

SG Judicial Board

Injunction power assumed

The Judicial Board passed a motion granting itself the writ of mandamus and clarified the procedure for issuing an injunction Wednesday night.

Under the new motion, the board can issue a writ of mandamus informing an elected or appointed student government official he is not fulfilling his constitutional responsibilities.

The writ requires the official to begin fulfilling his responsibilities. It can be issued only after the board receives a complaint from constituents in the area the official represents.

Senators are required by senate by-laws to keep informed on legislative issues, to contact their constituents and participate in senate committees.

The board ruled if a constituent presents adequate evidence that a senator has ignored a writ of mandamus, it will then decide whether to hear a case for removal from office or other remedial action.

The senate can impeach a senator, for not fulfilling his responsibilities, with a two-thirds majority vote.

Also at the meeting, the board decided the procedure for issuing injunctions, in election, constitutional and legislative cases, to stop an ongoing or anticipated practice, or reverse a previous practice.

Signed, written statements shall be required from at least three board members to authorize an injunction in constitutional or legislative cases.

An injunction shall remain in force until a hearing is requested to challenge it.

The board would decide an injunction appeal by majority vote, like any other case.

Questions on campus traffic to be answered in booklet

A subcommittee was appointed Wednesday by the Traffic Panel to compile a brochure answering questions on parking, registration fees and fines on campus.

Dr. V. C. Stover, panel chairman, asked Mary Ellen Martin, Barry Brooks, Dr. D. L. Woods and H. J. McCann Jr. to review a list of questions already heard by faculty members and to solicit questions from students. Col. Robert L. Melcher and Stover will also take part in preparation of the brochure.

Traffic problems between the vet school and the main campus were brought up for discussion, but no action was taken. The problems concern road conditions at FM 60 and Agronomy Road.

There have been complaints made for and against bicycle riders in the vet school area. The committee proposed the installation of a warning sign to bike riders to observe traffic laws pertaining to them.

The panel heard a preliminary report from Chris Lawson, head of the motorcycle subcommittee. Lawson asked that more motorcycle parking be designated in Lot 60, across Joe Routt Blvd. from the Auditorium Complex. Stover pointed out that Lot 60 is a support lot for the Rudder Tower, and C. R. Cargill, University Center manager, has opposed previous attempts to establish motorcycle parking in this area.

D. L. Woods proposed an alternate plan of expanding available motorcycle parking near G. Rollie White Coliseum. Lawson accepted the alternate proposal.

Stover said he wants to be careful in establishing motorcycle parking areas, and would like to be able to provide maximum protection for them. He considers the low blocks which now separate the motorcycle areas inadequate.

"For drivers backing their cars out, motorcycles are hard to see," Stover said. "They can back over two motorcycles before their wheels ever touch the blocks."

Stover said he would like to see some sort of fencing used to barricade the motorcycle areas.

In his report Lawson also asked that the gravel-topped area near the M. E. shops be designated for motorcycle parking, but it was pointed out that this area will soon be inaccessible due to construction. Col. Melcher suggested that areas in Lot 47 be set aside instead and the panel voted to make the formal recommendation. A decision is expected to be made within a few days.

In other action the panel heard letters from Dr. Earl Cook, dean of the College of Geosciences, concerning proper procedure for service vehicles parking on campus and from Steve Eberhard questioning the change in parking fines.

Eberhard made a formal request on behalf of the SG to return to a fine schedule of $2 for the first offense and $5 for subsequent offenses. Currently a five dollar fine is charged for each violation. The panel will reply to Eberhard, but they decided that the present fine is equitable and administratively more feasible.

Saudi government pledges efforts to lower oil prices

RIYADH, Saudi Arabia (AP) — Saudi Arabia pledged Wednesday to try to hold the line on oil prices, or work for a nominal cut, at a meeting of oil-producing nations next month in Vienna.

Saudi Foreign Minister Omar Sakkaf made the promise to Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger after Kissinger met for 90 minutes with King Faisal.

"The policy of my kingdom and my government is that we keep the prices as they are and at the same time work for the lowering of the prices to bring them down, albeit symbolically," Sakkaf told Kissinger as the secretary was leaving for Jordan.

"And if we could bring them down more than symbolically we would," Sakkaf added. Saudi Arabia and the other 12 members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries meet in Vienna in mid-December to discuss oil prices.

Kissinger, who has been trying during his Middle East tour to enlist support from Saudi Arabia and Iran to press for lower oil prices, expressed "gratification" with Sakkaf's comment.

Sakkaf coupled his comments on oil with a statement of Saudi Arabia's demands against Israel.

"What we want," the foreign minister said, "is the total withdrawal of Israel from occupied Arab territories. The restoration of Arab Jerusalem to its rightful owners should come about, and that the rights of the Palestinian people be given back to them."

King Faisal spearheaded the oil embargo against the United States, and the supply squeeze against Western Europe and Japan after the October Arab-Israeli war a year ago.

Fellowships

For:	In the fields of:	Benefits include:
Masters, Engineer and Doctoral Degrees	Electrical, Aerospace and Mechanical Engineering, Computer Science, Physics and Mathematics	Educational stipend, dependent allowance, all academic expenses, professional salary, employee benefits and travel allowance. Value of these ranges from approximately $8,500 to $13,000 annually.

Be one of the more than a hundred students to win this outstanding opportunity. You will study at a nearby prominent university through the Hughes Fellowship Program. Work-study and a limited number of full-study plans are offered. You also will gain professional experience with full time summer assignments in Hughes research and development laboratories. You may take advantage of a variety of technical assignments through the Engineering Rotation Program.

Requirements: B.S. degree for Masters Fellowships, M.S. degree for Engineer and Doctoral Fellowships; U.S. citizenship; grade point average of 3.0 or better out of a possible 4.0; selection by Hughes Fellowship Committee.

Hughes is substantially increasing the number of fellowship awards leading to the degree of Engineer.
