WHAT DYA MEAN?

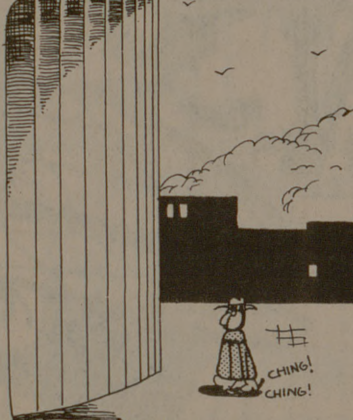

WELL, HE KNOWS IT'S IMPOSSIBLE FOR HIM TO GET ON TOP OF THAT WATER TOWER...

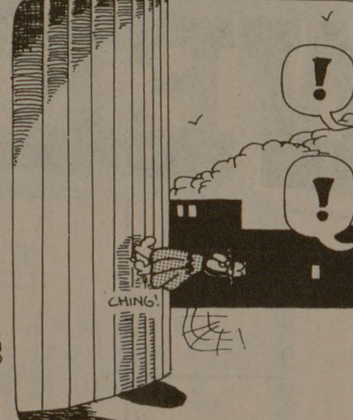

SO HE'S IN NO REAL DANGER, YET HE'S STILL A HERO BECAUSE HE CAN SAY HE TRIED.

LOOK! HE'S AT THE BASE NOW!

CHING!

Outfit constructs digital Ag clock

The outfit that brought you the Aggie aluminum domino has now come out with a hand-made, student designed and constructed Texas A&M digital clock.

Students in the Engineering Technology Department are producing a $55 clock with a solid Walnut case, Light Emitting Diodes (LEDs) for numbers, and an engraved TAM on the face. The numbers are maroon, of course.

The clock also runs on a 24-hour cycle. If the alarm is set for 8 a.m. it goes off only at 8 a.m. and not 8 p.m.

Instructor Dr. Jon Botsford said the project is a non-profit project of the Engineering Technology Society to raise money to support their activities. It will pay for banquets, trips, and conferences for the society.

"It's a chance for the students to get involved in their areas of study and to experience the areas they will be working in as professionals out of the classroom," he explained.

Country, swing music weekend diversion

Friday before the Texas Aggies football matchup with Baylor will be Country-Western music day.

Johnny Rodriguez headlines a Town Hall Special Attraction show. Country-Western band "Asleep At The Wheel," that also spreads the gospel of swing, stars too.

The show in G. ROLLIE WHITE Coliseum starts at 8 p.m.

Rodriguez has three singles on the charts, led by his new "Love Put A Song in My Heart." Also riding high are "Just Get Up and Close the Door" and "Am I That Easy to Forget."

A native of Sabinal in South Texas, Johnny Rodriguez rose to the top in less than two years.

The Country Music Association honoree says most of his friends are in Hondo and Uvalde, but the bulk of 1975 has been spent at Nashville recording and songwriting, and in Hollywood looking at movie-TV prospects.

Operating from Austin since early last year, "Asleep At The Wheel" has a following that grew from early work in California. The group's hits have been "You and Me Instead," "I'm Gonna Be A Wheel Someday," "Choo-Choo-Cha-Boogie," and "Don't Ask Me Why I'm Going to Texas," among others.

"Asleep" consists of Ray Benson on lead guitar; Chris O'Connell, rhythm guitar; Leroy Preston, drums; Lucky Oceans, steel guitar; Tony Garnier, bass; Floyd Domino, piano, and Richard Casanova, fiddle. Guests have also worked with them, along with a brass section.

Show tickets, at the Rudder Center box office, are required for all patrons. Season passes are not admissible to Town Hall Specials.
