

Williams justifies renovation

President Jack K. Williams told Aggie moms he believed everyone will like the campus renovation once it is completed.

Dr. Williams was addressing the Federation of TAMU Mothers' Clubs executive board meeting Saturday. The Moms were on campus to lay the groundwork for the April convention which will bring representatives to TAMU from all over the state.

"We are planning a beautiful campus for the Centennial but no one can do anything with 100 per cent approval," Williams explained. "There has been much, hard work and time put in by a lot of people to make the project a success. I know it will make the campus a showplace for the nation."

The administration expects about 2,000 more students next year, climbing to a student enrollment of about 25,000 in the next few years.

Williams also cited the increased holding power of the university that keeps the students coming back.

"We love young people and that's why we're in the business," Williams went on. "The University puts out people who do good works as well as just good students."

Williams was honored as the Moms "Man of the Year." The 54 Aggie Mothers Clubs are scattered across the state boasting more than 2,600 members. Most club activities result in funds to support various aspects of student life at TAMU.

The executive meetings are also planned for university leaders and other guests to help the mothers understand life at TAMU. Board members also discussed federation and club projects for the coming year and other business matters.

Enrollment up, energy use down

Despite increased enrollment and added construction, Texas A&M used 200,000 Kilowatt hours less electricity in August 1974 than August of the previous year.

TAMU consumed 12.8 million kwh compared to 13 million in August 1973 although overall electricity usage statewide was up 7.1 per cent in agencies and institutions, says the report by James M. Rose, special assistant for energy in Gov. Dolph Briscoe's office.

The majority of colleges and universities reporting showed a decline in electrical consumption, said the study, with schools achieving an overall reduction of 4.5 per cent from August 1973.

TAMU managed to cut its consumption despite 11.5 per cent increase in gross building square footage since November 1972 and an enrollment jump of 15 per cent.

Foreign students oriented

An international students orientation will be conducted by the Foreign Student Advisors office Thursday.

It will include introduction to terminology, regulations, procedures, international student groups and tours of the University Library and Memorial Student Center.

Up to 70 participants are expected. Many are here in an English Language Institute.

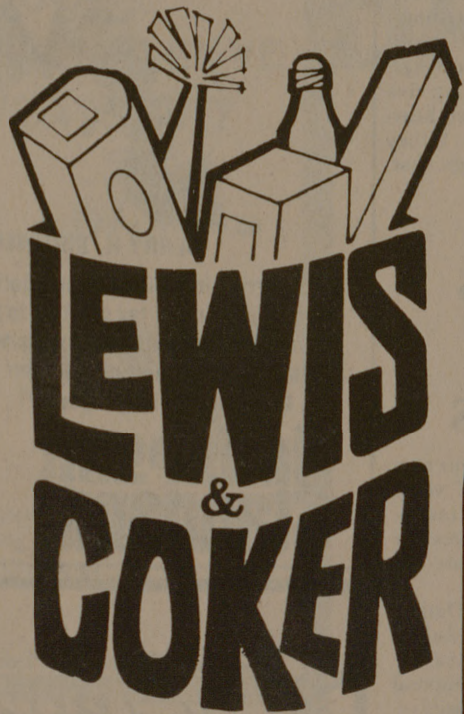

A Wednesday reception, from 3 to 5 p.m. in 230-231 MSC, and 6 p.m. supper hosted by the University Lutheran Chapel highlight the orientation.

The Extension Service Club, through Mrs. Ann Cotner and Miss Sadie Hatfield, are handling the reception. Pastor Hubert Beck and ladies of several churches are coordinating the supper. Both have been regular features for new international students.

TAMU's Academic Counseling Center, Student Government, student insurance agent, dorm counselor Warren Faulkner and University Police Chief O. L. Luther will assist in the orientation.

It is required for new entering international students. They will enroll for the spring semester Friday.
