Ags sink Navy

By GERARD O'DONOVAN Contributor

The Texas A&M Rugby team made the long trip to Corpus Christi this past weekend and just like the previous week the White squad was victorious.

This time the Navy fifteen were the victims of a shutout, 16-0. Though outmanned at every position, Navy (used to being tough) fought hard in the set scrums and indeed pushed the full-strength Aggies around. Only two beautifully taken drop-goals by English captain John Rayton gave the Aggies a precarious 6-0 halftime lead, according to John Lipscomb.

kickers, though Rayton needed no help. The drop-goal is back and Robert Moorman promises to get us one next time. Wavne Womac too is very anxious to "get the hang of it." It is a vital weapon, as no injury is risked and one can bide his time and distance. Rayton's kicks were from 40 and 25 yards out. Alan Jeffrey, who had another fine game at standoff — a position quite familiar to him — said in practice that he can't see how Rayton got off one of the kicks (straight between two oppo-nents and in a flash). Last week it was Jeffrey who got the game ball. This time Rayton and Phil Cook shared it. Pecuniary worries and an order from club president Billy Goodrich precludes the everimproving Aggies from distributing game balls to the MVP.

After a pep-talk at the half, the man who works so hard at his game was rewarded. Cook, the big center, wasted no time at all when, twice, at the precisely correct moment he broke straight through on two Bubba Bean-like runs for tries of 50 and 70 yards. Tim Field threw over one two-point conversion but A lot of time has been spent with was off on the other giving the Aggies a 16-0 lead. The game ended on that note but Navy made it a dour struggle despite their being outclassed.

Excellent play by Hilliard (Curley) Simmons, Rick Reno and the British Lions pair, Rayton and Jeffrev helped the A&M cause. The protection given Simmons at scrum half, by Moorman, really made things click. Field let a few high ones bounce precipitously that he should have caught but is learning fast and both Rayton and Jeffrey are helping him develop 'position' at fullback.

His punting was superb. John Patrick in the lineouts and the en tire front row did well and if they could master the loose rucks and mauls with any consistency they could be on their way.

Meanwhile, a ferocious Corpus Christi squad downed the Maroons by the score of 6-4. Tom Cervenka galloped 30 yards for the only Aggie try, with the conversion failing. In this game little protection was given to scrum-half Butch Lewis, giving him no time to set the backline mov ing. As usual, Mike Trahan and Lewis played solidly and the mar who scored last weeks try, Dick Schutt, again served notice that he is ready to move up. He spent some time in Australia and is a fine student of the game.

Billy Tigner and Womac will have a chance to let their injuries heal a there is no game this weekend. The varsity have now won three in a row. All comers are welcome to the Drill Field Monday through Thursday at 5 p.m.

Fan appreciation of the Tech game last Saturday varied. One fan tried to take out his frustrations on the referee and was hustled away by police while another, a Lubbock policeman, summoned up all his energy to keep from falling asleep on the stadium ambulance.
