

Board decides procedures for freshman election

A Judicial Board member will be in the counting room to monitor vote counting and elections will be certified two days after freshman elections, the Judicial Board decided Tuesday night.

At the board's last meeting, a recommendation passed asking the student senate to extend the certification time period from two days after elections to after the appeal period. Until the senate acts on the resolution, certification will still be two days after elections.

Also at Tuesday night's meeting, the board discussed whether injunction, the board's right to issue proceedings halting an action, applies to cases other than election appeals.

The debate is whether it is inherent in our power. If we say it is, who's to say it's not? However we interpret it, that's the way it is," said board member Wesley Harris.

The power of injunction in election appeals was specifically granted to the board in a senate resolution passed last week. Under the resolution, the board can issue a 24-hour injunction stopping a disputed campaign action until the board can meet to decide the case.

In the event of a candidate violating an injunction, board member Sam Walser said the board might be able to issue a summary judgment. Under a summary judgment, the board would automatically decide on appeal cases against a candidate violating an injunction.

Also at the meeting, board member Mike Perrin presented a set of suggested hearing procedures covering rights, responsibilities and special election procedures.

The rights included, knowing operating procedures in writing, calling witnesses, cross-examining witnesses and introducing procedural motions.

Perrin listed the procedural motions of delaying or extending hearings, calling mistrials, rejecting evidence, dismissing for lack of evidence, making extraordinary motions and designating attorneys.

Perrin's suggested hearing procedures were all tabled until the next meeting when including them in the by-laws will be discussed.

A motion by chairman Jerri Ward passed stating the board shall refrain from questioning during the presentation and summations of a hearing and may have unrestricted questioning afterwards.

Another motion passed concerning the vote required for a by-law amendment. Under the motion, amending a by-law takes a two-thirds majority, six members.

A majority of the members present is required to suspend or change a standing rule of order.

The next judicial board meeting will be 2:30 p.m. Sunday in the student program office.

Campus briefs

Students to analyze litter

The litter problem in the area will be analyzed by TAMU students of environmental geography at a meeting Nov. 6, 7:30 p.m. in room 228 of the MSC.

A study made last spring by the students determined litter problem locations in the Bryan-College Station area. Interviews with persons in the fast-food industry, government officials, university students, homeowners and others were made.

Operator to provide all numbers

The Centrex operator at A&M can now provide student telephone numbers, on and off-campus.

Housing Manager Glenn Jennings said "7" should be dialed from on-campus, for student locator information. From off-campus, the Centrex operator can be reached by dialing 845-3211.

Teachers to gather in Huntsville

HUNTSVILLE — The district convention of the Texas State Teachers Association will meet Thursday and Friday at Sam Houston State University in Huntsville.

The House of Delegates will meet at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Holiday Inn. Dr. Marlin Brockette, State Commissioner of Education, will speak before secondary teachers at the first general session Friday morning.

Dr. Don Newbury, educator and humorist, will be the principle speaker at the afternoon general session for the elementary teachers.

Both general sessions will be at Lowman Student Center on the university campus.

Other meetings for the convention on Nov. 1 will be at the university and in buildings of the Huntsville Independent School District.

Champion class to hold reunion

Members of A&M's 1939 national champion football team will hold their 35th year reunion here next weekend.

The team was unbeaten, untied and defeated Tulane in the Sugar Bowl. It produced five All-SWC players and two All-Americans. The late Homer Norton coached them.

J. Howard Shelton, Fort Worth bank president, is president of the group that meets regularly. The 1974 reunion expects more than 40 to take part. Reunion headquarters will be the Saber Motel in College Station.

Physics to hold colloquium

A Thursday colloquium is on tap for the Physics Department.

Dr. Donald G. Nable will lecture at 4 p.m. on Halloween on "Tricks and Treats With Thin Superconducting Films" in room 146 of the Physics Building.

A coffee will immediately precede the talk.

Weekend holds piscine treat

Fish fanciers and those with piscatorial proclivities have a piscine treat in store Saturday and Sunday.

The Marine Biology Association, Brazos Valley Aquarium Society and the Wildlife Biology Association have joined forces to co-sponsor a mini-aquarium show.

It will be held in the Memorial Student Center on the first floor near the Post Office. Entries are still being accepted by calling Debbie Dennard at 823-7051. Awards will be presented in salt water native marine and tropical fresh water categories.
