exhibit of South and Central American artifacts dating to 100 B.C. will be shown in the Bryan Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints, 2500 Barak Lane, 30 p.m., Feb. 6. The program features Mrs. Byron Campbell who has traveled in Mexico visiting and studying ancient cultures. A film, "Ancient America Speaks," showing a relationship between the cultures of the Iberoamerican and the Mayan and Aztec civilizations.

The latest issue of "Quartet" arts magazine is out. Fifty poets, eight writers, a dozen artists, various reviewers and essayists of Texas are on topics from the Alamo to the Coach Who Didn't Teach. Copies are available this week at the Bookstore or from Room 209, Sterling Evans Library. Subscribers receive issues through the mail.

The University Undergraduate Program is now accepting applications. That program enables a student who will be a senior in Fall 1978 and who has a GPR of 3.50 or better to substitute up to six credit hours of 485H (three per semester) for an equal number of course credits in their curriculum in order to pursue research. Advantages include opportunities to gain research experience, insight into the methods of study, and the broadening aspects of listening to and participating in the discussions of the research.

Degree application deadline is approaching for Texas A&M students who expect to graduate this spring. The deadline is Friday, Feb. 13. Graduate and undergraduate students must apply in order to be granted degrees May 8. Degree application is the student's responsibility. Because of an anticipated record number of graduates at the spring Centennial-celebration commencement, Registrar Robert Lacey says it is important that degree candidates meet the deadline. Application should be made in the Richard Coke Building. After paying the $8 fee in the Fiscal Office, graduate students apply at the Graduate College, Room 209. Undergraduates present the fee receipt in Room 7.

high school and college students for a one year appearance with the show. During the year, participants live with 70 host families and perform as many as 12 shows or mini-shows a week. The participants must pay $3,500 for the year, because the organization is non-profit. The cost covers costumes, transportation and equipment.

The side effects are basically the same as experienced with conventional therapy. The skin turns red when the treatment has reached its limit. Other side effects include hair falling out and the eventual leather-like condition of the skin.

Social workers follow-up on the patients' condition every month for the first year after treatment. The second year patients are checked bi-monthly, and each year afterward patients are advised to have an annual check-up.

"Fast neutron therapy" was first used in the summer of 1969 by Doctors Dan Hightower, William Banks (deceased December 1975), James Smathers, Gilbert H. Fletcher, and Jess B. Caderao.

The A&M personnel donated their work time until 1972 at which time a government grant under the National Cancer Institute funded the program for three years.

The grant recently renewed until August of 1978.

Dr. Banks treated dogs, cats, monkeys, and pigs both with and without tumors. Dr. Earl Morris has now taken over the animal program. The animal program is under the same grant as the human therapy.

At present, pigs are being treated for the effects of fast neutron therapy on the skin. Special "mini-pigs" from the University of Missouri have skin very similar to man's.

The project has a grant of $1.5 million for 15 months of research. Four separate projects are funded under this grant. All are neutron related.

The grant was recently renewed until August of 1978.

BB&L assets now exceed $100,000,000

BB&L is $100 million in size and growing.

But the only good reason to get bigger is to get better.

BB&L

BB&L was founded in 1919 with a single purpose. For more than half a century, BB&L has been the tree to come to for shelter. For new homes. For installment loans. For home improvements. For retirement income.

Funds for these family services come from family savings. BB&L savers earn the highest dividends permitted by law and receive the protection of an agency of the federal government. BB&L's total assets now exceed $100-million.

Last year BB&L paid out $5.4 million in dividends to savers—more than any institution in this region. Talk to BB&L about your savings situation. Talk to BB&L about your loan requirements. Find out how BB&L can help you get bigger (and better), too.

NOTE: All certificates have a minimum deposit of $1,000. Federal regulations require that a substantial interest penalty be imposed for early withdrawal or conversion prior to certificate maturity date.
