SWLA confab held

This past weekend the Southwest Lacrosse Association met for one of its three annual meetings here in TAMU's Rudder Tower. One of the orders of business was a "Coaches Poll", which ranked the teams within the two divisions of the Southwest Lacrosse Association (University teams vs. City based private clubs).

At this time the TAMU Lacrosse Club placed first ranked in division, receiving a total of 37 votes. The voting for the top 3 teams was quite close with the University of Texas placing second, receiving 35 votes and L. S. U. third with 33 votes.

"I am indeed looking forward to a strong team this season and hope that we will continue to receive the support that the students, faculty, administration and press have given our team in the past," said Coach Dave Gruber.

Barber, Morgan share open lead

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. - Veteran Miller Barber and young Gil Morgan fired 6-under-pars Thursday to take the first day lead in the $125,000 Texas Open Golf Tournament.

Barber is looking to prolong an eight-year string of winning at least one tournament a year and Morgan is trying for a spot in the top 60 money winners.

Morgan salvaged for a par a nearly disastrous first shot into the rough from an early morning teeoff as winds gusting to 25 miles per hour whipped a chilly drizzle over the 7,038-yard par-72 Woodlake Golf Club course east of here.

"It was really blowing . . . it was cold and there was rain," Morgan, 29, said. "I hit on the rough on the first hole, but I managed to knock it up by the hole."

Morgan birdied the second hole and followed with five other birdies before ending his round shortly

Barber claimed his 66 during better weather late in the afternoon with birdies on four of the last five holes. By Barber's afternoon teeoff time, the wind had diminished and skies were partly cloudy.

shattered a Series' long slump with a pair of home runs and the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Boston Red Sox 6-2 in Thursday night's pivotal fifth game of the 1975 World Series.

Don Gullett allowed only two hits until the ninth inning and then Rawly Eastwick came out of the Reds' bullpen to get the final out, snuffing out a last gasp Red Sox fally.

The victory gave the Reds a 3-2 edge in the best-of-seven series with the teams returning to Boston for Game 6 on Saturday. If a seventh game is needed, it will be played Sunday in Boston. Perez' booming homers gave Gullett a comfortable margin that he carried into the ninth. He got the first two outs but then was kayoed on singles by Carl Yastrzemski and Carlton Fisk and an RBI double by Fred Lynn. It took Eastwick only three pitches, all of them strikes, to Rico Petrocelli to end the game. As Eastwick slipped the third strike past Petrocelli, the Reds embraced the ace reliever, who had been credited with their first two victories in this Series and now had tacked on a crucial save as well. Perez provided the crucial offense for the Reds, smashing a solo home run in the fourth to tie the score at 1-1 and booming a threerun homer in the sixth off the facing of the second deck in left-center

The Red Sox had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a triple by Denny Doyle and Yaz' sacrifice fly. For the first three innings, Boston's Reggie Cleveland protected the Red Sox' one-run lead. But Cincinnati began to solve Cleveland in the fourth inning, and the first Red to come up with a solution was Perez.

the Series, Perez was 0-for-15 as he came to the plate. The slump had observers thinking about Gil Hodges' 0-for-21 horse collar for Brooklyn in the 1952 World Series and the 0-for 22 Series that St. Louis' Dal Maxvill struggled through in 1968. Reds' Manager Sparky Anderson had dropped Perez a notch in the batting order, from fourth to fifth, and acknowledged that the Cincinnati first baseman's Series troubles had influenced the switch. After a warm ovation from the

that was critically conscious of Perez' problems, the first baseman stepped in against Cleveland. He sent the first pitch over the left field fence, 375 feet from the

As he circled the bases, the fans erupted and his Cincinnati teammates, who had been pulling so cheered wildly. The homer tied the game, and an inning later Cincinnati took the lead for keeps with Gullett starting the rally with two out. The young pitcher singled up the middle and then, on an 0-1 pitch, Pete Rose slapped a double, inches fair inside the left field line, scoring Gullett all the way from first.

Speedy Joe Morgan opened the Cincinnati sixth with a walk on a 3-1 pitch. Cleveland eyed the Reds' runner warily and decided he would not let Morgan take off for second.

With Johnny Bench waiting patiently at the plate, Cleveland threw to first base. Then he threw again, and again. Seven times in all. Each time Morgan dove back safely. Finally, Cleveland delivered a pitch to Bench. Then he threw over to first baseman Yastrzemski four more times before pitching to Bench

Morgan took off on that delivery, but Bench fouled the ball. Then Cleveland threw over five more times before his third pitch to Bench. That made 16 tosses to Yaz and only three pitches to Bench.

Ironically, Cleveland did not throw over to first between his third and fourth pitches to Bench. But by this time, the whole Red Sox infield must have been jittery about Morgan's mercurial speed.

As Cleveland threw his fourth pitch, Morgan faked running. Second baseman Doyle went for the feint and broke for second to cover the base. Bench bounced the ball right through the spot Doyle had left vacant and Morgan steamed into Bench took second on the throw to third and the Reds were really in business.

Perez was the next batter and the Red Sox needed an out, badly.

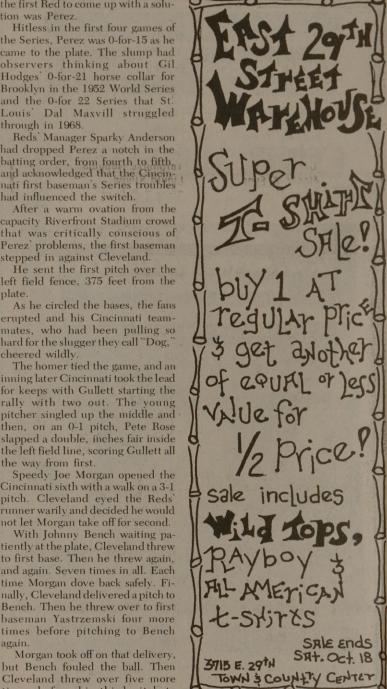

The veteran first baseman, so cooperative in that department in the earlier games, popped a foul ball near the Reds' dugout. Catcher Carlton Fisk raced after the ball and dove into a sea of photographers in the photo dugout as he tried to catch

But his glove came off without it and Perez had another swing.

That was all he needed. On the next pitch, Perez pulled another long ball that banged off the facade of the second deck in leftcenter field and Cincinnati had three more runs.

Armed with the lead, Gullett was all but untouchable. The young left-hander, who won 15 games during the regular season despite missing two months with a fractured thumb, just breezed the Boston lineup, encountering virtually no problems until the ninth inning.

And when a problem did arise in the ninth, Eastwick quickly put an end to it by striking out Petrocelli.
