

Ogg citizenship talk scheduled next week

State Senator Jack C. Ogg will speak Feb. 6 at a Political Forum Noon Series presentation in room 226 of the MSC. The topic to be discussed, beginning at 12:30 p.m., will be "Citizenship: not a spectator's sport." Ogg has represented the 15th District of Houston since 1972. Prior to that, he served as a state representative for six years. Presently, his senatorial duties include chairman of the election subcommittee of State Affairs. He is also a member of the Nominations subcommittee and the Inter-governmental Relations Committee. As a state representative, Ogg served on such committees as Rules, Judiciary, Public Health and Parks and Wildlife.

But compromise needed

Kissinger thinks peace possible

WASHINGTON (AP) — The basic Egyptian demand for additional Israeli withdrawals from the Sinai Peninsula can be reconciled with the Jewish state's demand for some Arab political concessions, Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger said Tuesday. However, Kissinger took some of the edge off this optimistic assessment when he added that his Middle East swing next month will be "an exploratory trip . . . in order to see what the real possibilities of a solution might be." He emphasized that his trip to the region would not be an exercise in the "shuttle diplomacy" that has marked his previous successes in arranging Arab-Israeli agreements. Instead, a second trip will be necessary once the exploratory phase is over, probably in March. But Kissinger told a news conference, "I personally believe that the two interests . . . of Egypt for the return of some territory and of Israel for some progress towards peace, can be reconciled." The secretary also told newsmen that a "new dialogue" he wants to establish in U. S.-Latin American relations was jolted by the postponement of a hemispheric foreign ministers meeting originally scheduled for Argentina in late March. He said that while the complaints of some Latin American governments were justified concerning discriminatory provisions in the new U. S. trade bill, the governments were wrong in attempting to pressure the Ford administration on that point. However, the secretary pledged that the Ford administration remains prepared "to make strengthened hemisphere relations one of the cardinal aspects of our foreign policy." Kissinger also said the administration's request to give South Vietnam an additional $300 million in military aid does not "rekindle the entire debate on Vietnam." Rather, it is simply to provide Saigon with the ammunition necessary to defend itself against aggression, Kissinger said.

Early portions of Big Thicket study complete

TAMU historians need more pictures of the Big Thicket. Dr. Henry Dethloff said the field work has otherwise been completed and a preliminary report is underway. The report will include a general overview of the Big Thicket and surrounding region. Dethloff, along with Dr. Victor Treat and Terry Booker, a graduate student, have been working on the historical part of a multi-faceted study of the Big Thicket. Anthropological and biological studies are also being conducted by TAMU researchers. While the Big Thicket National Preserve is primarily a wilderness preserve, the survey of man's civilization there turned up a significant perpetuation of skills and knowledge over a century old. Hunting skills, folklore, home remedies and house construction of a century ago were all evident. Historically, notes Dethloff, few settlers or pioneers inhabited the fringes of the Thicket until the railroad brought timber industries and oil was discovered at the turn of the century.

Rape talk tomorrow

Rape will be discussed at a symposium sponsored by the TAMU Women's Awareness Workshop at 7:30 Thursday night in room 301 of Rudder Tower. Speaking at the forum will be local psychologist Burns DuBose who will discuss the emotional make-up of the rapist. Dr. Sarah Jones, also a psychologist and a university counselor, will analyze the emotional effects of rape on the victim. The legalities of rape, concerning both the accused and the victim, will be explored by Bradley Smith, assistant district attorney for Brazos County. A question and answer period will follow the talks. The public is invited to attend and participate.
