WOMEN'S SOFTBALL

Everyone played and everyone got a hit as A&M's women's softball team beat Rice 15-4 Wednesday afternoon. The game was called after the fourth inning because of the Ten-Run Rule.

Kay Don started Mary Moch in the pitching position and substituted Robin Oakley after two innings.

The Aggies scored two runs to Rice's one in the first inning. The women hit best in the second as they scored seven runs to Rice's three. Oakley's pitching stifled Rice completely in the last two innings. The Aggie women scored two in the third and four in the fourth.

Coach Don was pleased with her team's effort. "We had a good hitting game — a very good offensive game. Our defense is a little sluggish and still needs a lot of work. But the girls have a good attitude going into the tournament this weekend and we should play well."

The women will play in the Texas Women's University Invitational this weekend at Denton. They are 2-2 for this year. The captains for this year are seniors Diane Quitta, La Rita Fickey, and Valinda Guthrie.

The soccer team puts its unbeaten string on the line this Saturday when it meets the University of Houston Cougars. The Ags previously defeated Stephen F. Austin and Lamar University. The Cougars are the Texas Intercollegiate defending champions.

The Aggies will field an extremely powerful offensive front against a very solid defense of the Cougars. "They are very strong," commented Soccer President Jim Davis. "We will attempt to control the mid-field," he added.

Kurt Irgolic, the newly appointed coach, is very enthusiastic. "The team has improved tremendously the last two weeks," he said. "I expect it to be a hard fought battle."

The event will be held on the field between Cain Hall and the Athletic Scholarship office. Starting time is scheduled for 5:00 p.m.

WATERSKIING

103 Can an Aggie expect any Southern hospitality from the inhabitants of Baton Rouge after last week's A&M invasion of cajun country? Members of the A&M water skiing team will find out tomorrow as they journey to the hometown of Louisiana State University for their first intercollegiate tournament of the fall.

About twenty-five Aggies will compete in the event against collegiate skiers from Louisiana, Oklahoma, Mississippi, New Mexico, and Texas, Ski Club President Charles Porter said.

The LSU-sponsored tournament will take place both days this weekend on Bayou Plaquemine, in Baton Rouge, with ski-jumping competition Saturday and trick and slalom skiing events Sunday. Five team members compete in each event, emassing points towards a team total.

The Aggie ski club will send both men's and women's teams to the event, as well as a men's second team, Porter said. Several of the team members have been involved in competitive skiing for some years, but most began competing in spring of 1974, when the A&M club was formed. "Most of our team members made their first ski jump in competition," he said.

In addition to the LSU tournament this weekend, the Aggie skiers will be competing in several other intercollegiate events during the fall. Porter said the club will also sponsor their own tournament on Lake Conroe, probably in November.
