Ags bow to Cincy

End first 20-win season

By DAVID WALKER Staff Writer

LUBBOCK, TEX. — One of the greatest seasons in Aggie basketball history ended here last Saturday night as the Aggies bowed out of the NCAA playoffs with a 87-79 loss to

It was a lackluster game for the Aggies as they hit only 35% of their shotsfrom the field and only 67% from he free throw line to drop their eventh game of the season.

The game got away from the Aggies late in the first half. With 5:06 left in the half the score was tied at 21. What happened in the next 2:49 was the beginning of the end for the Ags.

The Aggies missed three free hrows(allthreewere the first end of a

Cincy outscored the Aggies the rest of the way 7-6 for a 37-27 half time lead. The Ags never recovered.

A&M got a shot in the arm midway through the second half but it wasn't enough. Little-used Chuck Tone cameoffthebenchtoscoresixstraight points to draw the Aggies within six, 55-49. Two minutes later Tone's fourth basket of the night cut the Bearcatleadtofour, butthat's asclose as it got. Cincinnatiquickly stretched the lead to ten and held it throughout the rest of the game. one and one) and an easy layup while for the Aggies who were repesenting

It was the first Aggie team ever to win 20 games and the first Ag team to win the conference championship since 1969.

It was a somber Aggie dressing room as the conference champs prepared for their flight back to College

"It's over now and I'm just glad to be going out as conference champs," said team captain John Thornton. "It's really funny, that conference championship didn't mean a damn thing tonight when that game was over but now it means a lot to me, said senior guard Mike Floyd as the team's charter left Lubbock airport.
