Owl miscues and six bases on balls to help with the offense.

Miller and Hawthorne each knocked in two runs.

Hacker, the SWC's leading hitter entering the series, did little to jeopardize that standing with his second straight 7 for 12 series.

A&M's final action is against

UT Friday and Saturday in Austin. Several campus organizations are sponsoring bus trips to doubleheader.

The DIRECTOR'S FILM SERIES presents a film by LUIS BUÑUEL

THE EXTERMINATING ANGEL

With Silvia Pinal, Enrique Rambal, Lucy Gallardo
Critics' Prize, Cannes Film Festival

One of Bunuel's most imaginative works, this entertaining black comedy anticipates THE DISCREET CHARM OF THE BOURGEOISIE. Eighteen wealthy, influential people attending an elegant dinner party gradually discover that, for some inexplicable reason, they cannot leave the room. Days pass, they run out of food and water, and the glittering facade of their social existence becomes shattered.

...absolutely unforgettable...

—Joseph Morgenstern, Newsweek

...the summary of his ideas on society... gleefully he watches society, placed in certain test conditions, breaking down from its internal contradictions and falsities, so that these rich, powerful, cultivated people become before long openly no better than the malicious, superstitious savages that, suggests Bunuel, they have always been underneath."
