Get 9-1 win

A&M clobbers The Bunch again

By MARY RUSSO
Staff Sports Writer

The A&M water poloists made it the ninth win of the year against The Bunch of Houston, 9-1.

"It was close to a shutout," coach Dennis Fosdick said. The Ags keep leaving the goalies unaided and once a game is enough to let the opponents score. A&M beat The Bunch previously, 21-2.

In the first quarter of the game, the first team got five goals off the Houstonians, two by freshman Bob Leland, two from senior Jim Yates and one from senior Steve Moore.

The second play of the quarter was the dream of any fast-break coach, with a long pass from the Aggies' court end to wing Yates into driver Moore and into the goal.

"The first team is shaping up and doing things automatically. The second team was caught on the 45 second shot rule once, but this shows inexperience, having to stop and think about what to do before it," Fosdick said.

Throughout the game, the Ags were good, with little blocking in the hole, the primary shot-taking area.

The second, third and fourth quarters belonged to Pok Tun Ken (Wederman) and Charles Paul. Each taking one goal and Don Berer with two.

The Bunch's only goal was made by T. Keil.

This weekend A&M travels to Conway, Arkansas to play in the Hendrix Invitational Tournament. The next home play is Thursday, 8 p.m. against the College State Water Polo Club.

FRESHMAN David Meeh is swimming for the ball in last night's water polo game against The Bunch from Houston. The A&M tankers won 9-1.

Mechanical and Petroleum Engineers, this guy may offer you the deal of a lifetime.

His name is Jim Rowland, and he will represent Solar on your campus October 23. ■ Today the opportunity to choose your own spot makes it more important than ever to investigate all opportunities carefully. All the more reason to talk to Jim.

■ We think our size and position in our field at this time, makes us a good thing for the new engineer. It's a fact (and how do you say it without sounding boastful), we are the leading supplier of gas turbine machinery for the international petroleum industry. And growing more than we can keep up with.

■ We need people who know opportunity when they see it, with some emphasis on turbomachinery. And because we are international, language capability would be an asset. ■ So please meet with Jim on Oct. 23. He'll tell you all about us and what we can do for you. If you miss him on campus, contact him at Solar, Division of International Harvester, San Diego, CA 92138. You have nothing to lose and maybe we both have a lot to gain.
