Requirements for female ROTC students suggested

Returning members of the Corps of Cadets will be facing something new. Coeds will not only be a part of the campus, but part of the Corps.

The plan for induction of women into the Corps, the Minerva Plan, was developed in two phases. Phase One was developed during the 1973-74 semester break by the present members of Corps Staff. At the request of Col. Thomas Parsons, Commandant of the Corps, the members of Corps Staff formed an ad hoc committee to assist him in planning the entry of women into ROTC. "That ad hoc committee is the one that developed what they called the Minerva plan," said Parsons.

Phase Two of the plan was submitted on March 5, 1974. "I haven't given either one of them my full approval. I have read them and made a few comments on the plan as I view it, but the main thing to keep in mind is the problems we are going to have to work out together with the women having some voice in it," commented Parsons.

"There are things that haven't even been addressed yet," said Parsons, "for example uniforms. A male cadet is required to wear a uniform full time, but I do not believe that too many male students in the Corps would want to take a young lady in a uniform to a freshman or sophomore dance. Most female students would probably desire to wear the long formal dresses to these affairs. I think in these cases that we will have to make exceptions."

A coed wishing to enter women's ROTC and the Corps of Cadets must have a freshman or sophomore standing, she must be a student at TAMU and will be admitted to the Corps as a daystudent. "We see the same requirements for a woman as we do for a man. ROTC is not mandatory at Texas A&M, but if you take ROTC, you have to be in a Corps program," said Parsons.

The same things will be ex-

Students present free folk concert

Folk, country and progressive folk student performers will be giving a free concert Thursday afternoon from noon to 5 p.m.

To be held in the West Academic Mall (the mall between the Academic and the Coke Building), the Basement Committee will sell drinks for a nickle as Marilou Syler-Roelan plays at 12; Kathy Sullivan at 12:30, Bob Barbier at 1:30, J. P. Jones at 2; Stan Jones, Farah Evans and Jo Oison at 2:30; Debbie Adcock at 4 and pected of the women in the Corps There will be no separate military next year as are expected now of the regular day outfits. "Being a day-student they will not be required to come to morning formation, but in some instances they will be required to participate in evening formation because of pass-by," said Don Roper, Corps personnel seargent for 1974-75. "Their activities will be the same as for the male cadets except for those activities where a woman is not physically qualified, for example Ross Volunteer Company, Recon Company and so

The women's outfit will be a direct detachment of Corps Staff. They will be under the male cadet command until the women advance and fill the positions of the regular companies.

The female cadets will be required to conduct themselves by the freshman privilege campusology system. They will be required to "whip out" in a similar manner to male freshman cadets. The same military science curriculum will be followed for fe-

WASHINGTON (AP) - Former Vice President Spiro T. Agnew, already assured of more than $300,000 for his novel, is to visit England next year on a promotion trip that may be extended to other countries, his agent says.

The agent, Scott Meredith, in reviewing foreign and domestic contracts, said: "In total, this book could bring more than $1 million."

Agnew's contract with his British publisher, W. H. Allen, Ltd., commits him to a five-day visit to England to promote the novel, "A Very Special Relationship."

Meredith said that if other foreign publication dates were lined up with the British one, Agnew might visit some other countries as well.

According to Meredith, the U.S. contract with Playboy Press is the highest, which would put it over $100,000, and U.S. serialization rights went to Ladies Home Journal for more than $100,000.

In England, Agnew is to appear on television, hold news conferences and meet publishing executives to boost the novel, an account of a vice president a decade in the future who becomes the dupe of Iranian militants seeking a U.S.-Soviet confrontation.

Asked if Agnew's court probation would interfere with the trip, Meredith said, "I never thought of that when we signed

Agnew was put on three years' unsupervised probation when he pleaded no contest to a felony charge of federal income tax evasion last October.

OPAS presents '74-'75 season

Season tickets for the 1975-75 Opera and Performing Arts Society presentations will be available at the Houston Symphony concert, Thursday.

During intermission and after the show, OPAS Guild members will take ticket orders, renew membership and take new memberships. Tickets will be the same price as last year. Student tickets range from $21.25 to $13.60 Nonstudent prices run from $31 to $18.45.

The OPAS season for next year includes: Oct. 14 performance of the Soviet Georgian Dancers and Tbilisi Polyphonic Choir; the East German Leipzig Gewandhaus Symphony Orchestra, on Nov. 6; performance on Jan. 30 of the National Ballet of Washington; Nov. 22 performance of the (rare) coalition of Istomin. Stern. Rose trio; March 26 performance of the pianist Alicia Delarrocha and as special attractions the Bach Aria Group and the New York Brass Quintet.

Women will go to the same camp and be subjected to the same type of training as the male students.

"When the program was first initiated in the first phase people were against enrolling women in the Corps because it had been a 98-year male program," said Roper, "but since the program is going to be initiated next fall a number of juniors who will be seniors next fall have offered their support and assistance. The program will up the enrollment of students into the Corps and possibly with the female program open, the male enrollment may even increase. I am looking forward to a challenging year and
