One way New traffic routes

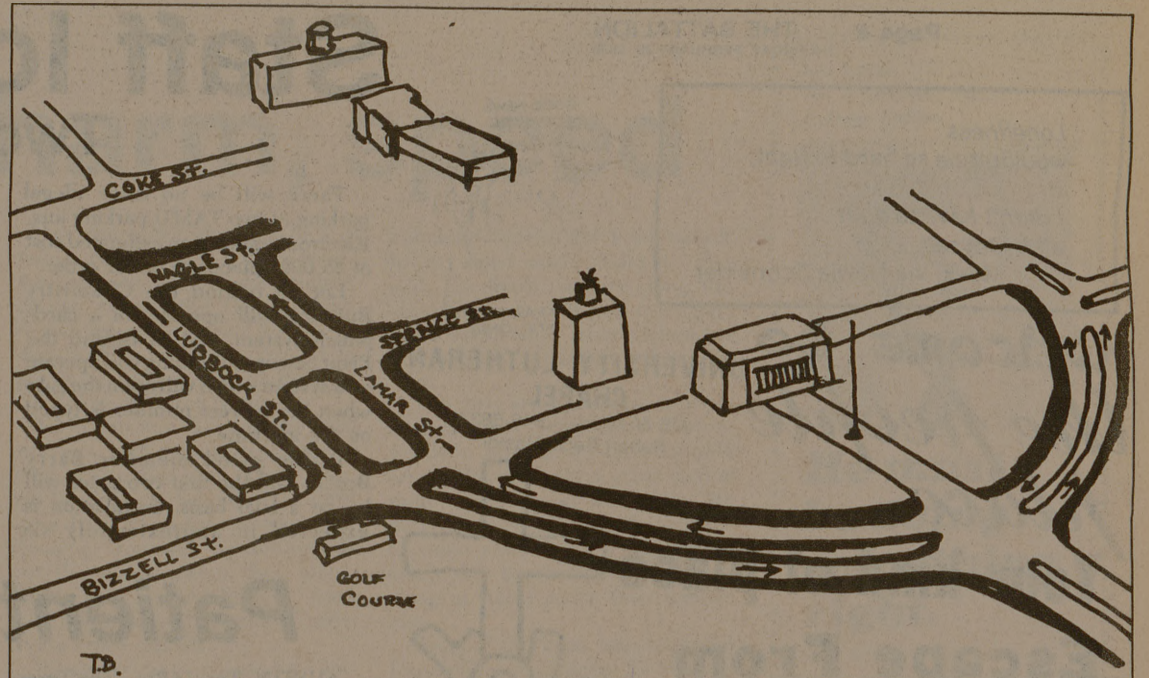

Lubbock and Lamar Streets will become one-way effective 8 a.m. Friday.

Lubbock Street, from Nagle to Bizzell, will be one-way east-bound traffic with a corresponding portion of Lamar Street for west-bound traffic.

Appropriate signs are in place and University Police personnel will be stationed at critical points to guide traffic. This new routing of traffic is part of Phase I of the street and landscape plans recommended by the University's traffic experts to aid movement of vehicles at key intersections.

Also shown on the sketch is the flow of traffic on the reopened portions of the semi-circle east of the Systems Building.

Farah to close 2 plants

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Farah Manufacturing Co. of El Paso announced Wednesday it is closing down its two plants in San Antonio laying off 1,200 employees.

The firm's five plants in El Paso will remain open.

"It is a very painful thing to do," a spokesman for Farah said, "but we were forced to close down the plants indefinitely because of the declining economic situation."

The plants had been reopened in May and July of last year following a settlement with the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union which sought to represent the company's employees.

The company was the target of a strike and a nationwide boycott that lasted more than a year and forced it to close all its plants except those in El Paso.

President Willie Farah said in a statement read to employees that the company's sales during the quarter ended Jan. 31 had increased over those of the same period the year before when the company was not operating at full capacity, but that the firm lost $4.9 million.

Farah said the losses were more than had been anticipated.

The company said that in addition to the employees laid off in San Antonio, 300 other workers have been dismissed since November.

Language trips

Registration of TAMU language students for summer study programs in France, Germany, and Mexico ends next week.

Registration ends March 1 for the German and French programs and Feb. 28 for the Mexico program. Students should contact Dr. Anne Elmquest, head of the Modern Languages Department.

The Mexico trip, May 25-July 5, requires four semesters of college Spanish and both programs lead to six hours of credit.

The French tour is June 23 through Aug. 5 while the Germany trip is May 27 through July 9.

Orienteering competition

Students from TAMU and Rice will be competing in orienteering this Saturday and Sunday in the fields south of Easterwood Airport.

The object of orienteering is to find pre-determined control points using only a topographic map and compass. Competition is in two-man teams.

The competition is partly preparation for Army ROTC, but is open to all who are interested.

Teams will run a score course Saturday, with a freestyle competition on Sunday. Both start at 8 a.m.

Those interested in participating should contact Maj. Joe Carothers at 845-1622.

Reduce your search cost

The confusion many students face when they attempt to use the TAMU Library can now be reduced.

The library staff is offering tours and explaining procedures to any student who requests them. The sign-up sheet is at the main desk on the first floor.

Students will be shown how to use the card catalog and given a tour of the building. Each main department will be explained by the personnel in charge.

The tours are available every weekday until March 4. There is no required number of students needed for each tour.

Students who are unfamiliar with the library will be given general tours and persons (faculty or graduates) in need of specialized references will be offered tours of the more specific areas.
