THE BATTALION Page 6 No doubts Rep. Mills involved in brawl

WASHINGTON (AP) – U. S. Park Police said Wednesday they had no doubt that Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, his face scratched and bleeding and breath smelling of alcohol, was one of the people involved in a bizarre late-night incident at the foot of the Jefferson Memorial.

'We can assume it was Rep. Mills," Franklin A. Arthur, assistant chief of the park police, told a news conference.

Mills, an Arkansas Democrat and chairman of the tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, could not be reached for comment about the Monday morning episode. His administrative assistant, Oscar Gene Goss, said early Wednesday that "Mr. Mills told me he was not in the car." Later, however, Goss said "I cannot refute what the Park Police say.

Arthur said one of the persons involved was a 38-year-old woman who jumped into the tidal basin at the foot of the memorial and was rescued by police. The incident occurred at 2 a.m., when police stopped a late model Lincoln Continental described as traveling at "an unreasonable speed with its lights off.

Five people spilled out of the car. Arthur told the news conference one of them identified himself as Mills. "I think the officers would recognize Congressman Mills," Arthur said.

The assistant chief said he wasn't certain what sort of identification the man offered police.

Arthur said the police report described Mills as "intoxicated." He said the officers based that on the smell of his breath. The manager of a Washington night club with a Carribean motif, said Mills had dined, wined and danced with a group of six other men and women until about 9 p.m. Sunday but did not appear intoxicated when he left.

The manager, George Bertran, 47, told a reporter he had seen Mills in the night club on a number of previous occasions, sometimes with the same tall, blonde woman with whom he danced Sunday night.

Bertran said Mills came in about 6 p.m. Sunday with one other man and three women and that two additional women later joined the party, but left before the original group.

He said the Mills party drank a single bottle of champagne and con-sumed wine and other drinks with their dinner. He said the check for drinks and dinner came to more than $60 and that Mills paid the bill in cash. The party then ordered another round of drinks and Mills paid the additional $18 in cash, Bertran said.

It was not immediately learned where Mills was between 9 p.m. Sunday evening and about 2 a.m. Monday when police said he was present at the Tidal Basin incident. Mills has not been seen in public since then.

Mills was not at his office or at a Ways and Means Committee hearing at which Treasury Secretary William Simon testified on President Ford's tax proposals. Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., presided in Mills'

absence

Police said that when the car stopped. Annabella Battistella of suburban Arlington, Va., jumped out, crying and shouting something, partly in English, partly in Spanish. She lay on the ground, but as police began questioning the other occupants, she got up ran to a bridge and jumped into the tidal basin, which ranges in depth from 3 to 6 feet. Arthur said the woman was "obviously intoxicated. She gave her address as 1600 South Eads St. Arlington, the site of the large apartment complex where Mills and his wife also reside.

Mills, who has two children, is facing an unexpectedly stiff challenge this year in his campaign for re-election to a 19th term in the House

Arthur said Mills had been seated in the front seat of the car with Miss Battistella and Albert G. Gapacini, 39, of Arlington, who was driving. Arthur said there was evidence there had been an altercation in the car which bore Arkansas license plates DOT-003 and was registered in Mills' name. The congressman had facial scratches and a bloody nose, the official said. Along with the 65-year-old congressman, the car's occupants were identified as Liliane Kassar, 38, of Washington, and Gloria Sanchez of Arlington.

Arthur said the incident is considered closed. "As far as we're concerned, the investigation is complete

No charges were filed.

There is an uncertainty factor operating within the ejidos and researchers have theorized that this causes decreased productivity.

Use of birth control drug is blocked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Casper W. Weinberger, secretary of health, education and welfare, blocked imminent approval Wednesday of a controversial long-acting contraceptive because of lingering suspicions that it may cause cervical and breast cancer in women.

Weinberger told Rep. L. H. Fountain, D-N.C., chairman of a House government operations subcommittee, that the congressman's fears about the safety of Depo Provera "are significant and demonhave a great deal of influence over strate a justifiable concern over poswhat lands are kept as collectives. sible cancer-causing agents.
