Texas Constitution not far from voters

By MIKE KIMMEL

Feb. 14

Joe Chandler is the Corps commander for 1975-76.

The document is virtually identical to the constitution that was written in seven months of intense work and the final hour of that gathering. All delegates to the convention have the responsibility of getting this shot.

The decisions made at the convention will shift the power of Texas voters for a decision in a Nov. 4 statewide election.

The four other replaced members were Dr. Tom Adair, physics professor, Dr. H. E. Hierth, English department head, Richard G. Seabrook, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. They were replaced by Dr. Gary McClain, student services director, Dr. Gary Stover, journalism department head, John Hatridge, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. The bill was named chairman by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The four other replaced members were Dr. Tom Adair, physics professor, Dr. H. E. Hierth, English department head, Richard G. Seabrook, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. They were replaced by Dr. Gary McClain, student services director, Dr. Gary Stover, journalism department head, John Hatridge, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. The bill was named chairman by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The four other replaced members were Dr. Tom Adair, physics professor, Dr. H. E. Hierth, English department head, Richard G. Seabrook, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. They were replaced by Dr. Gary McClain, student services director, Dr. Gary Stover, journalism department head, John Hatridge, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. The bill was named chairman by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The four other replaced members were Dr. Tom Adair, physics professor, Dr. H. E. Hierth, English department head, Richard G. Seabrook, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. They were replaced by Dr. Gary McClain, student services director, Dr. Gary Stover, journalism department head, John Hatridge, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. The bill was named chairman by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

The four other replaced members were Dr. Tom Adair, physics professor, Dr. H. E. Hierth, English department head, Richard G. Seabrook, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. They were replaced by Dr. Gary McClain, student services director, Dr. Gary Stover, journalism department head, John Hatridge, public relations officer, and John Hatridge, public relations officer. The bill was named chairman by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.