

Twenty-one groups will receive money from local UF drive

By STEVE GRAY
Staff Writer

If all goes well, 21 local, state and national charity agencies will receive their share of more than $160,000 being raised by the two local United Fund (UF) campaigns.

Bill Landiss, chairman for the College Station drive, said Monday approximately 73 per cent of the College Station drive's goal of $30,000 had been reached. The drive began Oct. 1.

"The money's kind of coming in slow, most of it from the university. But we hope to wind up our campaign before Christmas," Landiss said, who is a drive chairman for the first time.

He pointed out that it was after Jan. 1 of this year before the 1973 goal of $29,000 was reached.

James W. Stegall, president of the board of directors for the Greater Bryan United Fund, Inc., also said Monday that city's campaign is nearly complete.

"We've reached just over 94 per cent of our goal or about $124,000 out of the $131,690 we're trying to raise this year. We'll probably finish up our drive a couple of weeks before Christmas," Stegall said.

The Bryan campaign, which also began Oct. 1, raised just over $93,000 last year.

Both drives do not serve the same agencies. A breakdown of local charity organizations served by both for 1974 are as follows:

Agency	Bryan UF	CS UF
American Red Cross	$12,000	$1,400
Boy Scouts	16,000	2,600
Boys' Club	36,000	900
Brazos County Community Council	900	900
Brazos Valley Rehabilitation Center	11,000	3,500
Central Brazos Valley Mental Health Center	4,006	4,000
Girl Scouts	9,000	3,000
Junior Museum of Natural History	1,200	1,500
Retired Senior Volunteer Program (RSVP)	1,200	1,600
Salvation Army	9,000	1,000

The above allocations were requested at a series of budget hearings held by committees from both fund drives, prior to the beginnings of the campaigns. The amount promised to the different agencies depends on the money each received the previous year, the funds raised by each agency's own effort and the purpose for which the money will be used, said Landiss and Stegall.

The Bryan drive will also serve the following: Sue Haswell Boys' Club Extension, $1,500; Brazos County Girls' Club, $15,000; Brazos Valley Family Planning Program, $500; Bryan Welfare Fund, $4,000; Camp Sweeney Diabetic Center, $390; Texas United Community Services, $100; United Service Organization, Inc. (USO), $600; and the Youth Center, $3,300.

The College Station campaign has also allocated money for the following: College Station Recreation Council, $6,000; Brushy Day Care Center, $600; and Community House, Inc., $6,000.

The local drives are two of the 210 campaigns being held in the state under the direction of the Texas United Community Services (TUCS) in Austin. The state UF goal this year is more than $53 million, up $3 million over 1973. Membership in TUCS is voluntary with charity agencies paying $35 per year and individuals $7 a year, said Jim Wimberly, director of planning and research for TUCS.

"The basic objectives of TUCS is to keep our members informed on legislative action that might affect charity organizations and provide them with campaign materials at cost and advertisements for local drives," said Wimberly.

"We also receive voluntary contributions from our members based on the local drive goals and the money received per capita in a given city," Wimberly said. "The money we get goes into TUCS' operating budget."

The budget for TUCS this year is about $148,000, $6,000 of which comes from membership dues. Last year's budget was more than $151,000.

"The bulk of our voluntary contributions come from the larger city campaigns like Houston, Dallas, Ft. Worth and San Antonio," Wimberly said.

"We will probably get, for example, about $30,000 from the Houston drive."

The UF goal in Houston this year is $12,465,468; San Antonio, $6,037,753; Dallas, $10,676,830; and Ft. Worth, $5,544,060.

The Bryan campaign budget has $100 allocated for TUCS this year. The College Station UF is not a member of TUCS. Landiss said the College Station drive was at one time a member.

"We didn't join the state agency this year," Landiss said, "because we were asked to join a little bit too late, we felt that TUCS probably would not really be able to help us this year. So we decided to save the money."

Although UF work on a local level is mostly volunteer, top officials on the state level receive salaries, said Wimberly. The state executive director makes about $25,000 annually while directors of public relations, field operations, and planning and research are paid about $16,000 a year, said Wimberly.

Landiss said the College Station drive has been strictly a volunteer effort. But Stegall said $6,000 has been allocated in the Bryan fund for operating expenses.

"We're running a fairly big campaign and we have to have something set up where we can operate efficiently. We're paying a secretary about $200 a month and the rest goes toward office rent, cleaning bills, postage and phone bills," Stegall said.
