Aggie basketball players keep trying but keep losing out in pro ball. Jeff Overhouse was put on waivers by the Memphis Sounds last week along with SMU's Sammy Hervey. Overhouse tried out for the San Antonio Spurs last year but was cut to make the team limit.

Mario Brown tried out for the Houston Rockets but was cut last week.

That leaves John Beasley the only Aggie playing pro basketball in America.

Last year's co-captain Randy Knowles had plans for Chicago's Bulls but the coaches felt he was too small. Knowles then signed and is playing for Barcelona in the European league which competes with Italy, Germany, Belgium and several other European countries.

Because of problems which developed after Knowles signed in Spain, Chicago was left without a quality backup forward. Knowles plans to return next year if the Chicago situation looks promising.

I really must be as crazy as the College Station community claims I am. That startling realization came to mind as I heaved a pound's worth of ripe Black Angus manure skyward in a distance contest. The meet, composed of area media, was a local elimination for the state competition to be held in Odessa this Saturday. My first throw shattered at about the 83 foot mark, while my second try sailed 140, good for fourth.

And as for my qualifications as a band judge. Anyone with a high school course in geometry should know a straight line. And the force of gravity acting upon batons should have been covered by a simple Physics course.

The Aggies didn't quite have the offensive show at Washington as they have had in previous games. They are still averaging 354 yards per game rushing. The school record, set last year, is an average of 265.5 yards per game.

Bubba Bean still leads the conference in rushing with a 127.3 yard average. That average puts Bean in a position to wipe out Roosevelt Leaks single season rushing mark of 1,415 yards. Leaks averaged 128.6 yards per game.

SPORTS CLUB

RUGBY

The Maroon side posted a 9-0 victory over the Austin Rugby Club Gold side this past weekend, upping their record to 2-0.

The game, in Austin, was dominated by the defensive efforts of the Maroon. A scrappy Austin team held the Ags scoreless until the closing minutes of the game. A&M's dominating forward line continually pushed back Gold efforts to score.

Tim Fields recorded the first Aggie score on a 25 yard penalty kick. That gave Maroon the lead 3-0. Billy Goodrich blasted 25 yards to make the score 7-0. Fields converted making the final score 9-0.

The national champion White side begins their season on Oct. 12 against the Houston Rugby Club

Blacks. The Maroon side will also play the Black backup team. The first game is at 1 p.m. on the Rugby field.

SOCCER

The soccer team has been divided for two matches this weekend with Baylor. The first team will play at 2 p.m. and the second team will play at 11 a.m. Both matches will be played on the drill field. Plenty of seats are available and the public is invited.

Captains Mehrdad Farrokhnia and David Longoria indicate that the teams are ready to play.

The team is currently 0-0-2 for the season after ties with LeTourneau College and Stephen F. Austin University.

Despite budget problems

Wrestlers gunning for fourth straight Texas championship

By ROBERT CESSNA

With a $350 budget you wouldn't expect a wrestling team to be gunning for their fourth straight, state collegiate championship but Texas A&M is.

Coach Bill Kahler has an experienced team with three of four state champions back from last year. However, Kahler said, "We lost a couple of good kids. Last year we were strong in the light weights and heavyweights but weak in the middle weights." This year they will be stronger in the middle weights.

Practice will begin on Oct. 14 from 4 to 5:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday. College weights are in the following classes: 118, 126, 134, 142, 150, 158, 167, 177, 190 and Heavyweight. Their first dual meet this year will be at Richland Nov. 21 at noon. Then they travel to N. Texas State for a night duel.

Then on Dec. 6 & 7 they will go to an open Tournament at Richland.

But the wrestling team has its problems like any other club. First of all there is a time conflict for prospective candidates with classes running into practice time.

Another problem is money. With only $200 plus $100 from the intramural tournament, plus $50 from former wrestlers. This totals only $350 for the whole program. This can only cover gas money. The athlete has to provide most of his equipment and meal money.

In spite of this the wrestling team does not lack enthusiasm and confidence. The members come from New Mexico, South Carolina, Wyoming, Maryland, Minnesota, Florida, Puerto Rico, Iran, Pennsylvania, New York and Texas.

To determine who wrestles in the matches, eliminations are conducted. Coach Kahler said, "In what wrestling is all about." In an informal meeting with the candidates he said, "Duel meets are nothing to get excited about. Tournament wrestling is the whole key."

At the meeting Frank Cox was appointed president and Jim Giunta secretary. Then Coach Kahler gave out last year's letters.

Coach Kahler summed it up in an informal speech when he said, "This could be an interesting year."

Arkansas prepares for TCU

(AP) — The University of Arkansas Razorbacks went through a short drill Wednesday preparing for the Southwest Conference game with Texas Christian University Saturday night at Fort Worth.

The team wore pads but went through mostly noncontact work, with emphasis on the kicking game.

"We worked on all phases—field goals, punts and kickoffs," said Coach Frank Broyles. "I think the team knows what has to be done."

Waymon Hawkins, who spent one day at fullback, was back on defense Wednesday at his own request. Teddy Barnes will fill the vacancy at fullback left by Hawkins.

The Razorbacks also spent some time on the passing phase of the offense. They have completed passes for a total of only 19 yards so far this year.

"I feel confident we will complete passes when we have to," said Broyles.

ID's will be inspected for Tech game

The Athletic Business Office announced that due to sellout conditions, ID's will be thoroughly checked for the A&M-Texas Tech football game. Each student must have his/her own ID card.
