Aggies meet another tough defense

By DAVID WALKER
Sports Writer

One of the most exciting and spirited rivalries of college football comes to an end tomorrow night in Baton Rouge, Louisiana when the Texas Aggies and LSU Tigers play for the 39th and last time (at least for awhile).

The series, which began with a 52-0 A&M victory in 1899, stands at 22 victories for the Tigers, 13 wins for the Aggies and three ties.

Last year the Aggies swept past the Bengals 21-14 in a game that was not as close as the score indicates. A&M piled up 417 yards of rushing offense with three backs gaining over 100 yards.

Before that win the Tigers had put together a string of three straight victories over the Aggies. A dramatic pass in the fading moments of the 1970 game gave A&M a stunning 20-18 win in one of the most memorable Tiger-Aggie clashes.

That win was the first by an A&M team over LSU since 1956 when a heavily-favored Aggie team led by John David Crow edged the Tigers 9-6 in Baton Rouge. The last 16 games in a row have been played within the friendly walls of Tiger Stadium.

LSU completely dominated the series during the 1960's, winning nine times and tying once. That tie was a 7-7 tie in 1966. One of the Tigers most monumental victories came in 1967 when the Aggies went on to win the Southwest Conference. The Bengals won 17-6.

Back in the 1940's, the series was quiet with 1943 being an unusual season. The Ags won the regular season match 28-13 in Tiger Stadium. But on New Year's Day in the Orange Bowl the Bengals avenged the early season loss by beating the Aggies 19-14. That was the only time the two schools have met in post season play.

A&M Athletic Director Emory Bellard said earlier this week that there were no plans to continue the series. Both schools are booked far into the future. If and when the series is renewed it will be on a home and home basis. Overall, LSU holds a 19-7-1 edge in Tiger Stadium while the Aggies are undefeated in four tries at College Station.

LSU coach Charles McClendon says that this year's Tiger defense is one of the best he's had in his 13 years at the Tiger helm.

The LSU defense is led by stellar lineman Steve Cassidy, Kenny Bordelon, Adam Dube, and linebacker John Streeter.

Last week the Bengals opened the season with a 10-7 loss, to Nebraska in Lincoln.

The Tigs limited the Cornhuskers to a mere 10 points with Streeter leading all Tig defenders with 13 tackles while Cassidy was in on 11. Bordelon sacked the Cornhusker quarterback three times and Dube had eight key tackles.

Nebraska's touchdown drive was for only 34 yards and their field goal effort came after they scooped up a Tiger fumble again on the 34-yard line.

LSU quarterback Pat Lyons sparked the LSU offense with a 7-of-11 afternoon passing good for 59 yards and four rushes for 20 yards and the lone Tiger touchdown. LSU's top rusher Terry Robiskie could manage only 43 yards on 18 tries against the stringy Husker defense.

The Tiger team is the youngest team in the history of the school with the 60 man roster being composed of a dozen seniors, 15 juniors, 28 sophomores and five freshmen. Thirty-two of the 60 had never before suited up for a varsity game.

In the passing department for LSU last Saturday they were eight for 12 for 78 yards while in the first three games last year they were eight for 32 for 110 yards.

The Aggies will be trying to find a little more offensive punch than they had last week when they opened their season with a 7-0 victory over Ole Miss.

Coach Bellard said that there will be no changes offensively for the Aggies.

The Ags will open with David Shipman at Quarterback and Skip Walker and Bubba Bean at the halves with Ronnie Hubby at fullback, Henry Tracy at center, with Craig Glendenning and Bruce Welch at the guards and Glenn Bujnoch and Dennis Swilley at the tackles. Carl Roaches will be the split end with Richard Osborne opening at tight end.

The Aggies will travel to Tigerland with the number one defense in the nation.

The Aggies are ranked in every defensive category nationally. They are first in total defense, seventh in rushing defense, sixth in pass defense and tied for first in scoring defense.

The Ags will open with Tank McShall and Blake Schwarz at defensive ends. Edgar Fields and Jimmy Dean will supply the muscle at the tackles. The linebacking corps will be made up of Ed Simonini, Gary Ten Napel and Grady Wilkerson. The secondary will consist of Ed Thomas and William Thompson at the corners and Lester Hayes and Jackie Williams at the safeties.

Mark Standley will be doing the punting and freshman Tony Franklin will do the place kicking.

Lacrossers play Dallas

Coach Dave Gruber's Texas A&M Lacrosse Club will exhibit their wares before the crowd in Irving's Texas Stadium this Sunday.

The Aggies will put on a demonstration game prior to the Dallas-Cowboy Los Angeles Ram football game.

The lacrosse match was previously scheduled to be played at halftime, but will now be a full-length game before the start of the football game.

This match will be the first of the year for the Aggie stickmen whose regular season play gets underway in the spring.

Cross Country goes to LSU

The Texas A&M cross country squad leaves today for Bayou country for their first meet of the year.

The Aggies, headed by Coach Charles Thomas and Coach Ted Nelson, will run in Baton Rouge tomorrow beginning at 11:00 a.m.

Thomas expects to have a strong squad. "I think we'll have a real good cross country team. We're stronger than 13 we've ever been. We have 12 or 13 candidates who are pretty solid," said Thomas.

Five Africans head up the Aggie roster. Newcomer Tony Wheeler joins veterans Bruce Smith, Adolph Tingan, Manfred Kohrs and Jacob Yemmo. Other returnees include Kyle Hefner, David Gillette and Charles Cottle.

Three more freshmen, Bill Glass, Walter Jachemoicz and Lance Mitchell, will add depth to the team.

SWC teams set marks

DALLAS — Records show that the Southwest Conference's seven opening game victories is the first time such lofty figures have been reached in 35 years.

Not since 1941 when the SWC went 7-0 have league teams combined to win as many games in their curtain raisers.

Baylor and Southern Methodist opened with victories on Sept. 7. There were six first games Saturday with SWC teams winning five of them.

On the statistical front, Arkansas rushed for 501 yards. The Razorbacks added 27 passing yards to lead the SWC in total offense.

Texas A&M is the total defense leader, yielding just 82 yards against Ole Miss.

Ike Forte of Arkansas paced the ground gainers with 161 yards. Seven other SWC runners are in triple figures.
