Bomb explodes at London club

Associated Press
LONDON — A bomb packed with ball bearings, nuts and bolts was hurled through the window of an exclusive restaurant crowded with diners in London, killing a man and a woman and injuring 17 others.
Police said the three-pound antipersonnel device was tossed into Walton's restaurant, in the fashionable Chelsea district, from a speeding car Tuesday night. There were about 70 diners in the restaurant at the time, and there was no warning.
An American woman was among the injured.
It was the 14th terrorist bombing in the London area in three months and raised the toll to eight dead and nearly 20 injured. The bombings are blamed on the Irish Republican Army, which has been fighting a guerrilla war to oust Britain from Northern Ireland.

The most recent attacks have all been aimed at the homes and haunts of London's rich and famous. Two other restaurants in Mayfair were among previous targets.
Police said the dead man was Theodore Williams, a 49-year-old Londoner. The woman killed was not immediately named.
Several foreigners were thought to be among the injured, but the only one identified was Barbara Matthews, 39, of New York City, who was treated at a hospital for an ear injury and discharged.

Witnesses told police the bomb landed on a table in the restaurant and began "sizzling" before it exploded.
"I remember looking at the table and seeing red sparks like sparklers," said one of the diners, Ivy Brent. "My girl friend said, 'My God, it's a bomb.' Then the place was just full of smoke and dark."
James Neville, deputy head of Scotland Yard's bomb squad, called the bomb a "shrapnel-like device designed to kill and injure."

Badly wounded diners smashed their way blindly into the street where many collapsed, blood streaming from their faces.
Hours before the bombing, the police announced they had completed a fruitless search for arms and explosives aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth 2 in Southampton but were convinced the flagship of the Cunard Line has been used for years to smuggle explosives to Irish bombers from sympathizers in the United States.
The police said they have asked the FBI to look for the American end of the supply line.

Police found a 40-pound cache of explosives Sunday in an apartment house overlooking the Southampton docks where the QE2 was berthed. The explosives were like those used in recent London bombings, and 45 suspects, including crewmen from the liner, were questioned.

Butz names Dr. Uvacek to ag board

Dr. Edward Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, has been appointed to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Technical Advisory Committee on Livestock and Livestock Products for Trade Negotiations by Secretary of Agriculture Earl Butz.
Uvacek's appointment was announced by State Extension Service Director Dr. John E. Hutchison. In making the announcement, the director stated that "the invitation was evidence of the very high regard for Dr. Uvacek's technical competence in the broad field of livestock marketing."

The committee is one of eight Technical Advisory Committees set up by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Office of Special Representative for Trade Negotiations. Advisory committees have also been established on cotton, dairy, fruits and vegetables, grain and feed, oilseeds and products, poultry and eggs, and tobacco.
"Purpose of these committees is to provide technical advice and information on tariff and non-tariff issues affecting domestic and foreign commodities during trade negotiations," explained Hutchison. "The committee that Uvacek has been appointed to will deal mainly with livestock related imports and exports."
Multilateral trade negotiations which are currently under way in Geneva, Switzerland, are the first since 1967 and involve more countries and a wider range of issues than any previous trade negotiations, noted Hutchison. Input from the various committees will be vital to these crucial negotiations.

TEC reports unemployment claims decline

The Texas Employment Commission (TEC) office in Bryan reports that claims for unemployment insurance in Brazos County dropped 13 per cent during October from September's figures.
The TEC said Monday that 465 persons out of work applied for unemployment insurance last month, down from 525 in September. In October, the TEC placed 372 persons in jobs, a slight decrease from September when 418 jobs were filled. TEC officials said the decrease in placement activity during the latter months of the year has traditionally been a seasonal trend in the Bryan-College Station area.
Preliminary labor force statistics from September indicate only 1,021 persons were out of work out of a labor force of 30,166, resulting in a 3.4 per cent unemployment rate in the area, one of the lowest in the nation.
The TEC also said it will be moving to its new offices at 801 E. 29th St. in Bryan during the first two weeks in January. Their offices are presently located at 409 N. Texas Ave. in Bryan.
